Cornerstone for new university laid in Montreal

MONTREAL (CUP) - Annoyed at Quebec government procrastination, 250 Quebec students took matters into their own hands Monday and laid the cornerstone for a second French language university in Montreal.

The students, led by UGEQ president Pierre LeFrancois, as-sembled in a field which is rumoured to be the proposed site of a university.

The university has been accepted in principle by the government, but so far no concrete plans have been made public by the government. LeFrancois said Université de

Montreal, the only French univer-sity in the city, will have a capacity of 25,000 students by 1975, while it has been calculated that by 1971 there will be 26,000 students seeking admission. This makes a second university a necessity, he said. English language Montrealers have a choice of three degree-granting institutions—McGill, Sir George Williams, and Loyola College.

library transit system, was launch-ed this week. Headquarters at York University, in Metropolitan Toronto, under the supervision of T. F. O'Connell, Director of Li-braries of that university, a fleet of five station-wagons will visit 12 of the 14 universities every day, five days a week, collecting and delivering requested library ma-terials. The two most northerly universities, Lakehead at Port Arthur and Laurentian at Sudbury, will participate via air freight.

Under the new system, requests for library materials will normally be filled in 24 hours or less.

Four routes have been tentatively worked out covering Toronto, London, Windsor, Peterborough, Guelph, Waterloo, Kingston, Ot-tawa, Hamilton and St. Catharines. Two vehicles will probably have to be used on the Toronto-Kingston-Ottawa run.

Estimated annual operation cost of this venture in co-operation (which is being borne by the uni-versities) is $75,000, or slightly over $5,000 per university.

the exchange of material, the new system will save in staff time taken to process requests, wrap parcels, type labels and deliver parcels to campus postal centres. It will also save on postage, Telex messages, and so on. It is expected that the average cost of transporting the books will be substantially reduced under the new system.
