WHAT IT LACKED.

A Bitter Blow to the Man Who Was Proud of His City.

"Well," said the prominent citizen proudly, after having conducted his visitor around in one of the finest automobiles ever built. "What do you think of the place, anyway?"

"Oh, it's quite a metropolis in some respects. Still, of course, it's really only a one horse town, after all."

"Wh-what?" gasped the man who had been twice mayor and once the representative in congress of his beloved city. "A one horse town! My dear fellow, have you seen the new census reports? Look at the population we have! Here, let me show you our figures as compared with some of the other large."

"Yes, I know all about that. You have made a fine gain during the last ten years, as far as people go. But it isn't people alone that count."

"I know that. Still, you must admit that we have some fine public buildings and that our business streets are well built up."

"I know. Your postoffice, courthouse, city hall, public library and art gallery are all very fine. Your boulevard and park systems are excellent, too, and one's first impression on entering the place is of a thriving, bustling business center.
Your Chamber of Commerce struck me as being particularly fine from an architectural standpoint, and your public school buildings seem to be models of their kind."

The prominent citizen ran his fingers up through his hair and shifted his weight from one leg to the other. He looked doubtfully at his visitor for a moment, as if not quite sure that he had understood. Then he said, half bitterly:
"And yet you think it is a one horse town?"

"Why, yes, certainly," was the reply.
"You have only a nine hole golf course here, you know!"

Out of Sorts.

The Fedora—You look all run down.
The Plug—Yes; I never feel well if I lose my nap.—Chicago News.

In the Near Future.

Now the train was thundering on with its load of human freight toward the abyss with great rapidity.

"Alas," cried Gladys, "I have no red skirt to wave!"

For it was she who stood beside the train.

It suddenly occurred to her that the engineer was a woman.

Taking off her brand new hat, she waved that.

Of course the train was halted. To inspect the hat? The ideal—Indianapolis Press

Full weight, absolutely pure, and the best that has ever been sold at the price. This is the story of A Good Artist.

Dauber—Mrs. Goodale, I believe, remarked that she thought I was a very good artist.
Criteek—Yes. It seems she saw you in church last Sunday.

Hot Musical Airs.
The climate at Winona is much cooler since the music school closed, as many of the students were so warm that they changed the air.—Winona Lake (Ind.) Assembly Review.

Convincing.
Amicus—So you have another baby, at your house. What is he like?
Eminent Critic—Well, he is not very interesting, but he is mighty convinc-—Life.

To Reform Him.
She—No, I do not think you would make me a good husband.
He—Ah, but I'm sure you'd make me one. Please try.—Philadelphia Press.

often stubbornly oppose the retention of certain ren-dials essential to the treatment of many diseases. Often a cure is retarded and even made impossible by this opposition. Therefore it is imperative, in order to overcome this obstacle, that the remedy must be acceptable to the stomach.

PARK'S

of Cod Liver Oil is a perfectly emulsi-fied product of Pure Cod Liver Oil combined with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda with Gualacol. The repugnant odor and taste of the oil is entirely disguised and the preparation rendered palatable and acceptable to the most sensitive stomach. It is all the more valuable in such cases for the reason that it corrects disorders arising from impaired digestion, which has weakened the stomach. It is a splendid general tonic and tones up the system, producing a normal appetite, and producing new strength and healthy flesh.
