SOCIETY

CONDUCTED BY MRS EDMUND PHILLIPS

MRS. HEES' AFTERNOON DANCE.

Mrs. George H. Hees gave a large and successful afternoon dance at her home in St. George street, when she was wearing a handsome gown of black and gold brocade, with diamond ornaments. Mrs. John Macdonald and Mr. Paul Morris also sang during the afternoon, and the young people enjoyed a dance in the large room in the basement. The table was covered with a lace and embroidery cloth, with green ribbon and centred with a green Tiffany vase of yellow chrysanthemums, the effects and cakes being colored to match. Those assisting in the drawing-room were Lady Melvin-Jones, Lady Aylesworth, Mrs. E. F. B. Johnston, Mrs. David Alexander, Mrs. Thomas Gilmour. The following were among the guests: Lady Melvin-Jones, Lady Aylesworth, Mrs. Albert A. Macdonald, Mrs. M. D. Mathews, Mrs. E. F. Johnston, Mrs. T. J. Clark, Mrs. A. P. MRS. DEWAR'S AT HOME.

Mrs. J. S. Dewar was the hostess of a large at home on Wednesday afternoon at her home in Huron street. Her sister, Mrs. Richard Hector Riverside, Cal. Mrs. Dewar was becomingly gowned in pearl grey silk. Mrs. Hector's gown was of blue satin. The Misses Dewar received also with their aunts, wearing gowns of cream color. The drawing-room was bright with golden chrysanthemums and narcissi. The table which was presided over by Mrs. W. J. McGowan and Mrs. E. C. Monat, was centred with a silver candelabrum surrounded with small cut glass vases of red carnations. The assistants were Mrs. J. L. Taylor, the Misses Elizabeth Macpherson, Maude Laidlaw, Edna Freer and Gossell.

Flonally Quartet.

The announcement that the world-famous Flonally Quartet will give a recital of chamber music in Foresters' Hall on Saturday, January 18, is one that is of interest to all local music lovers. No string quartet has achieved as high a reputation as the Flonally Quartet, as Philip Haile's criticism of the concert in Boston on December 5 would emphasize. "It would be almost impertinent to dilate on the characteristics of the Flonally performance, which is a matter of international history," he declared in the Boston Herald. "Lauded almost beyond measure for their precision, unanimity, exquisite balance, poetic spirit, and wondrous euphony in every European capital, let them not forget that they have no warmer admirers than in Boston, where they have won favor for their superb art."

MRS. DIXON'S "NOT-OUT" DANCE.

Mrs. W. B. J. Dixon gave a very delightful "not-out" dance Friday evening in Foresters' Hall, of about 170 young people, in honor of her two daughters, the Misses Rita and Georgia Harvey. Mrs. Dixon received her guests wearing a gown of ivory mesh satin draped with black Brussels lace. Miss Rita Harvey looked very pretty in blue brocade crepe de chene with overdress of embroidered net and silk.

ver. Miss Georgia Harvey also looked very pretty in a rose crepe de chene with brown. Among those present were: Mrs. George Rutherford (Hamilton), Miss Beatrice Brown (Hamilton), Miss Skeff, Miss Doris Roughton, Miss Mildred Gooch, Miss M. Holdge, Miss Hilda Turner, Miss Nora McCon-Toy, Miss Ethel Cook, Miss Marjory Ross, Miss Freda Macintosh, Miss Delephine Burr, Miss Marjory Campbell, Miss Louise Morang, Miss Mary Douglas, Miss Jane Fletcher, Miss Minnetta Brackshaw, Miss Dot Thompson, Miss Ruth Wardle, Misses Jessie and Freda Junkin, Miss Nita Shaw, Miss Marjory Bridgeon, Miss Helen Ross, Miss Dorothy Lash, Miss Kathleen Trotter, Misses Grace and Margaret Murray, Miss Emma Williams, Miss Gladys Large, Miss Shirley Hamilton, Miss Ruth Denton, Miss Helen Watson, Dr. Henwo d.
