Sthma Catarrh WHOOPING COUGH CROUP BRONCHITIS COUGHS COLDS

r

f Pay entire ерага-

sed on

1 this know-nds of

Led.

ttle 50c. lan. iver

.....

....

....

....

ottle ggist buy your it to 'n at upon

Catarrh

he sense

ne sense ange the through atticles prescrip-, as the to the them. red by F.

ntains no

acting

g Hall's genuine.

in Tol-

75c. per

constiprs, I shall

r a few ipt, and His son find the ou copied

ie ocean

le occan le age of ll, when neymoon get a few ges just ther re-

10 is ac-

how to his sys-is' Eclec-

medicine

the sys-bronchial

he goods

ENT.

be sold on by June 1st: ge with het: lights with drive shed rs invited:

GHBY.

ises in

the south-atford, the reraid, bar-i exchange ticulars ap-

FFIT. 9, Waford.

LE

on. 1, N.E alance good rood frame ion, drive-shard, good und church-rom Forest, ile-drained, oremises, co

R, Willage,

ALE

ALE(THAT east half of the sting of log-comfortable utbuildings and situa-rd, if not A consider-eded down. istor DN, ord C mb.

1

m у,

The

tal for de ALL DRUGGISTS Vapo Cresolene Co.

SOCIETIES.

• MONTREAL

JAME GRAHAM, W. M., K. HASKETT, Rec. Sec ASSESSMENT SYSTEM. CANADIAN ORDER OF

FORESTERS Organized and Incorporated 187 Head Office : Brantford, Ont-NO ORDER EXCELS IT IN

Economy of Management Selection of Territory Low Cost of Insurance to Members Promptness in payment of Claims

PROGRESSIVE IN ALL DEPARTMENTS PROTECTION AT MINIMUM COST

RESERVE FUND, DECEMBER I, 1910 Insurance - - $3,254,304.55 Bick and Funeral Ben't 205,436.89

Total - - $3,459,741.44 MEMBERSHIP OVER 75,000.

Court Lorne, No. 17, Walford, month. Visiting Brethren Invited. I. E. Collier, F. Sec. J. H. Hume, R.Sec. A. D. Hone, C. Ranger.

JAMES C. PEARCE Baker and Confectioner. OYSTERS as you want them. In Bulk or by the plate. Try our Oyster Stew.

TH OF MORAL CRACTAGE STADDED A SCIENCE GUIDE-ADVOCATE, WATFORD, MARCH 10, 1911

The county fair was in full swing. Everywhere there was bustle and laughter and merrymaking as well and color and music and light. Today was the day of days. Prizes had been awarded, and such was the wisdom and tact of the judges that no exhibitor had gone unrewarded.

Benjamin Dibble had taken first orize for his fine Holsteins and second prize for the mountainous Chester hogs. These honors meant nothing to Benjamin, for they were conferred upon his stock every year and had been even in his father's generation.

The fact that Dorinda Weed had captured all the first prizes in house-wifely arts did not surprise Benjamin in the least, Everything Dorinda attempted was a pronounced success, excepting perhaps the capture of Benja-min Dibble, and that this had not happened was Benjamin's fault. Dorinda Weed was sweet and fair and dainty. Her eyes were blue like the "ragged sailors" that bordered the dusty roadsides. Benjamin had wor shiped Dorinda from his boyhood, but he had never dared address her beyond the merest commonplaces. There had never been but one thought behind his worship of her, and that was to ask her to marry him. Of the preliminary months of wooing he gave no thought. He knew he wanted Dorinda and he intended to ask her outright to marry him some day when his backbone feit a little more rigid and when his eam had ceased to redden at her approach. But no miracle had been performed, and Benjamin had lived wretchedly on, mentally cursing his shyness.

Now, Dorinda was thirty-two and Benjamin was forty. Their parents were dead, their lands adjoined, and their two houses, each one small and detached, might be moved to a new site on the apex of the dividing hill between the farms and thus become a large, comfortable farmhouse. This plan was Benjamin's sweetest dream, but there was no sign of its being realized.

show barkers, the conglomerate smell of quick lunch carts, the odor of fresh popcorn and steamed clams, Benjamin stumbled over the gypsy caravan. Here in a gayly festooned tent a gypsy crone

"Kind gentleman!" she hailed him eagerly. "For silver I will reveal the future! I reunite broken hearts! I make you successful in love!" She held back the tent flap invitingly, and under the spell of some sudden impulse Benjamin Dibble entered and sat down on a small three legged stool.

The gypsy knelt before him and held out one brown hand, gay with silver Blushingly Mr. Dibble extracted a silver quarter from his pocket and dropped it in her palm, then, embar-rassed by her voluble thanks, he sub-mitted his own hand to her grasp.

above its toil hardened surface for several moments and then scrutinized his good looking face with piercing eyes.

"You love," she said softly, "yet you are troubled. I see a fair woman-the one you love. A dark man comes be-tween. You will find happiness through a golden bird. Wait!" Still retaining his hand, a film seemed to drop over her sharp eyes and her head bent over his hand. Again she spoke, but her words were mumbled, yet Benjamin's

"As surely as comes up the sun Two houses shall be made as one. A golden bird without a nest Shall lead the weary heart to rest."

The gypsy lifted her head and glanc-

"What else?" demanded Benjamin eager ear caught every syllable:

ed sharply at him.

She bent her dark, disheveled head rings. "Silver!" she wheedled softly.

was telling fortunes.

Benjamin paused one instant in front of the domestic exhibit and furtively adored Dorinda's toothsome display. From there he wandered out to the building where his cattle were quartered, and he arrived just in time to see Dorinda Weed timidly stroking the once more threaded the crowd in ose of one of his mild eyed Holsteins. search of Dorinda. From afar he watched her blissfully. Although she was still talking to the and his heart rose exultantly when she dark man, Benjamin pressed forward passed on quite unobservant of the other exhibits. until he stood almost at her elbow. She saw him and smiled tremulously, Out in the open spaces where ve-hicles of every description were hud-dled in confusion, amid the cry of sideher delicate face flushing a soft rose tint.

Benjamin thrust another quarter into her willing hand and pushed dizzily through the crowd, his heart beating riotously. The doggerel verse was emblazoned on his memory. He could have repeated it backward, forward -indeed, in almost any form. The reference to the houses to be made as one was as a direct prophecy from heaven itself. As for the mysterious "golden bird without a nest," Benja-min confessed himself perplexed. Little River boasted golden birds of many varieties, from the Buff Cochins of the poultry yard to the yellow ham mers and goldfinches of the woods and the captive canaries in cages. But ane and all had nests of some sort, and the bird of Benjamin's fortune would appear to be as vagrant as the gypsy herself.

The prophecy of the united houses was good fortune enough for one day, and, emboldened by this certainty that his dearest hopes would be fulfilled, Benjamin rushed hastily toward the building where Dorinda Weed might be found. She who was to be his future wife had stroked the nose of his prize Holsteins. After these won-derful happenings it would be an easy matter to invite Dorinda to partake of ice cream and cake. When one was eating ice cream it was not necessary to talk much, and after the ice cream he might invite her to other amusements in the grounds. There were a loop-the-loop and a merry-go-round and-

Benjamin Dibble stood stock still, while all exuberance of spirit dissolved like mist.

In the distance he saw Dorinda, charming in her pale blue gown, but remote as ever from his approach, for she was talking earnestly to a tall, dark man, a dangerously handsome stranger, and together they were bend ing over some object on a table be tween them.

Then it was that Benjamin Dibble remembered the gypsy's prophecythat a dark man would come between Dorinda and him. And here was the dark man. The prophecy was fulfilling without delay.

Benjamin turned away and tried to satisfy the pangs of disappointed love with hot frankfurters, steamed clams and coffee. He drank ginger ale and pink lemonade to wash down huge segments of ple and sugary doughnuts. He spent money lavishly, buying everything that was offered. He pur-chased chances on all sorts of unknown articles and afterward found himself the embarrassed possessor of a pair of curling irons, a lady's work basket and a wax doll.

He bundled these treasures away in the back of his buggy with a certain elusive hope that they might prove useful some day. He stopped in the shed and stroked the noses of his cattle, as Dorinda had done, and derived a certain foolish satisfaction in the action. It was at that moment Benjamin received inspiration. Back in the main building, Benjamin

PROOF—Miss Hattie Pertrand, Galesburg, Ont., writes;—"I was troubled with chapped hands and arms and nothing ever seemed to heal them thoroughly until we found Zam-Buk. Is has cured them. My father has also used it for several skin troubles and injuries, and thinks there is nothing like Zam-Buk."

Mothers should see that their children use Zam-Buk daily, as there is nothing like prevention. A little Zam-Buk lightly smeared over the hands and wrists, after washing, will prevent chaps and cold sores.

Zam-Buk is also a sure cure for skin diseases, et itch, ring worm, ulood-poisoning, piles, and for burns and bruises. 500 box at all stores and drugg post iree from Zam-Buk Oo, Toronto, for price, harmful substitute, as and imitations.

stepped boldly forward beside Dorinda.

"Seems to me nothing looks so much like a weather vane as a crowing cock, Dorinda. Have you got anything else?" asked Benjamin of the dark man.

From the box of samples the man brought forth several weathercocks of different sizes. Each one was painted a dazzling gold, with crimson comb and wattles. He held forth the largest one, whirling it about the pivot as he did so.

"This is the handsomest one I've got, sir. I'd like to take your order for that-$10 on delivery in ten days. You'd like to wake up in the morning

A Good Idea in Hair Treatment

Treatments The trouble with most women's hair is that they won't take the time to give it proper treatment. If you want and vitality, you must take care of it. You cannot expect to have splendid hair if you simply run a comb through it in the morning—give it a dab on the outer edge with a brush—throw the outer edge with a brush—throw the outer edge with a brush—throw it no a braid—switch it around the head—jab in a few hair pins—and let . Hair is like any other growing thing needs attention—it needs care—it needs attention—it needs care—it needs attention—it needs care—it needs attention—it needs care—it needs thorough grooming' regulary— out only the hair but the scaly. If you have the time and patience you won't need any hair tonic—but most women haven't. The next best best thing offered to take the place of hours of combing and brushing. It tones up the roots, brightens the color, improves the texture and makes it stay gracefully where it is put. Histone ilterally revitalizes the neglected hair. You Nyal Druggist cheerfully rec-

- x x -Hot Bovril in cold Weather. Try it.

- x x -

Confectionery of all gradso. Wedding Cakes a specialty.

All smokers know that this is the place to get something choice. SOUTH END BAKERY.

*********

Has more rejuvenating C. N. vitalizing force than has ever before been been lack of vigor and vigo hould take Canadian Nervine one box will wonderful results Price $1.—To quickly introduce will mail first order for 60 cts. coin or postal note

aress, The Merwin Co., Windsor, Ont., Can. ******

Erains leave Watford Station as follows GOING WEST

Accommodation ..... 8 44 a.m. Accommodation ..... 2 45 a.m. Chicago Express ..... 9 22 p.m.

GOING EAST Accommodation ......12 06 p.m. New York Express.... 3 00 p.m. Accommodation ...... 5 16 p.m. C. VAIL, Agent, Watford.

"Waiter !" called a diner, at a local club, "come here at once ! Here's a hook-and-eye in this salad !" "Yesseh, yesseh," said the waiter, prinning broadly. "Dat's a paht of de dressing, seh !"

"Will you give me your advice. Benjamin?" she asked gently. "This gen-tleman is selling weather vanes. I want one for the barn. Our old one was blown off, you know. Shall I choose a fish or an arrow?"

The delicious sense of intimacy conveyed by this question cannot be de-Benjamin Dibble threw off scribed. his old mantle of timidity forever and

Acute Dyspepsia

Restoration of Stomach Power Comes Quickly With the Right Medicine.

"My food seemed to decompose in my stomach," writes Mr. Raiph Clem-mons, of Newbridge, P.O. "I had a stomach that failed in some way to perform its work. Digestion seemed more or less arrested and I grew thin, yellow, nervous. The stomach became distended and impeded apparently the action of the heart, for often at night it would do great stunts. At times I would vomit a mucous mass, and at these times my head ached most ter-ribly. A friend, who had been cured of a similar condition, advised me to take Dr. Hamilton's Pills regularly, which I did. The result in my case was simply marvelous. Dr. Hamilton's Pills removed the cause, strengthened the stomach, excited the liver to normal action, the kidneys were released of excessive work. Health soon glowed within me. I can now eat, sleep, and live like a live man." Be advised-USe Dr. Hamilton's Pills -they are sure to do you good. 25c per box, at all dealers, or The Ca-tarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills Cure Indigestion Dyspepsia

pola of your barn-eh?" He smiled ingratiatingly. Benjamin Dibble was staring intently at the glided cock, a queer expres sion dawning in his eyes. A certain line was running through his head:

A golden bird without a nest Shall lead the weary heart to rest.

"Dorinda," said Benjamin in a ringing voice, "do you like that weathercock ?"

"Yes, indeed," agreed Dorinda graciously.

"We'll take one of those," ordered Benjamin Dibble authoritatively. "You can make out the bill to Mr. and Mrs Benjamin Dibble-Dorinda, that's all right; you know, we're going to move the two houses up on the hill and make one, and we're going to build a new barn with a cupola and put this golden bird on it."

"Why-why, Benjamin-Fve thought sometimes that was a lovely plan-only how do you know it will happen?" Dorinda's eyes were very bright with sudden happiness.

"I had my fortune told, and the gypsy said all those things. When I take you home in my buggy tonight I'll tell you about the golden bird and how all this has come true, just as the woman said," explained Benjamin, talking faster and more eloquently than he had ever done in his life.

"It's all perfectly wonderful," mur-mured Dorinda on that homeward ride after Benjamin had related the gypsy's prophecy. "I knew you liked me, Ben, but it seemed somehow as if you'd never get up courage to ask me. It's been a long time-and then to come all at once like a surprise."

"I've been an awful fool, I guess," murmured Benjamin, his arm protectingly about her slim waist, his eyes on the round globe of the full moon. "My life's been like traveling over level ground year after year till I never expected anything else, and then waking and falling right over into"- He paused and groped for the right simile. "Into what, Benjamin?" whispered Dorinda.

He looked down into her soft blue eyes and, bending over, kissed her lips. "Into heaven, I guess," he murmured.

Hirsutone literally revitalizes the neglected hair. Your Nyal Druggist cheerfully rec-ommends Hirsutone because he knows. In artistic bottles $1.00 and 50c.

Sold and Guaranteed by WATFORD DRUGGISTS

One for each everyday ailment

The Thames river will be dredged from Chatham to Lake St. Clair next summer. The government proposes to maintain a channel fourteen feet dcep.

Percy Braider, Bosanquet, aged 16 years, died of pneumonia last week. This young man was severely injured some time ago by a hay fork falling on him.

MARRIED.

At the home of the bride's parents, on Wednes-day, Feb, 22nd, 1911, by the Rev. Mr. Hare, of Arkona, Mr. Claude Nelson, to Bertha Lil lian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Lith-goe, all of Bosanquet.

FERRY'S 1911 Seed An

. M. FERRY & CO.

eagerly.