

CHAPTER V.

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | PAGE |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------|
| Mr. Woolsey's ministrations—An exciting foot-race—Building operations—Gardening—Stolen (?) buffalotongues—Addled duck eggs as a relish—A lessonin cooking—A lucky shot—Precautions againsthostile Indians . . . . . | 51   |

CHAPTER VI.

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |    |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| The summer brigade—With the brigade down theSaskatchewan—A glorious panorama—Meet withfather and mother on the way to Victoria—Priva-tions of travel—A buffalo crossing—Arrival atVictoria—A church building begun—Peter Erasmusas interpreter . . . . . | 60 |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|

CHAPTER VII.

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |    |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| In search of the Stoneys—An Indian avenger—A Sun-day at Fort Edmonton—Drunken Lake carousals—Indian trails—Canyon of the Red Deer—I shootmy father—Amateur surgeons—Prospecting forgold—Peter gets "rattled"—A mysterious shot—Friends or foes?—Noble specimens of the Indianrace—A "kodak" needed—Among the Stoneys—Prospecting for a mission site—A massacre of neo-phytes—An Indian patriarch—Back at Victoriaagain . . . . . | 66 |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|

CHAPTER VIII.

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Provisions diminishing—A buffalo hunt organized—Oxen and Red River carts—Our "buffalo runners"—Meet with Maskepetoon—Maskepetoon shakeshands with his son's murderer—An Indian's strangevow—Instance of Indian watchfulness—"Who-Talks-Past-All Things"—Come upon the buffalo—An exciting charge—Ki-yon-ken-os races the buffalo—Peter's exciting adventure—Buffalo dainties— |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|