ATHLETICS
AND TIGERS
GREAT GAME

Which one of all the games played since baseball earned its place in the hearts of the people can be chosen as the GREATEST OF ALL TIME?

It would be an almost impossible task to name the GREATEST GAME, but baseball is dotted here and there with high lights which stand out from the dull drab monotone of the ordinary, marking the GREATEST GAMES.

With a postponed game before them Connie Mack elected to play it on the last day of the series instead of the first day, as now.

Detroit won the first, and it rained the next day. On the third day, Sept. 30, the Athletics with Dygert pitching, started with 3 runs in the first inning off Donovan and increased this to 7 to 1 at the beginning of the 7th.

Waddell replaced Dygert in the 2nd, but weakened in the 7th, with poor support. O'Driscoll dropped a fly, Jones walked and Nichols fumbled Schaefer's grounder. Crawford doubled, scoring two and Schaefer, and he scored on infield outs, making it 7 to 2.

The Athletics scored in this inning on singles by Murphy and Oldring and a sacrifice by Jim Collins. In the 8th O'Leary doubled and Crawford singled and scored ahead of Cobb when Ty lifted one over the fence, tying the score. Plank reaved Waddell.

The score stood 8 to 8 until the 11th, when Detroit scored on Cobb's double and Rossman's single. The Mackmen evened it up in their half on Nichols' double, a wild pitch and Davis' fly.

Until darkness ended the game in the 17th the score was 9-9 and it was O'Laughlin started in riot in the 14th when Crawford dropped Davis' fly at the edge of the crowd, and he claimed that a spectator purposely interfered with him. Jim called Davis out. In the melee Rossman struck Monte Cross and the crowd surged onto the field. Police prevented a free-for-all and O'Laughlin chased Rossman.

Bill Donovan pitched the entire game, and, after being hit safely 14 times in 7 innings, held the Mackmen to 5 hits in the next ten innings.

The draw gave Detroit a lead, and with the rainy day, wiped three games off the schedule. Had those games been played, no one may say how the season would have ended. Detroit won the flag the day before the season closed. Here is the box score of this great game:

JACK COOMBS

Jack Coombs expects to be in the line-up with the Athletics, but before June. The doctors tell him that there is no reason why he shouldn't be as good as ever. If he keeps things easy at the start, Jack will follow the doctors' advice, no doubt, rather than undergo more operations.

His trouble has been attributed to heat that he suffered in Falls River, Maine, where he had been ac-

CAMPBELLTON
MANAGER'S
EXPLANATION

Campbellton, N. B., Feb. 18th.
To the Sporting Editor St. John Standard.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the Chatham-Fredrickton hockey match reported in your issue of Feb. 13, I notice in the last paragraph the reporter from Chatham could not refrain from having a crack at Campbellton in re the game in this town with Fredrickton on the previous evening, and something that, to say the least, is none of the Chatham reporter's business.

Rather let Fredrickton find fault with Fredrickton's use or abuse in Campbellton and support the story with good true evidence. Considering the fact that they appear to have mentioned excuses in the gleamer (their home paper for their defeat in Campbellton and in fairness to the "Vics") and all Campbellton sportsmen, and public in general, this is to advise that failure to secure hotel accommodations in this town was not due to any unfairness here, but to several members of Fredrickton's hockey team's boisterous and uncalled for noise on the way from the station to the hotel, and upon arrival at the hotel, this can be vouched for by enquiry at the hotel, or even to occupants in private residences as far away as 100 yards.

So far as seeking accommodations at the police station is concerned, this without doubt was a rather clever performance on the part of said members to ridicule Campbellton and its accommodations. Have you ever heard of any other members of the large public travelling, being compelled to seek a night's lodging in the lock up or police station of this town? I guess not.

Again referring to the Fredrickton-Chatham game following as it was upon no hotel accommodation at Campbellton, no sleep, a good sound trouncing 3 to 0, no sleep again and 113 mile railway journey that took 8 hours, Chatham should surely boast of their accomplishment in defeating Fredrickton by 7-2.

Had Fredrickton and Chatham (between them) not elected to change the dates of these two games and played them as scheduled, showing plainly that they considered the Campbellton team the more dangerous, what would the score have read?

In fairness to Mr. Howard, believe me, any team or teams desirous of a good, clean impartial judge of penalties, cannot do better than secure his services where possible.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for kind insertion of above, I beg to be Yours very truly,
ROY D. YOUNG,
Manager Campbellton "Vics."

U.N.B. TEAM
WINS FROM
KING'S COLLEGE

Fredrickton, N. B., Feb. 19.—U. N. B. won a decisive victory over Kings College here tonight, the score being five to one, in one of the best college games seen here in a long time. The result places U. N. B. on even footing with Mount Allison for leadership of intercollegiate league.

The red and black team's showing surprised even their most ardent followers and the game between U. N. B. and Mount Allison at Sackville next week will decide the championship. U. N. B. were never in danger after the first part of the second period, and it was only at this stage that Kings pushed the red and black hard. McLean, U. N. B. star, was again the big noise of the game, getting three tallies. Pugh, Mooney, and Melanson also put up a good brand of hockey for U. N. B. Maimann in goal made a number of sensational stops.

For Kings, Sexton was the star, while Dupuy and Harley were also good. The U. N. B. team outclassed the visitors and carried a clean-cut victory. U. N. B. scored two in the first period, Melanson and Mooney finding the net. In the second period, McLean scored two, and in the third period he also scored.

BOSTON LEAVES;
GREGORY'S MIX-UP;
A GREAT GAME

The Boston curlers left the city after an enjoyable sleigh drive about the city Wednesday afternoon. This, however, did not stop the curling in the city with the visitors for Yarmouth laddies remained over a day and had a most pleasant time.

Gregory's Mix-Up.
Yesterday afternoon in the St. Andrews rink there was one of the most enjoyable times ever experienced by curlers and it was known as "Comodore Fred Gregory's mix-up."

Members of the Thistles, St. Andrews, and Carleton clubs responded to the call and they mixed up with the Yarmouth players and enjoyed an afternoon of curling where they attempted shots both sharp and draws that were never attempted before on frozen water. It did not matter which rink won as far as a victory was concerned as there was no story to be gained by any one club but all had an enjoyable time. The following are the rinks and their scores:
