NEWS OF WARD SEVEN DR. COUTTS PRESIDENT

Two Foreigners Arrested on Theft Charge — Wedding Anniversary.

For the second fime within a week a mad dog on the rampage has scared West Toronto citizens, first in the east end of the ward, this time on the western outskirts of the city. Yesterday afternoon the residents on Harshaw avenue were alarmed to see a large Boston terrier tearing up and down the street, never stopping, but rushing savagely at objects and biting and snapping at other dogs.

Resident Shot It. Entering the backyard of Fred Warren Entering the backyard of Fred Warren, at 65 Harshaw avenue, the animal made straight for a valuable dog of Mr. Warren's, which was chained there, and bit it in several places. Leaping the fence, it chased several other dogs, and fixed its fangs, foaming and blood-flecked, in the bodies of many of them. Fortunately, Mr. Warren chanced to be home at the time, and, loading his shotgun, he cautiously crept from house to house, until he came within aiming distance of the creature and shot it dead. the township was also appointed.

Rushed Thru Too Fast.

The fack of opportunity afforded country children to continue their education after passing the entrance examination was the main subject of discussion. It was pointed out that children were pressed too hurriedly thru the rural schools to meet the entrance examinations, and it was considered advisable for them to pass more slowly and so receive a better foundation in elementary subjects.

Inspector Campbell favored the organization of the new association.

Fairs Conflict.

Mr. Stickley of the Guelph Agricultural College was present and advocated the holding of the school fair on a different date to the township one. He was of the opinion that the latter fair absorbed the interest which should be taken in the school fair. creature, and shot it dead.

Afraid of Rables.

The residents in the neighborhood are now in a state of terror, as most of the dogs bitten by the mad terrier are still at large, and it is reported some have wandered into the Runnymede district. Mr. Warrens' dog is being kept carefully chained, and will be watched closely by the local health authorities and county police to see if symptoms of the dreaded hydrophebia develop. Many people who live in the western part of the ward have come to No. 9 Police Station in alarm, but little can be done at present. The head of the dead animal has been sent to the provincial health authorities for a report, but the many witnesses of the actions of the dog are positive it was suffering from hydrophobia.

Will Devote Attention to Men of Oakwood Given the Benefit of Many Years Experience.

Following the lecture on "Problems in Connection With Rural Schools," which was given by Rev. Mr. Carmichael last Wednesday in Agincourt, a meeting was held at Woburn yesterday afternoon at which all the school trustees in Scarboro Township were present.

Officers Elected.

A new association called the Township Association of School Trustees was organized, the following officers being elected: President, Dr. E. N. Coutts; vice-president, Alex. Baird; secretary-treasurer, Robert Loveless. An advisory committee consisting of the chairmen of the various boards of trustees thruout the township was also appointed.

Rushed Thru Too Fast.

Addressing a combined meeting of the branches of the B.I.A. in Oakwood High School last night on "Back to the Land," A. C. Pratt, M.L.A., said he desired to preach the gospel of the back to the land movement, as he was born on the farm. For 18 years he lived the life of a farmer after considerable experience of the strife and turmoil of the city.

He contrasted country and city life and claimed that a child reared in the country was likely to gather more knowledge than one reared in the city.

Life More Varied.

He pointed out that great changes had taken place in the past two decades. The child of the farm used to long for the glitter and galety of the cities and towns, but with the telephone, mail delivery, daily papers and parcel post operating in the country, and also the luxury of a plano which the wealthy farmer could provide for his family, the children of today had no inclination to leave the farm as they did ten years ago.

Referring to agricultural education the speaker said hat the boy brought up on the farm was mmeasurably better educated than the tow who was taught from books because the country boy's life was spent amongst birds, plants and flowers, and he got his knowledge of nature first-hand.

In comparing wage-earning opportunities

Pratt gave an instance of the frui NO CONTRACTS AWARDED

Mr. Pratt gave an instance of the fruit farms in Norfolk County, seventy miles southwest on Lake Erie, where, he said, good land could be bought for $50 an acre; but similar property would cost $1000 an acre in England.

Land was easily procured in Canada, and a man could easily make provision for his family by working it.

Apples Profitable

He thought the best business was apple growing, as trees only cost 25 cents each, and 49 could be planted in an acre, thirty feet apart. The cost for the first year would be $67, and, with each tree increasing one dellar in value every year, the 49 trees would be worth $450 at the end of ten years, and a crop could also be grown between the trees.

In the meantime, he said, strawberries, cucumbers, tobacco, onions, cabbage and tomatoes could be grown between the trees. A special meeting of Mimico Council was held last night to receive tenders for scavenger work and road repairing. Three tenders for each contract were handed in, but the council decided not to make any award until their next meeting, which will be at the call of the clark. ARE NOT FAIRLY PAID oucumbers, tobacco, onions, cabbage and tomatoes could be grown between, and he quoted farmers who had made almost $400 a year in Norfolk County by doing
