FIVE HUNDRED WERE VICTIMS IN AN AIR RAID OVER LONDON

Women and Children are Victims of Bombs in Greatest Raid in Point of Casualties, Yet Made by the Foe on England—No Damage Done of Military Value

London, June 14.—A squadron of German aeroplanes raided London shortly after eleven o'clock yesterday morning and dropped thirteen bombs. The casualties in the raid, it is officially announced, number 97 killed and 437 wounded.

No damage of a military or naval nature was done. The raid over the city lasted about fifteen minutes. The largest number of casualties occurred in the East End, but the downtown business section was also visited by three of the raiders and considerable damage was occasioned. One bomb struck a schoolhouse, killing a large number of children and wounding scores of others.

The Story.

London, June 14.—Three hostile aeroplanes appeared over the busiest part of the downtown section of London at half past eleven yesterday morning and worked a rapid transformation in the busy streets. The sound of the explosions of bombs in the East End and of anti-aircraft guns from perches around the business districts gave the public warning of dangers. Vehicular traffic stopped instantly. Omnibus drivers ordered all passengers to alight, and busses, taxis, wagons and lorries until the danger was past.

Shoppers and their patrons, barbers and their clients quietly and promptly adjourned their business and hurried to such places of safety as the mental state of each particular person demanded. Special constables appeared by the hundred as if by magic, in every nook and corner of the narrow lanes of the downtown district and ordered pedestrians within doors. It was difficult, however, to keep the populace under cover, as many of the people were more interested in getting a glimpse of the battle overhead than in escaping danger.

While the damage done in the east end was widespread, it is probable that the monetary loss will not be heavy, for many of the buildings wrecked were those of small business men. The raid had been over but a short time when the King having heard of the damage in the east end, motored into and through the district. His promptitude in thus manifesting sympathy with the sufferers appear to be deeply appreciated, and he was warmly cheered as he rode slowly around. Later, the King visited the hospitals.

No Military Damage

The main result of yesterday's raid

as in past cases, has been the killing of civilians, including many children. No military damage was done, as there was no military objective in the section visited. It was not a case of accurate dropping of bombs when once the planes were over the city. In the east end, for instance, a bomb could not have been dropped without doing damage. The bombs cut a wide circular path through the eastern part of the city, and while the raid was short-lived, a large number of explosives were dropped in rapid succession. The course the raiders took can easily be traced by the damaged buildings which in many cases are close together.

In some places a whole block of buildings is lacking every window and much other damage was done. One school in this district had a lucky escape. There are a thousand pupils in that school, and fifteen minutes after the little ones returned to the building from recess a bomb fell where hundreds of them had been gathered.

There were many evidences of the coolness with which the people greeted the appearance of the raiders over London. For instance, despite the reports that a raid was in progress, King George proceeded with an investiture in Buckingham Palace, the recipients of the honors walking in and out of the palace grounds without a trace of nervousness being apparent.

For an hour after the raid the telephone system of London was swamped with calls from business men who were anxious to learn the fate of their families in the suburbs. Despite the loud reports of the explosions the telephone girls stuck to their posts.

ACTION ON HIGH COST OF LIVING ASKED BY T. AND L.

Urge City Council to Give Fuller Consideration to Report of Committee

Further action in regard to the high cost of living committee's work during the past winter, and the report of that work which was submitted to the city council, a short discussion on the censorship of moving picture films, and other routine matters comprised the business transacted at a short session of the Trades and Labor council last night, that opened at nine o'clock with eight delegates present.

Secretary A. G. Brown inquired if the report of the work that had been accomplished by the High Cost of Living committee in conducting its investigation had been forwarded to the Hon. Mr. T. W. Crothers minister of labor of the Dominion Government, as there was apparently a misunderstanding existing. Mr. Crothers having written to Mayor Dowdy, and stating that he was not aware that any investigation had been conducted here in accordance with the order in council that was passed last fall, providing for such investigations. In reply Delegate George Keen, secretary of the committee stated that the attitude of Mr. Crothers might be quite correct even though a copy of the report had been forwarded to him, because the investigation had not been based on the sworn testimony of the merchants who had come before the committee for examination. The policy had been adopted at the inception of the investigation to have the merchants appear in person, and be questioned, instead of submitting to them a number of questions to be answered under oath, as it was thought that personal examination of the merchants by the committee would be more satisfactory.

Referring to the appointment of the city solicitor by resolution of the city council, as an examiner to follow up the investigations of the committee, Mr. Keen thought such a move was not required and that action, and not further investigation was necessary. The opinion was expressed that the report of the high cost of living committee had been "side-tracked" by the city council, and to bring too matter to the attention of that body again, the following resolution was unanimously passed:

"Resolved that the City Council be respectfully but strongly urged to give full consideration to each and every recommendation made by the High Cost of Living committee and to take some definite and direct action thereon without further delay."

Another resolution was passed requesting Ald. Symons to support the attitude of the T. and L. Council.

Delegate A. G. Brown also brought up the matter of some pictures that have been shown in the city, in the course of which strike scenes had been shown depicting bloodshed and rioting, such as would prejudice the public against the interests of labor. Delegate Keen thought the most of the films dealing with labor problems were favorable to the working classes, and did not approve of any action in this regard until specific and irrefutable evidence to the contrary was available. This latter opinion was supported by the other members of the council.

A letter was received from the Brantford Board of Trade asking co-operation in having the flags of the Allies displayed more frequently on buildings throughout the city. One delegate remarked that a better flag had better be procured for the Armories than the one now flying there, as it had become reduced to tatters.

until it resembled the "Jolly Roger" more than the Union Jack. It was finally decided to file the letter. Mr. Bickerdike, M.P., wrote requesting that a copy of the resolution passed requesting the Dominion and Provincial governments to refuse to grant charters to private railroads in territory now served or which might be served by the Hydro Electric, were received from the Premiers of the Dominion and Provincial Governments, Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., Mr. J. H. Fisher, M.P., Mr. J. H. Han, M.P., and the minister of railways and canals of the Dominion Government.

THE LAST OPPORTUNITY.
The Hamilton Jockey Club's coming meeting, June 26th to July 3rd, will be the last opportunity racers in this neighborhood will have of witnessing the thoroughbreds this season, or in fact until the close of the war. While under the order-in-council of the Dominion Government which practically prohibits racing after August 1st, the Hamilton Jockey Club could run its second meeting as scheduled, the Directors of the Club, in accordance with the wishes of the Canadian Racing Association, have decided to give only the one meeting which appears to be in the best interests of the sport. In consequence, the coming meeting is looked forward to with unusual interest and is bound to prove a huge success in every respect. The demand for stabling accommodation has been greater than any previous meetings, and the class of horses, judging by the state entries, will be superior to any yet seen on the Canadian circuit this season. The Club has decided to admit all returned soldiers free, and the refreshments will be served by the ladies of the local Red Cross Society.
