PROPOSED FIRST NATIONAL DRY LAW

Washington, D. C., Dec. 6.— Among the claims to distinction possessed by Henry W. Blair, former United States senator from New Hampshire, who celebrates his eighty-fifth birthday to-day, there is none his values more highly than the credit which is his due of having been the first to introduce in Congress a proposal for a nationwide prohibition amendment. It was in 1875 that Senator Blair introduced the proposal for a provision identical with that which has now become a part of the Federal Constitution and which will become fully operative next month.

Senator Blair also openly advocated the adoption of woman suffrage at a time when the prominent supporters of that reform were few and far between. During his long public career the woman suffragists always found in him a vigorous and unweary-ing defender.

His greatest public services, however, were those rendered in the cause of free education. His labors in this connection were considered of so great value that over 100,000 copies of his speeches were circulated by the Republican congressional committee as the best expression of their party on this question.

Although this was looked upon as Mr. Blair's greatest personal endeavor, his other services in Congress upon matters that bear a weighty influence even to the present day were his speeches against the Texas railroad subsidies, upon foreign markets and commerce, election frauds the exodus of the colored people the public land bill, the commission of inquiry into the liquor traffic, the tariff bills and other important matters.

Mr. Blair is a native of the State which he long and ably represented in its upper house of Congress.
As a child of two years, owing to the death of his father, he was taken into the home of a neighbor and brought up. Until he reached his majority he worked for his benefactor on the farm. His early opportunities for securing an education were meagre.

A term in the village academy roused his ambition and from that time on his life was an heroic struggle for a collegiate education. He labored night and day, taught school and toiled with his hands, canvassed and studied until his health failed and he became very sick. Then advised by Samuel A. Burns, himself a distinguished lawyer, Mr.
Blair turned to the legal profession at which he was engaged when the civil war broke out. He went to the front with a New Hampshire regiment and was wounded at the assault on Port Hudson, and returned home with the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

It was after the war that he gave up his law practice and entered the political field where he won so many personal honors. During his long career in the Senate he was noted for his regular attendance and always voted when in his seat.

Since his retirement from public life ex-Senator Blair has resided the most of his time in Washington.
He left the Senate a poor man so far as money goes and his chief means of support during the declining years of his life has been the pension which Congress granted him many years ago in recognition of his distinguished services to the nation as a soldier and a statesman.

GUELPH OUGHT TO SELL ROAD

Sir Adam Beck Presents Hydro's Case.

Guelph, Dec. 5.—Sir Adam Beck drew a picture before the eyes of an audience of 250 people in the local opera house last evening that showed Guelph stripped of the shackles which have bound her for decades in the matter of street railway service, and leaving her free to reach out through the surrounding district by means of a great radial service.

Instead of an inadequate twenty-minute service through the street, he offered an efficient ten-minute service.

He and Chief Engineer Gaby presented estimates which show that instead of an annual deficit of $15-000 on the city-owned railway, Guelph may have a yearly income of the interest on $150,000 which the Hydro Commission will pay the city to turn over to them plus her equity in the annual profits of all the Hydro lines in Ontario.

Jealous of Street Control.
These, with a host of other benefits to be gained by passing the by-law to sell the railway to the Hydro Commission, were presented. As Sir Adam himself remarked the audience did not seem enthused about the project.

In years past the city sold the right of way through her streets to private interests, and finally had to pay some $80,000 to regain control. Now the people are reluctant to let that control slip away again even to the Hydro Commission.

Sam Carter, former M. P. P., was the only one in the audience who stood up and declared that it would be folly not to accept the offer.

Deep Waterways Fight.

Sir Adam stated that if Ottawa would give them half a chance the Hydro Commission would create great storage systems when the deepening of the waterways was undertaken. A submerged weir near Buffalo will dam up the water of the wet seasons and in the summer when the waterflow lessens, will release twenty or thirty thousand feet per second, which would keep the water level high enough for ocean vessels, and even augment the depth of water in Montreal harbor. Also they will extend the power storage to 3,000,000 horse power, which would be sufficient motive power, with all the railways in the province.

No Dictation.
"We will not be dictated to by the Province of Quebec nor by the Government at Ottawa, which is trying to protect private ownership in Canada," said Sir Adam.
