NANKING SCENE OF SLAUGHTER

Manchu Soldiers Brutally Massacre Women, Children and Unarmed Men-Many Flee from City to Country

NANKING, Nov. 10 .- Nanking is desolate tonight, Fully a thousand of its inhabitants lie massacred, and business houses and dwellings have been looted and burned.

Seventy thousand persons have fied the city, and others are joining the exodus. Down the railroad leading from the city a long, snake-like line of humanity is trudging in search of safety.

It was the hand of the Manchus that brought the devastation. While the republicans were in camp three miles away, awaiting ammunition and reinforcements, the Manchus began the work of carnage.

Men, women and children were slaughtered. Neither youth or age was taken into acount. White, the emblem of the revolution, marked it; wearers for instant death. Chinamen with white shoes, a sign of mourning among them. or even a handkerchief, were ruthlessly slain. Queueless heads severed from the bodies were everywhere to be seen.

There was little fighting today between the revolutionists and the troops. The imperialists are reported to be short of ammunition for their big Krupp guns, and their most capable gunners are said to have deserted them. The republicans complain that owing to the neutralization of the rairroad they have been unable quickly to transport men and guns from Shanghai. These are being brought by boats and pack mules. A desperate battle is expected soon.

Indignation at Shanghai SHANGHAI, Nov. 10 .- The massacre at Nanking has aroused public sentiment here to a night pitch. Undoubtedly it has added to the prestige of the revolutionists, who since the first outbreak have maintained order and avoided unnecessary bloodshed,

The North China News, the leading foreign newspaper here, commenting on the massacre, says:

"It is not whether the Manchu or the Chinese prevailed-in point of fact the Chinese have prevailed and the govern ment is paralyzed-but it is a question of innocent human lives and the hideous slaughter of non-combatants, women and children. The Christian powers have not the right to the name if they can witness such crimes; in silence."

The Associated Press is Informed by the revolutionary leaders that their organization each day is becoming more and more perfect, and that it will only e a matter of a few days when every province will be separately organized and ready to attend a national convention to nominate a president. g and that order wil

He declared that within a few days delegates from all the provinces in revolt would meet at Shanghai to elect a provisional government.

The latest advices from Hankow are that only desultory fighting is proceed-

Not more than seven thousand troops are operating around Hankow, the remainder being scattered along the railway. PEKING, Nov. 10 .- Aszen soday all was quiet within the capital and at Tientsin. There was no sign of the revolutionary upheaval that has been expected for days. In Peking those who surround the throne are engaged in efforts to end the rebellion, and tonight there seems some foundation for the government's hope that it will be able to regain the allegiance of General

Chang Shao Tsen. Chang is commander of the army division at Lanchau, but is now detached on "sick leave." He controls the situation in north China, and the government has been using every endeavor to gain his unqualified support. It desires Chang to return to Peking and confer with Yuan Shi Ka, and Hei Liang, the former, viceroy of Manchuria. That Chang possibly may do so is indicated in advices received today from Lanchau. A correspondent interviewed Thang and General Pan the latter tem. door step.

To Prevent Massacres Regardless of race, they stated, if the fanchus should massacre the Chinese r vice versa, they would fight agains the offending parties. An official an-nouncement tonight says the court, neaning the dowager empress and the emperor, will move from the winter palace to the inner city on November 20, and orders all officials on duty to attire themselves in winter garments An imperial edict again pathetically begs the Manchus and the Chinese to sink their differences and live in brotherly affection. The Chinese newspapers say General Li Yuen Cheng, leader of the revolutionists, has made a counter proposal to Yuan Shi Kai to join the rebels and as sume temporarily the presidency of the republic, pending the assembling of a parliament. The attitude of the foreign legation nere is much commented upon. The Germans are conspicuously prominent, and should the Manchus be victorious, it is believed their activities would be of great benefit to them. They are now haroring ex-War Minister Yin Tchang who recently was deposed as commander of the imperial troops ,and Prince Isai Tao, a brother of Prince Chun, the regent. The Japanese legation, probably wing to former criticisms, is maintaining a most exemplary attitude. The diplomatic body has considered closing the quarter to ordinary Chinese and Manchu refugees, but it is now being suggested that refugees in the street of the quarter should be granted to any hunted persons, who are un-

REJUVENATION OF OLD SLOCAN MINE

Silver-Lead Propositions Receive a New Lease of Life Through Recent Amalgamation of Properties

Mining properties in the Slocan district valued at over $2,000,000 have been amalgamated by a deal recently concluded in Vancouver. Incidentally the town of Sandon may be sa. to have been born again, and a new lease of activity given to many somewhat somnolent silver-lead propositions in the Slocan.

The amalgamation is one of the most important moves made in British Columbia mining affairs for several years It is nothing less than a consolidation under a new company of the Byron N White and John M. Harris mineral properties at Sandon, the most noted of which is the Slocan Star, a mine which up to the time when its activities were suspended by litigation, had produced $3,000,000 in silver-lead and zinc.

For ten years the Slocan Star was entangled in litigation. In 1905 the property was closed down, and since that date not a drill has tapped in its extensive workings. All the courts of British Columbia and the Supreme Court of Canada heard the famous case Wu Ting Fang says ample funds will | which hinged upon the question of extra-lateral rights. It would have gone to the Privy Council had not the Judges of the Supreme Court of Canada refused the right of appeal of one of the contending parties.

In the office of Mr. R. S. Lennie, well known Vancouver barrister, was concluded the dea! for the amalgamation of the White Harris properties, and on November 1 the Sloran Star reopened and the big concentrating mill f the mine will be in operation again within a short time. This means the employment of a large force of men and it is believed many other properties the Slocan which have been lying idle for years will be galvanized into order prevails. Wu Ting Fang told the life when the Slocan Star is once again shipping ore. The name of the new company in which the White-Harris properties are now invested are the Slocan Star mines limited. The properties involved in the consolidation are the Heber Fraction and the Rabbit's Paw mineral claims and all the properties of the Byron N. White company, which were in litigation, including the Slocan Star Jennie, Silversmith, and Windsor, together with all other properties of that company on the east side of Sandon Creek known as the Shogo, Pembroke, Bella Doone, Millie, Minnesota, and Whistler Fraction, and the concentrating works of the Slocan Star adjoining properties, and all the equipment of both companies. The first meeting of the Slocan Star Mines, Ltd., the new company now in control of all the properties mentioned, was held a few days ago when the following directors were elected: Messrs Arthur C. Burdick, Robert F. Green and Thomas S. McPherson, of Victoria, Byron N. White, of Spokane, John M. Harris of Sandon, John Elliot and R. S. Lennie of Vancouver. Mr. R. S. Lennie was elected chairman of the board. and Mr. A. C. Burdick vice- chairman. The necessary resolution authorizing the acquirement of the properties under the terms of the agreement between the two companies and Mr. R. S. Lennie in August last was passed, and the deal concluded. The new company is capitalized at $2,500,000, of which 2,-000,000 shares were paid to the respective companies for the transfer of the properties involved. It was decided to immediately pro ceed with a scheme of evelopment outlined in a report of Mr. Andrew G. Larson, M. E., of Vancouver. In addition to opening up ore bodies above the fifth level of the S' can Star, it is proposed to drive a No. 6 tunnel from. the level of the mill for a distance of approximately 2,300 feet to tap the Slocan Star and Silversmith veins at vertical depth of 430 feet below the fifth level, which on the dip of the vein will give 60 feet of backs below the fifth level, or a greater area of developed ground than at present exists between the fifth level and the surface.

Compliments Paid to Depart ment at Banquet of School Trustees' Association-Minister's Statement

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 10 .- With a banquet tonight at the Dutch Grill the Provincial School Trustees association completed the most noteworthy convention that has been held in the annals of education in British Colum bia. Sir Charles Hibbert Charles E. Tisdall, A. H. B. MacGowan. Hon. Dr. Young and Mayor Taylor were among the number who proposed or replied to toasts.

Sir Charles Tupper paid a striking compliment to the government of the province and to the minister of education. In proposing the toast to the province of British Columbia, he said that it was the desire to grow strong. not only in a material sense but in the fulfillment of the brightest and best ideals that has made Canada the nation she was today, and the government of this province had shown a deep perception of what ideal citizenship really meant in the progressive educational policy it had adopted. The schools and the churches had everything to do in the laying of a sound basis of citizen ship, and the government had been quick to appreciate this fact. It had grasped the central idea that without the guidance of education and mental force, all energy and all endeavor was of little worth. The minister of education had realized thoroughly all that was essentially the basis for the solid progress of the province.

Sir Charles referred, amid applause the stand that had been taken by his venerable and honored father in regard to the free education in Eastern Canada at the time of confederation. He had met with tremendous opposition at that time, but his ideas had marched to a triumph as the years passed, and now anyone who advocated the ideas of his opponents would be relegated to the political boneyard. Charles E. Tisdall, M.P.P., responded the toast proposed by Sir Charles. He referred to the steps that had been taken by the government to place the educational system upon a sound basis and complimented the association upon he excellent work it had done in ection with the development and modernization of the system. Mr. MacGowan proposed the toast to he mayor and city council and the nunicipalities. He felt that the school was the foundation of citizenship and the foundation of manhood. He was specially pleased to note that the love of the empire and of the grand old flag was inoculated in all the children of the province, and he hoped that the teaching of the cardinal tenets of loyalty to king and empire would continue to be at the basis of all teaching. "Canada at the present time." declared the speaker, amid applause, "is one of the most loyal parts of the British Empire." Hon. Dr. Young :n responding to this toast, showed that the government was doing all in its power to lay deep and wide the foundations of good education.

"Our department has been the subject of criticism, and we welcome it," said the minister of education, "but I wish to state here that we are honestly doing all in our power to carry out the views of the school trustees of this province."

"THE LIVING CORPSE"

Count Tolstoy's Posthumous Drama Is Produced in Moscow With Great Success

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 10.—Great success attended the production in Moscow of Leo Tolstoy's posthumous drama, "The Living corpse." The plot, which is laid in a Russian provincial town, tells how Fjodor Protassoff, the son of wealthy St. Peters burg parents, has married Liss, a simple country girl, who has borne him a child. The marriage is not a happy one in consequence of Fjodor's constant yearning for the gay society of the capital, and Lisa's mother continually urges, her to obtain a divorce. This, however, the unhappy wife cannot bring herself to do.

In the same house with the little family lives Victor Karenin, who has loved Lisa. Ilves Victor Karenin, who has loved Lisa ce her childhood, and in the first act e sends him to St. Petersburg to bring husband home and assure him that his infaithfulness is forgiven. Karenin finds ers his message, but the husband refuses go back. After this a divorce is una-idable.

Left to themselves, Karenin and Lisa become more and more intimate. Karenin wishes to marry his old sweetheart, but his mother is opposed to his union with a divorced woman. The way seems clear, however, when Fjordor's clothing is found on the banks of the river Neva, where it is on the banks of the river Neva, where it is presumed he has committed suicide, and the two become wedded. They are wholly unaware that Fjodor is still alive, having been induced to play the "suicide" by a woman named Masha, who has him totally enslaved to her charms. In the company of this woman Fjodor, "the living corpse," sinks deeper and deeper.

At length Fjodor discloses the story of his deception to a friend, who suggests that they should blackmail Lisa. In a sudden frenzy of anger Fjodor knocks the man down, and they are both arfested. The whole affair then comes to light, and Karenin and Lisa are arrested for conspiracy to leave Fjodor free to marry again. A sensational court scene culminates in the actual suicide of Fjodor, who, on learning that the three of them will be sent to Sithe three of them will be sent to Si-promptly shoots himself and leaves others to their fate.

WAREHOUS AT OUTER WHARF

Plans Being Prepared by R. P. Rithet and Company for a Large, Modern Building to Handle Freight

R. P. Rithet & Co. is preparing plans for a large new warehouse to be constructed at the Outer Wharves. Mr. Keith is now working on the drawings for a large structure and the site will be selected in a few days. It is probable that a large steel building will be erected to the eastward of the new wharf. The warehouse will be constructed soon after the arrival of Mr. Rithet from San Francisco.

The announcement made some time ago in these columns regarding the intention of R. P. Rithet & Co. to construct new piers was revived yesterday by the evening paper. Mr. R. P. Rithet stated his intention in this regard when he was in Victoria some months ago, and investigations have been carried on in this regard. As soon as the development of local shipping requires these extensions to the company's wharves plans will be prepared for this work.

When required a long pier, longer than either of the two now in service will be built on the western side of the old wharf, extending parallel with this at a distance of about 200 wharf will be 100 feet wide. Provision is also made for another pier on the eastward side of the new wharf at distance of about 300 feet, extending from the breakwater to jut out parralell with the existing wharves Considerable work has been done of late to improve the Outer Wharves, which have been widened and a big approach has been built at the end of the wharves. The low-lying land between the road to the new wharf and the Dallas road was recently filled in and spacious brick bonding warehouse built.

LANDED STOWAWAY ON A BLEAK SHORE

Passengers Complain of Conduct of the Master of the Steamer Alameda Toward Boy Stowaway.

On the bleakest shore of San Juan island, miles from the nearest habita tion, without food or shelter, a boy, years old, a stowaway aboard the steam ship Alameda, was put ashore by Cap John Johnson yesterday. The boy was found in the steeras soon after the vessel left Valdez at was put to work by members of crew. All went well until Capt. Johns learned that he was aboard and termined to put him ashore before attle was reached. Several of the passengers who learned of the boy's plight appealed the vessel's master, offering to double the amount of his passage were allowed to continue the ve but Capt. Johnson was deaf to the treaties.

In a lifeboat, in charge of the mate and two sailors, the boy was ed on the beach, despite the P of the passengers, and left t without food or money to the ranch.

Soon after the return of the and when the passengers learn the little fellow was thinly clad not even have a coat, a meet called and after Capt. Johnson criticised resolutions protesting the treatment of the little fell adopted.
