

Stratford Threatens To Take London's Measure

Indians Can Be Banked Upon To Give Capacity Crowd and Ravens Some Worry Here On Friday Night

A capacity crowd will witness the London-Stratford Big Six senior hockey tilt at the London Arena on New Year's night and the holiday attraction is expected to shatter all previous attendance records. There has been a rush at the arena box office during the past two days for tickets and only a few reserved seats are now available.

The race in the Big Six group has been lightened as a result of Gene Fraser's Niagara Falls club defeating the London Ravens and the locals need the victory over Roy Brother's Stratford Indians.

Stratford can always be depended upon to give any hockey club a battle for its money and the Ravens are not discounting the ability of the visiting club. While London was successful in turning back the Indians in Stratford, it is necessary for them to play hockey every minute of play in order to gain a verdict.

The London Ravens are down to work in preparation for the coming game and the strongest possible line-up will be utilized against the Stratford sextet. A number of fans from Stratford will take in the holiday game here.

Hornets Seeking Revenge To Night

Windsor Expects To Turn Tables On Preston At Riverside Arena

WINDSOR, Dec. 29.—Not in the least disheartened as a result of the loss to Preston here on Monday night, the Windsor Hornets were scheduled to leave for the home of the Riverside at 9:30 to-morrow morning quietly determined to redeem themselves in the eyes of the fans. Most of the players blame the defeat of Monday night to the fact that they had not yet recovered from the Christmas festivities at their various homes and the Ravens back and forth, and also to the last minute loss of the veteran, Paddy Parry. Although the Hornets played a fine game in the nets there was some apprehension as to how long the kid would stand the heavy pressure. Parry is in first rate condition now and will accompany the team. With a chance to display his prowess in the standing the Hornets are confident of taking a fall out of the rampaging Riverside crew to-morrow night.

Three-Nothing Victory Allows Bruins To Shake Cellar in Pro Race

NATIONAL LEAGUE STANDING.
W. P.	1	23	10

Pittsburgh	8	20	15
New York	4	5	21
Canadiens	3	6	26
Boston	2	31	26
Toronto	2	6	19

BOSTON, Dec. 29.—The Boston Bruins defeated St. Patricks of Toronto, here to-night, 3 to 0, in a scheduled National Hockey League game, and forced the Toronto team into last place in the league standing. A crowd of 6,000 enthusiastic fans applauded the Bruins' third victory.

In going down to defeat before Boston for the second time this year, St. Patricks presented a disorganized team, showing clearly the lack of Babe Dye, their star marksman. Their fire was ineffectual most of the time, their shooting was wild and their passing weak.

The Bruins, on the other hand, showed at the top form, a clear scoring combination, the key to which was little Carson Cooper.

Sprague Cleghorn appeared for the first time since his early season injury and stiffened the Boston defense. He contributed a goal to the Bruins' total and visited the penalty box twice.

Harrington and Cooper, wings; Gernan, Shay, Cahill and Stuart, subs. St. Patricks—Roach, goal; McCarry and Corbett, defense; Adams, center; Day and Reid, wings; Bellefeuille and Neville, subs.

Referee—Bell and Smyth.

Goal Summary.

First period—1, Boston, Harrington, 3:40.

Third period—2, Boston, Cooper, 10:43; 3, Boston, Cleghorn, 5:11.

BUGABOO IN U. S. ATHLETICS

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Styling professionalism as "the bugaboo of American athletics," Col. Henry Breckenridge, president of the National Amateur Athletic Federation, to-day appointed a committee to deal with the problem of drawing the line between amateur and professional sports.

Addressing the annual conference of the federation, Col. Breckenridge said: "The professional athlete is perfectly all right in his own sphere, but when you have the amateur and professional spheres of athletics mixing it is like the economic law of bad money driving good money out of circulation."

"Our colleges are not to train gladiators. College athletic training is a means, not an end. I object to the college-trained athlete who sells his services all over the country."

1925 In Baseball

BY HENRY L. FARRELL

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Baseball had another year of success and prosperity in 1925. The game flourished with hot pennant races in the two major leagues and not competition in the minors, and the National League stimulated interest generally in the game.

The fight the Washington Senators had in the American League to beat off the Philadelphia Athletics and the impressive victory of the young Pittsburgh Pirates over the New York Giants in the National League stimulated interest generally in the game.

It was unfortunate that the world's series was spoiled by weather, but nothing was lost but comfort as the stands were packed for the games and a record for receipts was established.

The bad weather encountered in Pittsburgh and the battle fairly smoked with the Philadelphia Athletics and the Pittsburgh Pirates over the New York Giants in the National League stimulated interest generally in the game.

To avoid the danger of interruption by darkness, it was also voted to start the world's series games at 1:30 instead of 2 o'clock.

The result of the National League pennant race was pleasing, particularly to the fans around the circuit who had tired of the contracted domination of the New York Giants.

The Pittsburgh Pirates had a fine year and they were deserving champions. They had to fight to win and they would have had a harder battle if the Giants had not suffered a disastrous run of accidents and bad breaks that almost wrecked the club completely.

The Pirates, however, were handicapped also by a miserable start. The team was not in shape when it returned from the California training camp and it was months before the players got going.

It took a good game team to win the pennant and even a game club to win the series from the Washington Senators.

The collapse of the New York Yankees was the outstanding event of the American League season.

Wally Pipp went so bad that he had to be released from the team. Finally, Deacon Scott showed up so much that he was traded to the Senators and Babe Ruth was the only player left.

The Babe had to be brought home from his training camp on a stretcher and he did not believe and he was suspended and fined for insubordination.

When he did get back into the game he did not believe and he was suspended and fined for insubordination.

The club, of course, missed his hitting and the morale of the players was broken by refusal to abide by the training rules.

The surprisingly good showing of the Philadelphia Athletics was unexpected as the collapse of the Yankees was expected to put them out with the champions until the last quarter of the season when the team fell into a slump.

Excellent pitching by the veterans, Walter Johnson, changed the Senators to win the championship.

Bucky Harris, the young manager of the club, showed a shrewd move when he picked up Coveleske and Reuther. No one but Harris claimed that when they were about to be tossed to the minors and if he hadn't obtained them it is doubtful that the club would have won the championship.

Coveleske and Reuther went just before the world's series and without them was strikingly apparent.

Business generally, although a decrease was reported from New York, Cincinnati and Brooklyn.

This caused some surprise as they are three of the best baseball towns in the National League.

New York possibly was fed up on championship teams and Cincinnati has not had enough champions and Brooklyn is just Brooklyn.

Stratford Seconds Defeat Kitchener

Intermediates Break Indians' Losing Streak With 7-1 Victory

STRATFORD, Dec. 29.—Stratford intermediates broke the local losing streak to-night when they defeated Kitchener, 7 to 1, in a game that was featured by splendid team play by both squads.

The locals surprised the fans and unhooked some nifty playing, marked by aggressive combined attack as well as spirited back checking. Kitchener was off color the first period, but came to life during the last two periods, and while they broke through several times over, on the whole, too closely checked to do much real harm.

Elliott and Louch, of the Indians, were a strength to the locals. The forwards dished up more team play than any senior game seen here this far.

Erh was the pivot of the visiting attack, but was held scoreless. Schell and Heinke were his assistants.

Stratford—Goal, Ruston; defense, Elliott, Hayes, center, Howes; wings, Ronch, Smith; subs, Cook, Robinson. Kitchener—Goal, Ruppel; defense, Hearn, Erb, center, Moore; wings, Schell, Heinke; subs, Gross and Simpson.

Referee—Oliver, of Galt.

Goal Summary.

First period—Stratford, Smith; Stratford, Smith; Stratford, Cook.

Second period—Stratford, Howes; Stratford, Louch.

Third period—Kitchener, Schell; Stratford, Cook; Stratford, Smith.

"Henry, will you get away from that Townville Trophy and let junior play with it for a little while anyway."

Mayo Prevents London Victory

Ravens Looked All Over Like Winners in Early Stages At Niagara Falls

Referee Lou Marsh describes the London-at-Niagara Falls as follows in Tuesday's Toronto Star:

"Down at Niagara Falls the Fraser clan won a brilliant victory over Bill Marsden's sweet-looking London team. If Fraser's crew had not won out last night they might as well have moved down to Timbavunda. The welcome sign was waving."

"But all is now forgiven. The London squad showed the Fraser clan a lot of smart hockey in the first period and looked all over the winners. In fact, the odds were 5 to 3 on London when the boys went to the barn for the breather, despite the fact that a couple of loose eggs decorated the score-board. London, however, looked much the best."

"In the second period a set of Desperate Desmonds wore the Falls uniform and the battle fairly smoked with speed and action. Goals were scarcer than horns on a bullfrog, but there was spectacular hockey every inch of the journey. Both goalies were hung all over with horseshoes and rabbits' feet and the game was a toss-up."

"There were no goals, and the pew-holders were as puzzled as a flock of eskimos doing Broadway."

"HAD TO CRACK. Something had to crack. The boys went to the restroom waiting at the hinges and dizzy in the head, they were harder to dig out for the third period than bears in early February."

"The first goal will win the game," said the fans who had enough voice left to talk coherently."

London broke when Harrington scored a lovely single-handed goal in the first five minutes, and from then on the Falls held the whip hand. Harrington's goal was a pip for a solo effort. An owl would have tied himself into a knot trying to follow the brilliant wigman on that excursion. In fact, Bill Starkings fell on his chin trying to block him off from his snout."

There was still 15 minutes to go, but when Connors came through with two beautiful goals in the next six minutes, that settled the argument, though the game youngsters from London tried their last ounce to tie the last second to overhaul the leaders."

MAYO STARS Mayo, in goal, was the outstanding performer on the Falls side. The "Wart" had his eyeballs polished during the lay-off. "Cap" Fraser gave him a good time with both feet. He simply could not be beaten from far or near, and once he got so excited he was the pupil of the eye. The red line and proceeded to play London single-handed. Give him credit, he was occasionally good. The London marksmen were in on him more often than the Falls forwards were in on sticks and pucks."

Plans are under way to bring about a play-off between the winners of Western Canada and the holders of the international trophy early in March. The Edmonton Commercial Grads, holders of the Dominion championship, will play the international challenge scheme and have identified themselves as the international winners."

The game here on January 16 will be a keenly contested affair, as both the Canadian and United States teams would like to enjoy the honor of being the first holders of the international trophy."

Young Griffo Of 30 Years Ago Is Now Cake Eater

"Weet Kikes and Coffee" and Heaps of Them Turn Feather-weight Into Nearly 300-Pounder

BY RINGSIDER.

TORONTO, Dec. 29.—What a change in appearance some fighters undergo after retiring from the "squared circle." Take, for instance, "Young" Griffo, the Australian featherweight, who some 30 years ago was regarded as the greatest natural boxer of his day, and even now is considered to have been among the world's leading milt artists. Recently the writer was introduced to Griffo in a well-known restaurant on Broadway, in New York. The writer had to be told twice that it was "Young" Griffo he was talking to, for nothing less resembling a former fighter could be imagined than the present appearance of this original.
