Another Down Turn in Porcupine Stocks---Mining Dividends SUDDEN WEAK SPASM IN MINING MARKETS

Hollinger Leads in Late Decline Due to Incoming of Belated Liquidation - Block of Dome Extension Overhanging the World Office.

Tuesday Evening, July 9. A spasm of weakness overtook the mining exchanges during the last hour in to-day's session, and completely which had characterized the list earlwas decidedly limited, and the incoming of a few real selling orders carried prices off in short order. Dome Extension dropped back to 1914, thus Hollinger, which led the decline, sold Hollinger as low as $12.80, a net loss of 30 points

The action of Hollinger during the last few days has plainly evidenced the fact that speculation is playing a large part in the present movement. The stock yesterday stood a full dollar a share below the recent high point, but while this decline has been brought about within the last few days, it is most remarkable on account of its comparative small volume compared to the preceding advance. The conclusion would seem to be that holders are quite content to await results at the property and to ignore immediate fluctuations.

It was reported last night after the close that a comparatively large block of Dome Extension was overhanging the market and that it would have to be liquidated or taken up within the next few days. Meanwhile the public are not taking any decided interest in the day-to-day trading, and consequently any such event might easily have an adverse effect on the whole list.

While the leaders showed a disposition to sag below their previous quotations, some of the other Porcupine stocks maintained an appearance of firmness. Pearl Lake held its recent advance and the close at 23 bid proved the high point of the day. Elsewhere changes were purely nominal.

In the Cobaits, a drop of 3 points in Timiskaming which underwent a rather mysterious slump, was the feature. No reason was assigned for the decline other than the liquidation of a block of stock on an upwilling market.

A World Man

Crosses Over to the Pacific, Sees the Crops and Finds Big Eyes the Rule in Vancouver.

VANCOUVER, B.C., July, 4.--I have een here a week and am rested after the trip across, lasting four days. Weather warm all the way from Tor-onto; at Winnipeg 96 in the shade. Two-thirds of the grain in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta looked fine, the other third as tho it had been late Saskatchewan, and Alberta looked fine, the other third as tho it had been late sown on account of wet weather. West of Gleichen I saw the finest field of fall wheat, probably 50 acres in extent, nearly all headed out, and as thick as it could stand on the ground. Should the weather be favorable I would expect the above named provinces to have another bumper crop. We saw many stacks of last year's wheat that had not been threshed. It will be six years in October next since I was here before and I would scarcely believe my eyes when I saw how Vancouver had grown—four times as large as at that time. It would pay Toronto to send the whole bunch of the council, controllers and aldermen to see how this city is being run. They don't wait for the population to go out, before they build streets and sewers. Miles of streets in all directions are being paved, and sewers and electric light going in at the same time. One small municipality of 11,000 acres in extent, that is, equal to eleven of our mile and a quarter square blocks of land in York County, has spent $2,500,000 on the streets alone, to say nothing of sewers and electric light, and are going to spend another $1,500,000 this coming year. Not only the council but the business men—yes, and the citizens also—have got "big eyes" and are building for the future, and building so as to give all or as many as possible of the necessary comforts of life to their rapidly increasing citizens, as fast as they spread outside the limits. Toronto's streets are not to be compared with those being built in Vancouver, and Toronto will have to get an outfit of bigger men than it now has before it can approach the way the public works department of this new and progressive city are conducting their business.
