The centennial anniversary of the founding of St. Paul's, Vergennes, Vt., took place lately amid much rejoicing.

Dr. Russell Wakefield was enthroned as Bishop of Birmingham at the pro-Cathedral lately. The archdeacon of Canterbury (the Bishop of Dover) officiated. There was a very large attendance of clergy, including the Bishops of Lichfield and Worcester and Bishop Milne, and laity including the Lord Mayor, Sir Oliver Lodge, and many members of the Council and Senate of the University. Prior to the proceedings at the pro-Cathedral, an interesting ceremony took place at the rectory. This was the presentation to the Bishop, by Sir Walter Fisher, of a crozier. His Lordship expressed his pleasure at receiving so early in his episcopate such a mark of respect and affection from the laity.

A gift of $12,000 has been made to St. Paul's parish, Burlington, by Mrs. L. C. Clarke of New York, whose summer home is in Burlington. This gift is for the purpose of rebuilding the chancel of the church, preparatory to the installation of the new organ given to the church by Mrs. Henry Wells in memory of her late husband. This organ will cost $12,000.
A British tumulus has been found on Lord Durham's estate near Sunderland, and beneath it the skeleton of a woman with knees doubled up to the chin. Several urns containing bones and ashes and a flint knife were contained in the grave. The burial-place is believed to be 4,000 years old.

"Biblical" Quotations.—Of "Biblical" quotations not to be found in the Bible, the surest catch of all is "God tempers the wind to the shorn lamb"—which really comes from Sterne's "Sentimental Journey." But a good second is "Cleanliness is next to godliness." To this day it has never been discovered who originally said that. John Wesley said it in a sermon on dress, but appears to have been quoting back to dicta of Aristotle, St. Augustine, and the Talmud, but the only certainty is that it is not in the Bible. One of the most familiar "quotations" from the Bible which are not to be found there upon research is "the lion lying down with the lamb." The spirit of the reference is correct enough; but turn up the passage in Isaiah, and you will find: "The wolf also shall dwell with the lamb, and the leopard shall lie down with the kid, and the calf and the young lion and the fatling together." The popular mind has condensed the zoological miscellany, and to the incorrect version alliteration has no doubt contributed.
St. Luke's Church, Chelsea, has just had presented to it a stone from the Saxon portion of the "Old Church," Chelsea, London, England, the gift coming from the worshippers of the English parish. The stone was presented on behalf of the English parish by Judge Albert D. Bosson. The stone will have a suitable brass plate placed upon it by Judge Bosson, and it will be built into the church edifice.
Mr. Cadroc Roberts, of Rhosllan-erchrugog, North Wales, has just passed his final examination for the degree of doctor of music at the University of Oxford. A few years ago he was apprenticed to a joiner, and worked for some years at the carpenter's bench. He has lately been honoured by his own countrymen in being appointed as one of the adjudicators at the Welsh National Eisteddfod to be held next year.
