

and also have a record in conduct which would be worthy of him. at the end of that year he was awarded several prizes but what I considered the most valuable among them was the medal for "Greatest Improvement".

On that Prize Day in June 1924 his mother was a proud woman and she had every right so to be.

Unfortunately Ted's voice changed that spring and so we could not have him back with us the next year but I had time
