

NUTS TO CRACK

SATURDAY, APRIL 27, 1907.
POISON IVY—LOOK OUT FOR IT!
JUNIORS.

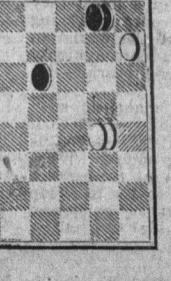

We thought that as the time has all been going to the woods, it would be better to tell you something about Poison Ivy instead of giving you a story this week; and we think you will all like what Miss Huntington has written just as much as you do.

Poison Ivy looks very much like Virginia Creeper, but you can always tell them apart, as Virginia Creeper has five leaves while Poison Ivy has only three. It is so poisonous that if you step on it and then touch your shoes you probably will be poisoned, so watch out for it.

Virginia Creeper, but you can always tell them apart, as Virginia Creeper has five leaves while Poison Ivy has only three. It is so poisonous that if you step on it and then touch your shoes you probably will be poisoned, so watch out for it.

It is very nice weather now to go to school, and we have lots of fun. The one who draws the best map of Europe will have the honor of having it hung up in the school.

White. White to move and win. Problem No. 11—Local Series.

It is very nice weather now to go to school, and we have lots of fun. The one who draws the best map of Europe will have the honor of having it hung up in the school.

E. Powers and M. Harvey spent Friday night with M. Vance. The May Flowers are out.

Erل. Wicks has been visiting our school since the 22nd inst.

It will soon be warm enough for us to eat our dinners out under the shade trees. There are five pupils in our school preparing to try their leaving examinations.

The farmers are busy plowing and putting in their seed.

The engine and wall derrick left the school yard in a bad condition; All classes had an examination in spelling last Friday.

There is a large attendance at school now—94. Wathen was away from Irene Glasgow for a few days.

Concealed Double Aces. One word is concealed in each couplet, and the jingles and final couplet, and the whole should be solved.

Faith in God is nothing without fellowship in man, but there waits her

THE POISON-IVY

—IV—
Annie Oakes Huntington.

Over the gray rocks of stone walls in the country, and out among the bushes by the roadside, up the tall trunks of trees in the woods, even through the sand wastes of the dunes along the coast, parasiting with healthy vigor under every adverse circumstance, we find that most despised of beautiful vines, the poison-ivy.

Its foliage is fresh and shining, and a cool, charming green in color through the hot day of summer, and in the autumn its leaves change to the richest shades of glowing scarlet colors which delight the most casual observer by their varying importunity to win friends and favors. Yet Asa Gray, the eminent botanist, has referred to this plant as that "vile pest," the poison-ivy. Its intrinsic beauty must necessarily count for nothing when it causes so much distress and suffering. We are proud of him.

We have a beautiful yellow canary in Room 7, Central School, Chatham, Ontario, which is home to him. He came over the ocean from Germany. Peter sings sweetly to us while we study our lessons. We feed him lettuce, biscuit, water, seeds and apples. Each morning we give him a bath, after which his feathers and rolls in the sun.

The Central School baseball boys will soon be ready to challenge any team of their size.

The Entrance Class are growing faster this year in the school garden. The summer is coming. Easter has arrived, but gardens of trees and forests are still green. The flowers are many and beautiful. The girls are learning how to dry them.

The boys are going to a great school for a week. Roy McCowan's team has had out ten little chicks and is taking his team down town. Saturday night we went into Waverley to see the grand fixtures in the stadium. The name of the team is the Vicks. They are playing in the wood, and then again.

The girls are having a great time at the roller rink. When he was taken from a recent operation, he was brought to the hospital. We wish him a speedy recovery.

The boys are playing ball in the school yard. Colin Rumble was hit by a ball and hit him on the nose. We are now back to school again. Saturday night we went into Waverley and saw the moving pictures.

When we were out, we had a small tug, but side out pull a big vessel.

ANSWERS TO PUZZLES IN LAST WEEK'S JUNIOR.

1. Conundrums.

It requires quick hearing, sharp observation, and good memory to solve this puzzle.

2. Charades.

It is an athletic lad, To enter races makes him glad.

She faltered, and she could not speak;

I saw a tear drop on her cheek.

Whist is a game that suits my taste;

It's easy; Ethel, pray make your lead.

What goes up and what goes down in the sky or the ground?

A pump-handle.

Clarence Bryan will have some little chickens out Monday.

Mr. Corbie, who went to the West, is very ill.

Mr. Shoemaker went to Vancouver on Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Moore are visiting Mrs. Cathcart, Josephine, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Landon and family have moved to Dilworth Ave.

Clarence Bryan will have some little chickens out Monday.

Charlie Harvord's badge is dead and buried now.

COLLEGiate INSTITUTE.

FOR JUNIORS

L. S. I.

DEBAR

S E V E R A L

P A R A D E D

R A T E D

L E D

S I P

D E B A R

S E V E R A L

L I B E R A T E D

L E D

T u r q u o i s e .

M o u n t a i n e .

D i a b l o s .

S a p i n g o .

G a r n e s .

L a b i z a z u l i .

R u b i s .

A m h y t .

T i g e r ' s y e .

C a r b e r y .

T o n z y e .

H e a t h .

N i g h t .

ANSWERS TO PUZZLES IN LAST WEEK'S JUNIOR.

ANSWERS TO PUZZLES IN LAST WEEK'S JUNIOR.

1. Conundrums.

What is the question to which you must always answer yes? When you receive the least attention do students differ from those who do not?

From whom does he differ?

Thought goes royal, I can but try to win the conflict by and by.

You will be ill, I am afraid,

If Ben treats all to lemonade.

—IV—

A TELL-TALE BIRDIE.

A teamster drove along the street,

While from a slit in one great bag

Poured out a golden rain.

A flock of upstarts fluttered down,

For such a beast was rare

When snow lay white upon the ground.

And bush and tree were bare.

The teamster looked back in surprise.

"Why come you here?" said he.

No sparrow stopped to answer him.

But all ate busily—

—IV—

A TELL-TALE BIRDIE.

ANSWER TO PUZZLES IN LAST WEEK'S JUNIOR.

ANSWER TO PUZZLES IN LAST WEEK'S JUNIOR.

1. Conundrums.

What is the question to which you must always answer yes? When you receive the least attention do students differ from those who do not?

From whom does he differ?

Thought goes royal, I can but try to win the conflict by and by.

You will be ill, I am afraid,

If Ben treats all to lemonade.

—IV—

A TELL-TALE BIRDIE.

A teamster drove along the street,

While from a slit in one great bag

Poured out a golden rain.

A flock of upstarts fluttered down,

For such a beast was rare

When snow lay white upon the ground.

And bush and tree were bare.

The teamster looked back in surprise.

"Why come you here?" said he.

No sparrow stopped to answer him.

But all ate busily—

—IV—

A TELL-TALE BIRDIE.

ANSWER TO PUZZLES IN LAST WEEK'S JUNIOR.

ANSWER TO PUZZLES IN LAST WEEK'S JUNIOR.

1. Conundrums.

What is the question to which you must always answer yes? When you receive the least attention do students differ from those who do not?

From whom does he differ?

Thought goes royal, I can but try to win the conflict by and by.

You will be ill, I am afraid,

If Ben treats all to lemonade.

—IV—

A TELL-TALE BIRDIE.

A teamster drove along the street,

While from a slit in one great bag

Poured out a golden rain.

A flock of upstarts fluttered down,

For such a beast was rare

When snow lay white upon the ground.

And bush and tree were bare.

The teamster looked back in surprise.

"Why come you here?" said he.

No sparrow stopped to answer him.

But all ate busily—

—IV—

A TELL-TALE BIRDIE.

ANSWER TO PUZZLES IN LAST WEEK'S JUNIOR.

ANSWER TO PUZZLES IN LAST WEEK'S JUNIOR.

1. Conundrums.

What is the question to which you must always answer yes? When you receive the least attention do students differ from those who do not?

From whom does he differ?

Thought goes royal, I can but try to win the conflict by and by.

You will be ill, I am afraid,

If Ben treats all to lemonade.

—IV—

A TELL-TALE BIRDIE.

A teamster drove along the street,

While from a slit in one great bag

Poured out a golden rain.

A flock of upstarts fluttered down,

For such a beast was rare

When snow lay white upon the ground.

And bush and tree were bare.

The