Some 225,000 people witnessed it, over 40,000 Masons marching in line. The apron, trowel and working tools, used in the ceremony, were used by Bro. George Washington in laying the corner stone of the Capital at Washington, 129 years ago. Every word of the ceremony could be heard with marvellous distinctness in Watford and the privilege of hearing it by radio was greatly enjoyed. AN AFRICAN PRINCE COMING TO WATFORD

On Thursday, Oct. 12th, a real live African Prince will speak in the Congregational Church, Watford. He is a living product of Christian missions.

Born in heathenism, he and his people were brought into the Light through the Wesleyan Mission. His father was king over a territory in the Gold Coast, so that Dr. Aggrey himself is a prince. His mother is still living at eighty-six years of age, and is able to walk twenty miles to church. Dr. Aggrey tells us that his father, just before his death, told him as a lad that he wanted him to go to the mission school, and afterwards journey across the sea to learn still more in Christian lands, and finally go back to his own people "and do."

As the father said, "what I have tried to do with my little sense." This king's great desire was to have his son used of God to lift his people up. And so young Aggrey crossed the sea to England, and afterwards to America.

This was twenty years ago. He is now an ordained minister, a Master of Arts, a Doctor of Divinity, and is almost through his course in Philosophy at Columbia. One of his grees comes from Cambridge. For some time he has been a Professor in Livingston College, North Carolina, training his own African people.

Dr. Aggrey is gifted with a fund of native humor. His stories and illustrations are exceedingly apt. He speaks not only with his mouth, but his restatements add great force to what he is saying.

It is the chance of a life time to hear him speak in the Congregational Church, Oct. 12th at 8 p.m. An offering will be taken to defray expenses.
