

THE MAGDEBURG Fire Insurance Co., the largest fire company in Germany, has been reinsured for its American business with the Springfield Fire & Marine. The company withdrew from the south some time ago, and at last decided to give up operations in the United States, owing to unsatisfactory results. The Magdeburg had fire premiums in 1900 of $781,648 and losses $555,476, its total disbursements being $896,706, which exceeded its total receipts by $88,351. The Springfield has been a very prosperous concern, and will be able to handle the new business with profit.
