The Royal Visit to London To-

A word or two of final suggestion in connection with the visit of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York tomorrow, may be in order.

(1) Let every place of business and every private residence be, as far as possible, decorated. A good deal is being done by the city, but it will be impossible to make the right impression in the matter of decorations unless the citizens co-operate in their private capacity.

(2) Think out your place of observation. You know the route: Up Richmond, east on Dundas, up Wellington, thence around Collegiate Institute block to Victoria Park by way of Frincess avenue. (Around the Collegiate Institute is reserved for the school children). Out of park by First Methodist part of exit, west along Dufferin to Richmond, down Richmond to G. T. R. station.

The school day is to be spent somewhat as follows: From 9 to 10 a.m. of each day will be spent in judging grain and other classes of farm seeds, and the identification of and from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. will be devoted to practical work in judging horses, beef cattle, dairy cattle, sheep and swine. Lectures on breeding. feeding and management of live stock are to be given each day by members of the college staff.

No fees are to be charged, the only expenses being practically the cost of board and of car fare to and from Guelph.

No entrance examination is required, and any farmer or farmer's son may enter for this two weeks' course. It is a matter of interest, not only to the class mentioned, but also to live stock buyers. It is in the farmer's capacity as merchant, that he will be chiefly benefited by such a course. The ability to buy and sell properly, is a prime requisite of successful husbandry, and now that the opportunity s offered at a time of the year that armers are in a position to avail emselves of it, no doubt the venture will be highly appreciated by the agriculturists of the Province.

A Remarkable Break-Up.

The death of Hon. Clarke Wallace, the leader of the Conservatives from Ontario in the Dominion House of Commons, recalls the extraordinary character of the break-up that has been caused in the ranks of that party since the death of Sir John Thompson. Of the Thompson Ministry, only two members are now in the House of Commons supporting the Opposition leader. They are Sir C. H. Tupper and Hon. John Haggart. Of the seventeen members of that Ministry, Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Sir John Carling remain in the Senate, while Messrs. Ouimet and Curran were appointed judges, and Hon. John Costigan has for some time been a supporter of the present Government. Sir Adolphe Caron, Hon. Geo. E. Foster, Hon. T. M. Daly and Hon. A. R. Angers, having been defeated in the appeal to the country, are now in private life. Hon. J. C. Patterson was not a candidate at the general election, and so avoided the risk of going down with his fellow Ministers.

The death list is a sadly long one, and embraces Sir John Thompson, the able Prime Minister of that day, Hon. W. B. Ives, Hon. Sir Frank Smith. Hon. J. F. Wood, and now Hon. Clarke Wallace. Hon. A. R. Dickey and Hon. J. J. Ross, who were respectively members of the short-lived Ministries of Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Sir Charles Tupper, have also passed away. Indeed, almost all the politicians who consented to take portfolios in the Government of Sir Charles Tupper, are out of Parliament today. It is noteworthy, too, that with the exception of Sir Frank Smith and Hon. Mr. Ross, all the statesmen who have passed away were in the prime of life, illustrating once again, in a striking manner, the evanescent character of all things earthly.

The Detroit News has rightly reached the conclusion that, while the Canadian courts rule as they have been doing, it will be impossible for the republic to work up any considerable export trade in divorces.

We have been asked who is the proper person in London to apply to for information with regard to the number of balls to be worn on coronets, the ermine that is to be donned, the length and breadth of the kow-towing, etc. Until the arrival of Major Maude, the custodian of information on the proprieties, we presume that it will be the chairman of the reception committee.

A variation of a sixteenth of an inch from these intervals might rip Magna Charta into fragments and send the duke home on the next ship.

Advertising Canada.

[Ottawa Journal.] The royal progress through Canada has a side that may be lost sight of; that is the good the visit is likely to do Canada by way of advertisement. The visit has taken place during a very favorable time of the year and the weather has been uniformly good. The royal party and the Euro pean newspaper and special artists with them have seen the country at the most beautiful time of the year ity, Yukon. It is now suggested that and under circumstances which must go a long way to remove "Lady of the Snow's" prejudices. As the newspaper men who are in the party all represent papers of wide circulation and influence. Canada is bound to get a lot of free and valuable advertising.

[Chicago Tribune.] Emma Goldman's impudent article in a local anarchist paper in which she lauds Czolgosz and indulges in maudlin sympathy for the assassin, again raises in concrete form the important question whether or not such incendiary utterances should be permitted to circulate through the mails. The Chicago postoffice authorities have done well to exclude the paper from the mails until the matter has passed upon at Washington, Merely on the common law principle of selfprotection it would seem that the government should have the power to refuse to carry utterances aiming at its own annihilation. If the federal statutes are deficient on this point congress should attend to the its next session. The subject is one requiring extreme care, but there should be as valid grounds for excluding anarchistic literature from the mails as for placing a similar ban on obscene and immoral matter.

The attempt of anarchists to use the present sad occasion for advertising themselves and for money-making purposes is a disgusting spectacle. Mayor Harrison acted wisely in forbidding the Goldman woman to repeat publicly in this city the speech which Czolgosz said inspired him to commit the murder in Buffalo. Such action can be justified on the grounds of preventing a breach of the peace, if on no other. It is difficult to see why the same kind of murderous rant in form of a printed article should not be suppressed on similar grounds. Speaking of Czolgosz, Miss Goldman writes: "I cannot help but bow in reverenced silence before the power of such a soul." Such an utterance uncircumstances is not merely nauseating, it is a glorification of murder and an incentive to weak and criminal dupes to attempt to emulate the example of Czolgosz. If there is no way of barring such stuff from the mails there ought to be.

The desire of anarchists to use the government mails for spreading their attacks on all governments is on a par with the inconsistency of all their actions. If Miss Goldman is in favor of "removing" an executive or official who represents the law because she is opposed to all law, why should she object to her own "removal" by anyone who is opposed to her doctrines or teachings? If she is opposed to the law, why should she expect the protection of the law? Yet she would be one of the first to cry out if actual anarchy were to be let loose for half an hour around her and the blatant group with she trains. The law is too see tion of the law? Yet she would be one which she trains. The law is too sac-

Windsor, Oct. 11 .- Peter Seguin, jun., of Elmstead, Sandwich East, aged 36, carried a small bottle of carbolic acid and two plugs of chewing tobacco in his hip pocket. The acid was designed to cleanse a cut in his hand. The bottle was broken and the tobacco absorbed the acid. Despite the tobacco's peculiar flavor, he chewed the two plugs in two days, and for ten days tried to slake his parching thirst with whisky and water. Then two physicians tried in vain for two weeks to cure him, being puzzled at first to know the cause of his illness. Seguin's throat swelled to several times its normal size, and the flesh became almost black. He suffered excruciating pain, as his mouth, throat and stomach were burned raw. The abscess which formed on his lungs broke and brought death Wednesday morn-

DEADLY EXPLOSION.

Oil City, Pa., Oct. 11.-Harper's nitro-glycerine factory at Ridge Farm, four riles from this city, was blown up yesterday. The cause of the explosion will never be known, as the only persons about the place at the time were instantly killed. They were: Clarence Ward, aged 33, the manufacturer, and his assistant, Frank Gross, aged 25. Ward's body was blown to atoms and Gross was decapitated. Windows were shattered for a radius of two or three miles. BROTHERS BURNED TO DEATH. Montreal, Oct. 11 .- Fire took place last night in a small house on St. Germain street, and three young boys-Albert Chapleau, aged 6 years; Lespor Chapleau, aged 4 years, and Arthur Chapleau, aged 18 months-were burned to death. The children were alone in the house, their parents being out, and a lamp which had been left lit exploded, setting fire to the place. The children were burned to death before they could be rescued.

SIX KILLED. Chicago, Oct. 11 .- A Daily News special from Lombard, Ill., says six men lost their lives in the collision between two freight trains on the Chicago Great Western. She Formerly Lived in St. Thomas-A Telegram From Appin, Ont., However, Says Lizzie Is Alive and in Detroit.

St. Thomas, Ont., Oct. 11. - There seems to be no doubt but that the body of the young woman found dead in the woods near Royal Oak, Mich., is that of Miss Lizzie Jeffries, formerly of this city. Thomas Trigger, blacksmith, Hiawatha street, uncle of the murdered woman, was shown a photogravure picture of the deceased, and at once said it was an excellent picture of his niece, Lizzie Jef-

A Royal Oak, Mich., dispatch to the Detroit News says: The mystery sur-rounding the woman whose body was found in the woods a mile back from this town are still as deep as ever. There are many theories as to how the unfortunate woman met her death, but the sheriff's force at Pontiac have found no clues of any importance from the fragments of cloth ing found on the body. The son also leaned over the coffin, and tried to find some little thing that might give an indication of the identity of the some little thing that might give an indication of the identity of the some little than the sound of the sound little than the sound littl

ON THE INCREASE

Canada's Trade With Australia-Suggestions and Pointers From Commercial Agent Larke.

Ottawa, Oct. 11 .- A report from J. S. Larke, commercial agent of Canada at Sydney, New South Wales, and dated Sept. 11, has been received at the department of trade and commerce. It says that in anticipation of the new tariff imports are pouring into Sydney. No travelers from Canada had recently arrived there, but two or three had returned to Canada, all reporting an excellent business, and two of them are expected to come back to open branch houses. He had received an increased number of requests from Canadian manufacturers to secure agents and openings, but more are awaiting the commonwealth tariff in order to better judge of prospects under the new duties.

In some cases it is advisable to de-lay, but in the large majority of lines Mr. Larke says, in which Canada is doing a trade, the tariff is unlikely to make much change. The output of gold was decreasing in nearly all the states, labor finding profitable employment in other directions. In Queensland the effect of the drought had been seen, for the exports, which had fallen away nearly two and a half millions, found comparison with 1899. It led to a serious immigration from the state, a loss of onethird of its sheep and one-fourth of its cattle. The trade with Canada, though small, was steadily increasing. Complaints are made of errors and imperfect modes of shipment of Canadian goods.

Diminished Vitality. Some people talk very flippantly about diminished vitality.

They don't stop to think that vitality is the principle of life—that it is that little understood something on which every function of their bedies depends.

Diminished vitality is early indicated by loss of appetite, strength and endurance, and Heod's Sarsaparilla is the greatest vitalizer.
