

WAS A VERY TAME CONTEST

Perkins and Bates Exceedingly Slow Last Night

Frank Slavin Proposes to Best Both Men in Ten Rounds and Sports Believe He Will Do It.

The go last night at the Savoy between Perkins and Bates was a disappointment to the assembled onlookers for, save in the first three rounds, it was lacking in interest either as a scientific battle or a test of strength. The go, it must be said to the credit of Perkins, started off with a vim which promised a hotful of excitement, Perkins doing the work and lashing out with furious jabs and swings, Bates only retaliating save in few instances for defensive purposes. In the first round Perkins made a fine showing rushing his man and landing on him repeatedly breaking down Bates' defense and driving in rights and lefts, many of which landed at the right spot would have put Bates entirely out of the game. The second and third rounds were also swift and furious, Perkins rushing from the call of time with Bates giving way and doing defensive work. This same work followed up to the sixth round when Slavin told Perkins to let up on aggressive work as he was wearing himself out chasing his man. "You can only hit your mitts in the air," said Slavin, and from that time up to the end of the go the rounds grew slower and slower until in the tenth there was not an effective blow delivered by either man.

The trouble in all these matches where the principles meet on a "split even" proposition for the gate receipts, is that there is no incentive for either man to make extraordinary efforts to best his opponent as the money in any event is divided between the two and consequently when one man proves that he cannot best his opponent in the first few opening rounds he quits aggressive work and the match turns down to defensive tactics on the part of both men, they being satisfied with a draw.

After the termination of the match, the same being declared a draw by Ed. O'Brien, referee, Frank Slavin stepped to the front of the stage and made an announcement which started not only the assembled sports but the two men in the ring.

"Ladies and gentlemen," said Slavin, "this has been a clean-scientific contest. I have met both these men and made a draw with each; now I am willing to take the two men on in one night and agree to stop them both inside of ten rounds, with a half hour's rest between bouts."

This announcement was received by the audience with clamorous applause. Bates then came forward and announced that as far as he was concerned he saw no reason why Slavin should imagine he could do anything of the kind. "For," said he, "he could not stop me in ten rounds before. I am willing to meet him anywhere; tomorrow night or any other time."

Slavin was seen after the go and he explained his challenge.

"I'll meet the two men in a 16-foot ring and they can choose which of the two will come on first. If I am satisfied with the man they offer (I would prefer Bates) I'll start with him, if not will toss a coin for choice of men. I want to meet the slippery fellow first and my reason of making the ring 16 feet is that he can't run away from me there like he did from Perkins. None of the big fellows are coming in from the outside to meet me and I think this match will satisfy the people. You see, there is bound to be a decision in this, for I will have to go in and work from the call of time. I demand three weeks to train and if the men accept I will start in training tomorrow. The men may crawl, but if they fail to accept this challenge it will show what stuff they're made of."

It is understood that both men have readily agreed to the match and the biggest pugilistic event in Dawson's history can now be looked forward to.

Coming Events.

The next sporting event will be the big wrestling contest between Kennedy and Marsh to occur at the Savoy next Friday night. John Mulligan has the affair in hand, he having put up a purse of $1000 for the successful wrestler. The match is a catch-as-catch-can bout, best two in three falls. There is no doubt but that a splendid exhibition will be given and that this event will be one of the best contests ever pulled off in the country. Marsh last night declared and with truth that he had entered over 300 contests, every one of which was honestly contested for and he defied anyone to refer to him as ever being mixed up in a hippodrome. "When I give exhibitions, I advertise them as such. This match will be neither a hippodrome or an exhibition."

Caribou Sinclair and Young Donovan are billed for a ten-round go next Wednesday night at the Orpheum.

All Good Boys Together

It was a jolly crowd of U. S. soldiers and members of the N. W. M. P. that dined on the steamer Victorian at her dock here yesterday evening and good fellowship was the reigning spirit. (Of course there were other spirits). Nearly all the non-commissioned officers of the police force and a number of constables were present. The steamer's chef served an excellent dinner and everything passed off in a most happy and enjoyable manner. About 110 covers were laid and all the seats were occupied. Only two or three persons not in uniform were present.

At intervals during the dinner, rousing cheers were given for the officers and men of the N. W. M. P. and everyone was a jolly good fellow.

Church Services Tomorrow.

Rev. H. H. Turner, who has been occupying the pulpit at the Presbyterian church during the absence of the pastor, Dr. Grant, will preach his farewell sermon tomorrow as Dr. Grant, with his family, is expected to arrive some time next week. Dr. Turner has made a host of friends during his stay and the church has been well attended every Sunday and his sermons which are logical and eloquent appeal to men's hearts as well as their minds, have been listened to with the keenest interest. The services tomorrow will be held at the usual hours: 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., both of which Dr. Turner will conduct.

Services will be held at the Methodist church tomorrow as usual at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Special music has been prepared for both services.

St. Mary's Catholic church—Low mass at 8 a. m., high mass 10:30 a. m. Evening services 7:30 p. m. Father Genesee, pastor.

CUT RATES STILL ON

No Truth in Report Published in Morning Sheet.

The story published in this morning's paper to the effect that the steamboat rate war has been declared off is not in accordance with the facts. The steamboat men were interviewed by a steambot representative today and they all say that while negotiations have been pending for some time looking for a settlement of the difficulties and a raise in the rates, nothing definite has been accomplished and until further notice the boats will run at the present rates.

ALONG THE WATER FRONT.

entirely to oats, which have been harvested for hay, and a few acres sown in turnips.

On Mosher's island, also in the Klondike, a short distance below the Ogilvie bridge, is probably the model farm of the Klondike. The island is 20 acres in extent but much of it is rocky and unfit for cultivation, there being but four acres which are utilized as a garden. This spring during the high water the Klondike in its voracity ate away about half an acre from the south side of the island, carrying away also a large 16-foot water wheel which was used to pump water for purposes of irrigation during the dry weather in the summer. Messrs. Foichat and Nicodet are the proprietors of the ranch and during the past season they have experimented successfully grown or experimented with nearly every variety in the vegetable kingdom. On the lower end of the island is their main garden, being about two and a half acres in size. It is regularly laid out in a most systematic fashion and gives evidence of the most assiduous cultivation. One of the most successful experiments of the year has been in the cultivation of strawberries. From a triangular piece of ground measuring ten feet each way and containing less than 50 plants, 15 boxes of luscious berries were gathered, large, firm, and of excellent flavor. They sold for $1 per box. In another bed there are 500 plants growing from which next year a splendid harvest is anticipated. A quarter of an acre containing 500 plants of rhubarb has been grown, bringing in big returns. Tomatoes thrived and ripened, but they require constant attention and at times some protection. Parsley and radishes grow in the greatest profusion in many different parts of the garden. A bed of sorrel 6x50 and one of endives 16x50 very well satisfied with results. He will have about 10 tons for winter use. Just below West Dawson along the bank of the Yukon there are two extensive gardens. The Brown & Matheson tract embraces 80 acres, about 10 of which are in cultivation. Five acres were seeded last spring in timothy and oats, from which 15 tons have been harvested. Three acres are in cabbage embracing 20,000 heads, half an acre is in carrots, one acre in turnips and one in potatoes. The latter are yielding at the rate of 200 bushels to the acre. There are also 15,000 celery plants which will be held for winter use. Quite a quantity of summer squash has been grown, principally of the Hubbard variety. Tomatoes under the protection of a sun house have yielded very well. For winter use in addition to the celery mentioned the firm will have approximately 15 tons of their own production consisting of cabbage, potatoes, carrots and turnips.

A short distance above the Brown Matheson tract is the Brockfelt farm. It has about the same acreage in cultivation and will likewise have from 12 to 15 tons of vegetables for winter use. On Klondike island there are two ranches, one owned by John Fox of two acres and the other by but an acre, the property of Henry Daum. Mr. Fox this season has a half acre in potatoes, 1000 celery plants and 5000 head of cabbage. He has also raised a ton each of beets and turnips and a half ton of carrots, to say nothing of radishes, green onions, lettuce and other small truck. He will have four tons for winter use. On the Daum tract there have been grown 750 heads of cauliflower, 4000 cabbages, 500 bunches of celery, a ton and a half of potatoes, two tons of turnips, 500 pounds of rutabaga and 1500 dozen cucumbers. There were also 75 tomato plants set, but the first frost tipped them before the fruit had a chance to ripen. Almost all of the crop will be marketed before the winter begins, bordering Steamboat along opposite Klondike City is another large garden. It is owned by John Charlais who has 10 acres fenced, eight of which are under cultivation. He has about two acres each in cabbage and turnips, and acres in oats and half an acre in carrots. He also had 1000 plants of cauliflower, nearly half of which produce excellent heads, some of them eight inches in diameter. The yield of cabbage and turnips is excellent, many of the latter weighing five and six pounds each. Cabbages have been marketed weighing as high as 15 pounds each. One monster whose leaves have a spread of five feet was brought to the city and placed on exhibition next Saturday. It is thought it will weigh fully 30 pounds. John Charlais for winter use will have 15 tons of cabbage, eight tons of turnips and one of carrots.

In making this resume of the vegetable production of the Klondike account is taken of the private gardens, many of which produce sufficient for the use of the family and have also become self-sustaining in the production of vegetables there can be little doubt, and in another year or two what has heretofore been known as "chechako garden truck" will be vegetables unknown to the Dawson community.

Mad Dogs at Fort Yukon. Reports from Fort Yukon seem to effect that a large number of dogs have lately developed rabies and have been killed in consequence. It is nearly all the remaining dogs in the country have been bitten and have to be killed as a precautionary measure.
