County Council Closes Session — Alterations in Roads Designated

THE DOINGS AT DOVER
 Anniversary of Battle of Boyne Was Commemorated Yesterday

(From our own correspondent) Simcoe, July 13.—The County Council concluded the labors of the session to-day and adjourned about five o'clock.

The following additions and alterations were made in the designated roads.

Road No. 2 was moved south one concession through in the west quarter of Townsend.

No. 7 was continued to the border of Houghton.

No. 3 was diverted to St. Williams, via Forestville, and Road 10 extended to meet 9.

No. 22 was continued east to the middle line of Walsingham. By the aid of the list in yesterday's Courier and the alterations noted anyone who has a map of the county can mark in practically all of these roads.

The system now calls for some 250 miles. Though the mileage has been allotted, practically according to assessment, there is no possible way to ascertain how the townships will stand as to the cost of construction of the mileage designed.

Port Rowan will apparently go ahead at once with the construction of a permanent roadway down Main Street.

Townsend, without a dollar of debt, will probably go ahead with some work under township system, along their own lines. The 9th of Charlotteville bids fair to be one of the first roads attacked. Its construction is of vital interest to Houghton, both Walsingham, Centre Charlotteville and Port Rowan.

As forecasted yesterday, Mr. Guy R. Marston was appointed superintendent at a salary of $1,500 for the year.

Mr. Marston will have in charge the general will not be pursued at once, there is considerable organization to be effected. The by-law appointing Mr. Marston was presented by Chairman Cunningham, of the Roads and Bridges Committee.

Mr. Marston accepted the responsibility in a very timely if brief address. He had been in the county some seven years, had done considerable work for the county and enjoyed it, more particularly because of the assistance given and the good cheer which attended all his business dealings with the council. He reminded the council that the work outlined great expenditures, and that there must of necessity be a proper start made on the work.

Warden Crisland, J. L. Beck, Theo. Cunningham and Guy R. Marston, C.E., were appointed a committee to go to Ottawa to interview the department of marine and fisheries and public works, regarding the de-lapidated swing bridge at Dover.

Inspector Edmunds at Hagersville. A negro who stopped off at Hagersville recently, with a couple of suit cases of booze attracted attention.

The magistrate got the booze and the colored gentleman gets his trial to-day. Ed. Lee, of Hagersville is said to have some sage advice to give those who attempt to evade the Inspector, or who consider him "dead easy." They go after booze down a Hagersville as we would expect Simcoonsians to hunt up "fire-bugs."

The County Council yesterday discussed the question of putting lightning rods on the buildings at the Industrial Home. No action was taken.

He Must Have a Grinch
 In a belated "write-up" of a last week's meeting of the town council, yesterday's Reformer alleges that the "Simcoe Correspondence of a Brantford paper presumed to have been written by a member of a certain town official was unsatisfactory."

to statement of the sort was made, or any other statement on the part of the correspondent, and the word "unsatisfactory" did not appear in the correspondence referred to. The "Reformer" reported only observations made at the council, and published thereof, as was perfectly within his rights. The sensational headline in the Reformer, regarding what the "Brantford paper" says was not published or written in its columns, editorially or otherwise. The Reformer, however, in an attempt to "get after" a member of the council has done a base injustice to the official in question, and by failure to designate the Brantford paper, has left the Reformer open to all its circumlocution. If Mr. Donly cares to use his paper to knock Alderman Langford, it is his privilege. He might, however, be considerate enough to use all possible brevity, and make his thrusts direct enough so they may do no injury to the spectators of his sanctum sanctorum awkwardness. Of course this is Mr. Donly's business. His headline and reference should be compared with the Brantford Courier of July 4th, page 2, foot of column three.

DOINGS AT DOVER
 (From our own Correspondent) Port Dover, July 13.—The Battle of the Boyne was commemorated here yesterday in loyal fashion. The Walpole or the County of Hants, we could get no definite information which, but that matters little. The "boys" turned out with their wives, sweethearts and families, well dressed, and with plenty of greenbacks and small change for the various attractions. The City of Dover made a little parade, and the various other attractions were well patronized. It was impossible to learn the exact date of the last Orange celebration in Dover. William Stamp said July 12, 1867, and he has lived in or about the burg over 60 years. He doubtless was plenty of good life and drum music, one aggregation having 13 pieces; Seneca, No. 29, W. A. Johnston, W.M.; Erie, No. 128, James Falls, W.M.; Testerville, No. 287, E. S. Birdsell, W.M.; Guyssboro, No. 556, William Andrews, W.M.; Garnet, No. 741, R. Catherwood, W.M.; Port Dover, No. 926, R. E. Matthews, W.M.; Waterford, No. 1382, Chas. Upgrove, W.M.; Simcoe, No. 1983, James Elliott, W.M.; Paris, No. 2, 007, Jas. S. Cunningham, W.M.; Kelvin, No. 2009, Albert Jull, W.M.; and took a route march along Main street, returning at 2.30. There was a parade of the boys in khaki uniforms, and the Orange order was interspersed with music from the Jarvis brass band. Rev. A. W. Hare, of Jarvis, was chairman. Rev. Bro. Whitelaw (Presbyterian) of Hagersville, was first called. He was introduced by an ex-County Master of Victoria. He observed that many lodges this year had va-canceled in the ranks, but there were not spare men to go to France. He did not believe that there was any serious intention on behalf of Quebec to form a new confederation and this effect had appeared recently in a church paper. He had those same in France, and thought it time some Quebec boys were going over to help them. He had known Sir Sam Hughes in Victoria as a man of big heart, who is never ashamed to wear his colors.

Rippling
 The German hosts are slowly being retreating inch by inch; positions of their careful choosing, and which they thought a cinch, have from their warriors been wrested, by allied sword and gun; by Haig, Pohl Hindenburg's best, he'll soon be on the run. Yet Kaiser Bill is busy spinning, where'er he has the chance, tall yarns of how his men are winning among the hills of France. The more the Kaiser's men are beaten, the more he waves his hat. "Just watch our mastery, treating," he yells; "get wise, that! Such strategy's beyond all praising, the foe it must confound!
