City Clerk J. W. Holmes read the ty applause To the Aldermen of the City of Belleville:

I desire to extend to you greetings and hearty congratulations on your election by your fellow citizens to the honorable position of aldermen of this beautiful city. The duties you have assumed will require your careful attention and consideration.

"Reconomy" must be the watchword of this year's council. Our National Leaders in finance tell us that Economy, private, municipal and national, is necessary to assure success in the lifeat war.

No public works that will make it necessary for us to issue debentures should be started during this year, but all work under construction or for which contracts have been let will require to be completed, and it will be your duty to see that this work is in accordance with the specifications.

The re-organization of our fire department is well under the and will completed early this year, and you must see to it that the extra expense urred by the fire department is sayed to the citizens by the lowering of
