lic inspection, but it seems to be easier to see the evil, than to apply a really effective remedy. The matter has also been brought up in Parliament, but it is contended that the existing laws are sufficient.

THE NEW MISSIONARY SHIP.—We are happy to inform our readers that the directors of the London Missionary Society, after a careful consideration of the entire case, have entered into an engagement with one of the most respectable shipbuilders in the north for building a new missionary ship. They trust that, when completed, the John Williams will be equal—in some respects superior—to her predecessor; and, although they cannot entertain the hope that she will be ready for sea until nearly the end of the year, yet the advantages to be secured will be an ample compensation for the delay.—Missionary Chronicle.

Testimonial to Dr. Guthrie.—About six months ago Dr. Guthrie, the cele brated preacher and philanthropist, intimated the resignation of his pastoral charge in Free St. John's, Edinburgh, owing to the state of his health. In testimony of his eminent public services, particularly as the founder of the Edinburgh Original Ragged School, it was resolved to institute a public subscription for a testimonial. Above £5,000, was contributed by 774 subscribers, and on Monday the testimonial was presented by the Lord Provost in presence of a crowded assemblage. The surplus over £5,000, enabled the committee, through Lord Ardmillan, to present Mrs. Guthrie with a silver tea service, value £125. The inscription on the silver plate bore that the testimonial was contributed on the Rev. Doctor's retirement from public life "by a large number of subscribers of all classes, and parties and different religious denominations, in token of their admiration and regard for his personal worth, his distinguished endowments as a preacher of the Gospel, and his inestimable services as a large-hearted Christian philanthropist."

The three former Societies will receive about £14,000 each, and the three latter about £7,000.

St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, which has been restored at an expense of more than £100,000, by Mr. Guinness, was re-opened on Friday for Divine worship. There was a full choral service. The Archbishop of Dublin preached. The Lord-Lieutenant, the Lord Mayor, several Knights of St. Patrick, and a large number of the nobility and gentry and clergy, including several bishops, were present. The ceremony was most impressive.
