

Are You Troubled with INDIGESTION

Does Your Food Distress You After Eating?

WOULDN'T YOU LIKE TO FEEL "GOOD AND HUNGRY" every time you sit down to your meals? That's the way one should feel, but you never can unless your digestion is perfect.

The Remedy is

"JO-RI-CO" DYSPEPSIA TABLETS

Manufactured by The Johnson-Richardson Co., Limited, Montreal, Can.

One of these Tablets taken about the middle of a meal, and one at the end, will digest your food perfectly. Digestion will not have been accomplished by these Tablets alone, as is the way with most Indigestion Tablets, but by their helping the stomach perform what it fails to do by itself. That's the splendid thing about these "Jo-ri-co" Dyspepsia Tablets. You don't "get the habit." They are not only an aid, but a cure for Indigestion and all Stomach Troubles. A trial proves it.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

I had my pencil all poised to make a crusade against posing of any kind, good or bad, when someone presented me with a new point of view.

So instead of making the crusade I'll just pass the point of view along to you.

Isn't a good pose an attempt to live towards an ideal?

And isn't that a desirable thing?

Isn't it better to try to be something fine that you are not than to be satisfied with just being genuinely what you are, however undesirable?

I remember a girl who used to go to school with me, who was much disliked by many of the girls because she, as they put it, "pretended to be so terribly good."

That meant that she was always extremely nice to the unpopular girls, that she always wrote letters to and went to call on anyone who was ill or shut-in, frequently helped the extra stupid girls with their lessons and said all sorts of nice things about the extra clever ones.

"It's just a pose," the people who disliked her said. "Marion likes to patronize people and have them always thanking her and so she takes this pose."

Now all that may have been very unjust. It may have been simply

Facts for Weak Women

Nine-tenths of all the sickness of women is due to some derangement or disease of the organs distinctly feminine. Such sickness can be cured—is cured every day by

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

It Makes Weak Women Strong, Sick Women Well.

It acts directly on the organs affected and is at the same time a general restorative tonic for the whole system. It cures female complaint right in the privacy of home. It makes unnecessary the disagreeable questioning, examinations and local treatment so universally insisted upon by doctors, and so abhorrent to every modest woman.

We shall not particularize here as to the symptoms of those peculiar affections incident to women, but those wanting full information as to their symptoms and means of positive cure are referred to the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser—1008 pages, newly revised and up-to-date Edition, sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only; or, in cloth binding for 20 stamps.

Fads and Fashions.

Challis comes in very pretty patterns and makes dainty little frocks for small girls.

With the afternoon dresses, there are carried parasols of black chin-chilla lace over white.

Figured foulards are to be used as linings for many of the smart tailored coats this spring.

For street wear the correct stockings are the plain, heavy black silk, with an embroidered cloak.

Many of the negligees have a hint of the Directoire with crossed vests of brocade or beaded net.

A bewildering number of changes will be rung upon the way in which the new smart coat is fastened.

Belts of every description are found; even on evening gowns we are astonished by a belt of leather.

For street suits, black and white is in great demand, stripes or checks being successfully used also.

One of the new turbans has a foundation of silver; its trimming a full ostrich plume in taupe color.

The new coat buttons are gorgeous, depending upon enamel, jewels and brilliant color effects for their beauty.

Softness and fulness in attractive lines result from the shirring that has again invaded the realm of dress.

Belts are worn in a very high, round line, their great length making them take a quaint, short-waisted effect.

Unusually handsome for gowns are the twilled foulards, found in a large range of colors, as well as many silk designs.

Square and oblong buckles, huge in size and covered with spangled or jeweled fabrics, are seen on many of the new gowns.

Among the new shapes in turbans are the Rembrandt, the Henry III, the Hussar, the De Stael, the Drum Major and the Napoleon.

Voile, varied with silk stripes dots and blocks, and of very open mesh, is a safe and becoming decision for afternoon gowns.

Bedroom slippers, crocheted of the heavy mercerized cotton, are most attractive. The changeable cottons are especially attractive.

Lingerie garments are narrower than formerly. Every possible plait or gather is omitted and the lines closely follow those of the outer dress.

There has come about a wide return for blouses that fasten across on shoulder or both; in the latter case there is no fastening under the arm.

Parasols will still have the verbecoming Directoire handle, and are to be quite as elaborate as ever. The canopy top is to be popular.

There is at present in Paris a vogue for spiral effects and across bands; and especially does this idea seem exemplified in the afternoon and evening gowns.

SOUR STOMACH IS A SIGN OF INDIGESTION

If you occasionally have a taste of sour food in your mouth, it surely shows that the food you are taking into your stomach is not being digested, but instead is fermenting and giving out poisonous gases.

Belching of gas is a common symptom at such times, and also that lump-of-lead feeling, as if your stomach was carrying a much greater load than it could stand. These are sure symptoms of indigestion, and should be attended to at once.

Dr. Bovel's Herb Tablets

are by removing the cause. They build up the stomach so fast that in a few days the blood, nerves, muscles, and the entire body receives increased nourishment, which results in a clearer complexion, bright eyes, more energy and cheerfulness.

How Blotting Paper Was Discovered.

Blotting paper was discovered purely by accident. Some ordinary paper was being made one day at a mill in Berkshire when a careless workman forgot to put in the sizing material. It may be imagined what angry scenes would take place in that mill, as the whole of the paper made was regarded as being quite useless. The proprietor of the mill desired to write a note shortly afterward, and he took a piece of waste paper, thinking it was good enough for that purpose. To his intense annoyance the ink spread all over the paper. All of a sudden there flashed over his mind the thought that this paper would do instead of sand for drying ink, and he it once advertised his waste paper as "blotting." There was such a big demand that the mill ceased to make ordinary paper and was soon occupied in making blotting only; the use of which spread to all countries. The result now is that the descendant of the discoverer owns the largest mills in the world for the manufacture of his special kind of paper. The reason the paper is of use in drying ink is that really it is a mass of hairlike fibers, which suck up liquid by capillary attraction. If a very fine glass tube is put into water the liquid will rise in it owing to capillary attraction. The art of manufacturing blotting paper has been carried to such a degree that the product has wonderful absorbent qualities.

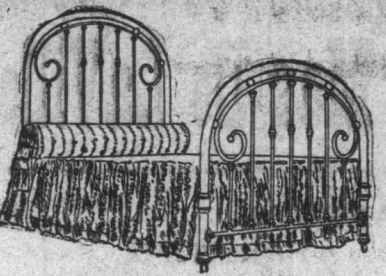

All blotting paper is made from rags. The original blotting paper was of a pink color, due to the fact that red rags were used—rags which could not be used for making the ordinary paper, as the color could not be removed. Here was a method for using the apparently useless matter, and so for a long time pink was the predominant color. It is a matter for surprise what curious preferences are shown by various people with regard to the color of the blotting paper they use. Business men greatly prefer that of a buff color. This is preferred to white from the fact that it is more easily distinguished from the others that are handled, while at the same time it is not sufficiently striking to seem out of place in an office.

It is only in England that buff colored blotting paper is the favorite. Countries which possess hot climates prefer green, and this preference can be understood readily when it is remembered that green is such a restful color to the eyes. The people on the Continent have quite a different taste with regard to the color of paper; they prefer vivid colors, showing especial preference for deep pink. Ladies of all lands prefer more dainty colors, chiefly mauve. This colored blotting paper, by the way, was also accidentally produced in the first place; in this case some blue and red rags became mixed together, and so this color was produced.

There is an opinion which seems to be fairly prevalent that colored papers do not blot as well as white. As a matter of fact the color makes no difference at all to the absorbent quality of the paper, the particular tint depending purely upon the blending of the rags. Quite the newest tint is black. This is preferred by persons who do not wish anybody to see what has been written. If an ordinary piece of blotting paper, say white, has been used, it is quite easy to read what has been blotted simply by holding the paper up to a mirror. The black paper, however, absorbs the ink marks without showing them. In the case of the Sovereign, any piece which has blotted His Majesty's signature is at once destroyed. As a matter of fact, King Edward VII. always uses an extra thick white sheet of blotting paper, known as "Fords 80-pound white," though until recently very thin pink paper was that preferred for official use.—London "T. P.'s Weekly."
