Please permit me to say how very much I appreciate the confidence and good-will to which your message gives such generous expression. In seeking to realize the wish you have expressed, I hope you will permit me the privilege Sir Wilfrid had of sharing your confidence in matters of concern to the Party, and of general public interest. I shall always be grateful to have the benefit of your counsel and advice on any matter of national concern.

Again thanking you most heartily, not less for your kind thought in wiring me, than for the generous words of your telegram,

Believe me, dear Mr. Cohen,

Yours sincerely,
