A LIFE'S DEVOTION

BY FRANK H. SHAW.

Author of "A Daughter of the Storm," "First at the Pole," etc. (Copyright in U. S. America. All Rights Reserved.)

"Less of it, hand over!" The cudgel missed in the air past her head as she darted back. But her foot caught in her mackintosh; she stumbled and would have fallen backward, only that the tramp charged forward and grasped her firmly by the outflung arm. He shook her viciously and her hat flopped ludicrously on her dishevelled hair. "Quit that fooling! If you won't hand over I'll bloom! Well take it myself." He tore at the collar of her mackintosh; she struggled silently but fiercely for a minute that seemed like a year. Then he flung one strong arm round her neck; his hand—he had dropped the cudgel—closed like a vice on her throat.

She screamed. To her own ears it seemed like the whimper of a frightened child; she felt that it could not carry a yard. "Stow that!" A hand was clapped over her mouth; the man's hot breath was on her cheek. She looked up frightenedly at his blazing eyes and working face, and recognized evil passions in being. But she came of a brave stock; she would not submit to the degradation that threatened her. "I'll bloom! Well murder yer!" the tramp snarled. "Here, I'm sick o' this ahead of him reel forward, almost heard the impact of an avenging fist. But the tramp was a big man and strong. He faced about, and struck Scroggs on the shoulder, and he winced at the pain. But that blow let loose the vials of his wrath. He no longer thought of anything save of his desire to even matters up. He had his antagonist by the throat a second later and was wailing up and down across the road, hammering at the blood-suffused face, choking his opponent into submission.

"Hold on, guv'nor, I've had enough," said the tramp. "You let up; I ain't harmed yer."

"You low cad! you've hurt a lady, and I'll see you laid by the heels for this!" He struck again and again, heedless of the man's lessened resistance; only aware that the woman he loved had been subjected to grave insult. He was Berserk, mad with rage; and when he left the tramp a minute later, that undesirable acquaintance could only greet himself up painfully in the ditch and gasp out disjointed oaths.

"That would be a fine opening for the county!" said Scroggs, somewhat bitterly, as he went back to Marion Seymour's side. "I'm not altogether blind and deaf; and I know what's thought of me in certain quarters. They'd say the shop boy had gone back to his beginning, and he let me know in a while. I'm forgetting myself, Lady Marion, you're suffering; I must take you home at once. Don't attempt to speak to me. He opened the throttle and the car bounded forward with a leap. The splash and swoosh of rain and mud proved soothing to Marion's excited mind; little by little her pain, which had been mostly mortification, went from her.

"It was so good of you to come to my assistance," she said softly. Scroggs made an impatient exclamation. He was stammering back to himself and had had time to see things in their real proportions. He had figured as principal character in what was but little better than a vulgar street brawl; he rather than the tramp, he had restrained himself from that second punitive attack. But a sidelong glance at Marion's face helped him to change his mind. Her face expressed admiration, something too of awe.

"Then you ain't altogether disgusted, because I forgot the venerable let the natural man creep out?" "It didn't altogether creep out," she said demurely, her eyes met fairly. Scroggs smiled, and it was an infectious smile. Marion laughed weakly, and became aware that she was suffering more than she had previously believed.

"I suppose I ought to be ashamed of myself," said Scroggs, talking on as if with a desire to tide over an awkward moment. "It should have been enough for me to get me the flow at any cost. But believe me, Lady Marion, I thoroughly enjoyed that tussle. Inborn traits, I suppose. I would gladly have fought for another ten minutes." He wheeled a little and, as if by accident, a rut, and Marion recoiled, the cudgel blow that had fallen. Instantly she was all concern.

ALLDS RESIGNED

Accused Senator Did Not Wait To Be Expelled From Senate.

Albany, March 29.—Half an hour before his colleagues were scheduled to begin voting on the question whether he took a bribe, Senator John P. Allds today resigned from the Senate. In view of frequent declarations that he would not resign, this decision of his colleagues, his action came as a thunder clap.

It is taken as positive indication that Allds after a full of the senators found that there was a majority against him, and that vote of the committee of the whole would be swiftly followed by his formal expulsion by the Senate.

Allds was charged by Senator Clegg with carrying on huge bribery operations in connection with the passage of bills.

PAULHAM PEEVISH

Says the Americans Did Not Enthus Over His Daring Feats.

Cherbourg, March 29.—M. Paulham, the French aviator, just arrived on the steamer President Grant, expresses very bitter sentiments with reference to the United States. He said today that enthusiasm was shown only in the cities where he was welcomed, and in the French colonies. The Americans, he said, were unmoved, despite his most daring feats.

"It is the only public in the world," said Paulham, "that is not interested in the man who flies. The Americans were jealous that a Frenchman could fly in a French machine."

COSTLY COCK FIGHTING.

Toronto, March 29.—Cock fighting comes dear in Toronto, as Charles E. Vernon found to his cost. The police raided his premises on Stonehouse crescent, and in the police court today he was found guilty of keeping a cock pit. He was fined $40 and costs of 60 days. William Boscow and Daniel Falvey were charged with assisting and aiding in a cock pit, were fined $5 and costs each.

SHACKLETON AT NEW YORK.

New York, March 29.—The American Geographical Society last night paid tribute to the explorer who reached the British explorer, who reached the point within 111 miles of the south pole, when the Culebra medal was presented to him by Archer M. Huntington, president of the organization, before 500 members and guests in the auditorium of the Engineering Society's Building.

With this formal recognition of Lieut. Shackleton, he has been honored by the governments and scientific organizations of seven countries—Great Britain, France, Norway, Russia, Italy, Denmark and the United States. He was heartily cheered last night by the assemblage.

HARBOR ICE MOVING.

Kingston, March 29.—Coal schooners are fitting out here, and as soon as broken ice clears from the harbor they will clear for Oswego. Steamers are moving about now, and will soon clear the harbor of the obstructing ice.

LATE C. M. GENGE.

Kingston, March 29.—C. M. Genge, M. P. for McLeod, Ontario, who died at the Kingston Hospital of kidney disease, was a former Kingstonian, who left here 10 years ago for the west. Mr. Genge was mayor of McLeod for several terms. His brother is in Kingston postoffice.

A BAD RECORD.

Ottawa, March 29.—Severin Desjarlines, a well-connected young man, was today sent to Kingston Penitentiary for four years. He was convicted on seven charges of burglary. Desjarlines has a bad record, and is a ticket-of-leave man.

Do You Realize What an Important Work the Kidneys Do?

Do you know that every drop of your blood goes to the kidneys hundreds of times every day? Do you know why? To be filtered and purified from its impurities. That is the great work the kidneys have to do. They filter the blood, and then the impurities go to the bladder and are passed out of the body along with the urine.

Do you think it possible for you to be well, unless the kidneys do this work thoroughly? It is these impurities—this unfiltered blood—that causes headaches, rheumatism, neuralgia, diabetes, Bright's disease, etc. They poison and interfere with the whole system.

If you have any kidney trouble let Doan's Kidney Pills do for you what they have done for thousands of others. They cure all forms of kidney trouble, and they cure them to stay cured.

Mrs. Maurice Doiron, Charlottetown, P.E.I., writes:—"I was troubled with my kidneys for five years. They were so bad at times that I could not cross the floor for pain. I went to a doctor, but he did me no good. I sent for the druggist and got five boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, and I am glad to say that after taking them I was cured. I have had no trouble for nearly three years now."

Price 50 cents per box or 3 for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

In ordering specify "Doan's."

EGYPTIAN STUDENTS SCOLD MR. ROOSEVELT

Didn't Like His Pro-British Expressions Made in Recent Speech.

[Associated Press.]

Cairo, March 29.—This evening 200 students from the University of Egypt made a demonstration in front of Sheppard's Hotel, where Col. Roosevelt is stopping. The students carried an Egyptian flag, and they paraded past the hotel, shouting "Long live the constitution and the liberty of Egypt."

The shouting was interspersed with handclapping. Mr. Roosevelt was in his room at the time, but paid no attention to the students. The latter were orderly, and after giving expression to their sentiments, dispersed. The demonstration was brought about by the pro-British expressions made by Mr. Roosevelt in his speech at the university yesterday.

THE LIBRARIANS

Some Changes Recommended in the Matter of Legislative Grants.

Toronto, March 29.—The twenty annual meeting of the Ontario Library Association was concluded today. This morning was devoted to a meeting of the executive, the reading of papers, and a general discussion of matters relating to library improvements.

Miss B. Mabel Dunham, B.A., Berlin, read an interesting paper on methods of reaching the people. The trustees' duty to the library was the subject of a paper by Dr. Otto Klotz of Ottawa.

The executive committee, made recommendations, based upon the president's address. Some changes were recommended in the system of legislative grants, under which a minimum grant of $25 would be given to each library.

OVERTAXED NERVES A DISTRESS SIGNAL

THE TROUBLE CAN ONLY BE CURED BY ENRICHING THE BLOOD SUPPLY.

When your nervous system is exhausted the trouble makes itself evident in many ways. You feel always fatigued and unfit for work. Severe headaches distract you; your back is weak; you sleep badly; your appetite is poor; you are nervous and irritable and after any exercise you tremble and perspire excessively. If the trouble is not checked your case goes from bad to worse until you are in a condition that is hopeless and that insanity is threatened.

Your nerves are calling for help. They are starved because they are depleted. You need more nourishment than it can supply. New, rich blood is the secret of nerve strength, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People cure nervousness because they enrich the weak, exhausted nerves with rich, red blood. The case of Mrs. Emma Hall, of Hamilton, Ont., furnishes proof that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure even the most stubborn cases of nerve exhaustion.

Mrs. Hall was left a widow and was forced to work in a mill to maintain herself and her two little children. She bravely faced the battle of life, though she had never had to conform to such conditions before. Notwithstanding the splendid spirit she showed, the war played havoc with a delicate constitution, and some years ago Mrs. Hall noticed signs in herself of a nervous collapse. She consulted a doctor who gave her some medicine and told her she "would be all right in a few days." But relief did not come, and it was finally a daily occurrence for her to faint at her work. These fainting spells quickly developed into pronounced hysteria and chronic irritability, and Mrs. Hall says that death would have been a relief. She consulted several doctors but got no help, and she felt that she was almost bordering on insanity. In this condition she was advised to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Grasping at even the possibility of help she decided to do so. After taking three boxes she actually found some improvement, and from that time on this improvement was steady and increasing daily until after a few months she felt the cure was complete. She says: "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done what other doctors failed to do, and what I myself thought was impossible. They have freed me from the terrible trouble I suffered, and my old joy in life has been renewed." When Mrs. Hall began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills she weighed only one hundred pounds, while under her renewed health her weight has increased to one hundred and thirty pounds.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be had from any dealer in medicines, or will be sent by mail to any address on six boxes for $2.50, from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

PYNE'S NEW PRIMER HANDED A BAD JOLT

Ontario Educational Association in Convention Reports Against It.

[G. N. W. Service.]

Toronto, March 29.—Three hundred teachers from all parts of the province—the vanguard of an army of about a thousand educationists who will attend the meetings of the forty-ninth annual convention of the Ontario Educational Association this week, met in Toronto University this morning, and promptly plunged into a hot discussion of educational matters.

The Ontario Government's new primer came in for a jolt, when the committee of the public school department reported against it, while the high school principals' sections attacked the overloaded curriculum of the high schools. So warm was the attack on the new primer that the section could not get through its programme, and will have to fight the matter out at a later session.

DEATH HALTS SUIT

U. S. Supreme Court Corporation Cases May Be Re-Armed.

Washington, March 29.—No argument of the cases affecting great corporations, which are pending before the supreme court of the United States loomed up prominently today as a probable outcome of the death of Justice Brewer last night. These include the dissolution suits against the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and the American Tobacco Company and the corporation tax cases. The decision of these cases by the seven justices on the bench, now that Justice Brewer has passed away, and Justice Moody is incapacitated for service on account of rheumatism, is upon the unanimity of opinion on the questions. Some lawyers, who have followed closely the decisions of the supreme court scout the idea that such unanimity exists, and therefore, they are free in expressing the view that cases will be set for re-argument.

PUNCTURED THE AIR

Frenchmen on Field of Honor Fire at the Clouds.

Paris, March 29.—Henry Bernstein, the French playwright, who forgot to fire his pistol, has been outdone by two chivalrous Frenchmen of Algiers, Messrs. Laccand and Malibey.

Armed with duelling pistols they met on the field of honor. Six times they fired, affronting death, and each time the courteous adversaries fired in the air. After these six deadly shots had been exchanged the seconds declared that honor was satisfied.

Nobody was injured, as fortunately no live bullets were passing, and no one was hurt. There were present four witnesses, two doctors and the usual number of reporters and photographers.

It is suggested that this is a great improvement on French duelling methods, as when the Parisian feels insulted he can go into his back garden and fire six times at the wall; his adversary in Marseilles can, at the same time, fire six shots into the Mediterranean, and thus honor will be satisfied.

MARRIED TOO SOON.

Montreal, March 29.—Thomas Dalton, who thought it safe to remarry after a period of five years' ignorance of his first wife's whereabouts, pleaded guilty to a charge of bigamy today.
