TABTARS DEVASTATED IT IN 1241, GERMAN COLONISTS RE-S T O R E D CITY, BOHEMIANS TOOK IT, POLAND RECOVERED POSSESSION, CROWNED AND BURIED HER MONARCHS IN CA-THEDRALS.

The city of Cracow, once the capital of Poland, has often felt the assault of invading armies. From the earliest times the city has been besieged, sacked, and burned time and time again. Tartars, Bohemians, Austrians, Cossacks and French have marched through its streets.

According to tradition, Cracow was founded about 700 A.D., by the mythical Krak, a Polish prince. Its early history is, however, entirely obscure. It was annexed in the tenth century by the Bohemian principality, but re-captured later by Boleslaus Chrobry, who made it the seat of a bishopric, and it became the capital of one of the principalities into which Poland was divided from the twelfth century. In 1241 it was devastated by the first Tartar invasion, but later its prosperity was partly restored through German colonists. In 1257 it received a Madgeburg constitution. Other Tartar invasions, however, swept past its gates, impairing its riches. In 1290 it was captured by Wenceslaus II. of Bohemia and held until 1305, when Ladislaus Lokietek recovered it from Wenceslaus III.

Ladislaus made Cracow his capital. From this time until 1764 it was the coronation and burial place of the Polish kings, even after the royal residence had been removed to Warsaw by Siegmund III. When Poland was partitioned in 1795 Austria took Cracow, but in 1800 Nameleon took it cow; but in 1809 Napoleon took it from Austria and incorporated the town with the duchy of Warsaw, which was placed under the rule of the King of Saxony, City's Neutrality Pledged.

In 1812 the Emperor Alexander of Russia took it over with the rest of tlement of the affairs of Europe by the great Powers of 1815 it was agreed that Cracow and its adjoining territory should be formed into a free State. The final act of the congress, State. The final act of the congress, signed at Vienna that year, declared that "the town of Cracow, with its territory, is declared to be forever a free, independent and strictly neutral city under the protection of Russia," Austria and Prussia."

When an insurrection occurred in 1846, which the authorities were unable to repress, the city was occupied at their request by Austrian troops.
Upon this pretext Russia, Austria and Prussia, in the face of the agreement of the congress and the opposition of the expressed views of England and France, abolished the independent State of Cracow and it was incorporated in the Austrian dominions.

Cracow, which has a ppoulation of more than ninety thousand, is situated upon the Vistula, and is a place of great strategical importance as well as being the intellectual centre of the Polish nation.

Burial Place of Kings.

The Jagellonian University at Cracow is the second oldest in Europe, being founded in 1364 by Casimir the Great, and completed by Ladislaus Jagiello in 1400. The university is housed in magnificent buildings and possesses a rich library. The Polish National Museum of Art is another building of importance in the city. The Stanislaus Cathedral is the greatest monument in Cracow. It was consecrated in 1359. Here all the Polish kings were crowned and the heroes of Poland are buried. John Sobieski, Thaddeus Kosciuszko, Joseph Poniatowski and Adam Mickiewitz lie in the crypt, as do the remains of St. | Stanislaus, the patron saint of Poland. Many valuable paintings and sculptures adorn the cathedral. There are many other beautiful churches in the

The royal castle, the Zambek Krolowsk, begun in the thirteenth century and later enlarged, is situated on the Wawel. Until 1610 it was the residence of the kings. Later it became a barracks, but has been lately cleared Cracow is the natural mart for the exchange of products of Silesia, Hungary and Russian and Austrian Poland. Its trade in timber, salt, textiles, cattle, wine and agricultural produce is considerable. Near the city are the famous salt mines of Wielc czka. Machinery, agricultural imple ments, chemicals, soap and tobacco are among the manufactures of the

WE SELL FOR LESS

SPIES.

By GEORGE FITCH,

Author of "At Good Old Siwash." A spy is about the only man who can get hanged without being dis-

In fact, being hanged makes a hero out of a spy. If Nathan Hale had died of old age he would only have been a Revolutionary veteran, but he got himself hanged for his country and thereby became one of the big nen of colonial history.

It is a spy's duty to slip stealthily through the enemy's lines disguised or a soldier on the other side, and to cord up all available information that will be useful to his commander. One successful spy is as disastrous to the eremy as a dozen siege guns. Naturally he is very unpopular with the hated foe. When a spy is caught he is tried by court-martial at once, and is not allowed to challenge jurymen, appeal to the Supreme Court, or plead insanity or extreme provocation. The sole object of the Court is to hang him, and it usually succeeds in doing this in about twenty-four

A spy gets $13 a month and board in this country, and less abroad. We know of no other line of business which is so badly underpaid, and yet, when new spies are needed to take the place of those who have come home feet first, plenty of volunteers can easily be found.

This is a marvelous fact, but none more strange than the number of men who are willing to race motorcycles, loop the loop in aeroplanes, and fight John Barleycorn six rounds a night, winner to take everything the loser has, including his life and reputation. A spy is a patrot because he is risking his life for his country. If he were spying for a business house at $100 a month he would be a common $100 a month he would be a common sneak and as undesirable as a cockreach. But any man who will undertake, at cut rate prices, to ramble around the camp of an enemy who is only too anxious to hang him up by the neck and then forget him, is a hero and his widow should take great pride in his memory.

Still, it does seem as if the nation could get together and make it a lit-tle easier for spies. They are as necessary as generals, and it doesn't seem fair to hang them. contractors who sell rotten supplies to the soldier boys are enjoying phenomenally good health.

More Fires.

Fires provoke immediate sympathy for the sufferer and also thankfulness for personal escape. Another thought should be whether one is personally and sufficiently protected? An insur-ance policy with Percie Johnson would provide for you this desired security and at small expense. Have you

The Oriental note in dress has al nost disappeared. Occasionally we see a hat with the nushroom brim. The silk jacket and short loose coat is in good fashion. Frocks of net arranged in pleats or ruffles are favorites. The old-fashioned chenille embroidery has come back. Both light and dark-toned fitch furs will be fashionable. The Japanese neck and the stand-away collars are still good. The feather- trimmed hat is the fashionable hat this season. A new idea is the combination of black satin and plaid serge. Bronze slippers are used as much as black for afternoon wear. Many of the new suits are trimme with bands of velvet.

All the fashionable dressmakers are using the lower walst line. Street costumes of plaid are reeiving a good deal of attention.

The most favored lace will be the net top lace with hand-run design. Zibeline is to be the extremely mart material for coats this winter. All frocks for day wear seem to
