LORNINA'S BOUNTY

THE HERALD on Saturday again had its war paint on The Lornina bounty scandal proving a worry to Patsy and some of his political bed fellows. P.T. is desperately striving to draw public attention from the real facts of the case and he seems bent on leaving no stone unturned to have Mr. Cashin appear as a martyr before the community.

answer any of the charges made Saturday with 400 and 1,061 barrels of by Mr. House, the builder of the herring for the Gorton Pew Co. of vessel. P.T. has nothing to say Gloucester. about how and when the Lornina was surveyed. Neither does he seem disposed to tell the public why the Lornina was registered in Cashin's name and how it is that M. P. Cashin's name appears in the public accounts for receiving this bounty of $824.00 on the Lornina, which vessel was not built in accordance with the shipbuilding laws of this Colony. "Doctor" McGrath on Saturday got "worked up" as he grew frantic in his appeal to the people to regard this Lornina bounty scandal as no thing short of a personal attack on Michael Patrick.

If one is to judge by the expression of public opinion on the matter The Herald will fail in this endeavor as it failed when Patsy thought to wipe Coaker and the

Of course P.T. could not let the John's. opportunity pass without again rehashing the charges "doctored" by the other learned "Doc" of Adelaide Street of what the "Can't Lose" cost, what the villain St. John's, Coaker made on flour and the other such worn-out "flare ups."

What have they got to do with the Cashin Lornina bounty enquiry? The Commission is not enquiring into these matters. The Commission is enquiring into the taking of $824.00 from the Treasury of the Colony by other than the Finance Minister himself for a bounty on a vessel which vessel, it is contended, was not entitled to such a bounty or else we will see him some day coming through his collar. The by the Fisheries Department of washing stunt may be applied operations in the great areas: here as it was in other cases of guilt against the laws of the land, it will not blind people to the true facts of the case. It is indeed strange that McGrath is clinging to Cashin like a shipwrecked mar iner riding a stormy sea on some frail raft looking with dilating eyes into the black abyss. As regards the little "Doc" of The Herald he is to our social organism what a pound of putty would be to the stomach of a dyspeptic.

Cashin may think the "illiterate cullage" are fools positive; but he ought to know that Patsy is an ass superlative. The first, one can trust at most times but the second s a sneaking enemy to the country that has conferred upon him many benefits. We trust that the Commission. It would make nteresting reading. We are not faultfinding now and there is neither wish nor will to preach at the people of our little town, they are as good as the citizens of any other town. Our desire is but to awaken that spirit which bids people realize their public duties. Once the idea of each individual's responsibilities to his neighbor, in respect to a desire to see our city beautified keeping his place attractive, gets hold, we believe, our citizens will soon make an end of all that is lacking is cohesion, co-operation,

It only means the getting together for a results we feel sure will be a deight and a pride to the city. There is no need to point out here what might be done, even if we were competent to do so. We will leave details to be worked out by our vounger men who are to form this proposed Civic Improvement eague.

The ladies, if this league were started would be of invaluable assistance, by reason of their more refined taste. Just get this thing started and it will surprise us all to see how rapidly one improvenent will follow another.
