LIPTON TO TRY AGAIN
FOR THE CUP

New York, Aug. 20.—Sir Thomas Lipton will visit the United States this fall to compete for the America's Cup.

After the Indian.
Jim Thorpe, the wonderful Carlisle Indian athlete, who won both the all-around athletic competitions at the Olympic games in Stockholm, may be found in a new field after the football season is over this fall. Besides being the greatest all-around athlete the world has ever seen, Thorpe is on the All American football list, and is being sought by baseball managers of the big leagues, and by high promoters as a real "white horse".

But the Carlisle wonder does not care for the professional "squared circle" or diamond, and if he is found in the lists of sports after his graduation, it will most likely be at the wheel of a racing automobile.

Thorpe took up boxing only when he went abroad the summer, but he is fast becoming an enthusiast, and he says that if he had Andrew Carnegie's money he would make it a "hot" State, will allow the two colored men to meet here. Some months ago when promoters here were trying to get Johnson to appear, the members of the commission let it be known that they would oppose the idea. It had been expected that the athletic commission would meet yesterday and decide upon its attitude in the present instance, but the meeting was not held.

St. John, N. B., Aug. 20, 1912.OLD TIMERS OF
THE DIAMOND
STILL ON JOB

Nowadays most of the old timers who have made baseball history are forgotten, except when we dig up their records to compare with those of the present.

But many whose names are seldom in the headlines are still earning their salary through their knowledge of the game. A small regiment of retired ball players is employed by the leagues in combing the brush for promising material. A small contingent is employed to teach the youngsters the rudiments of big league baseball after they are graduated into the fast set.

A quartet of old boys thus engaged are the "veterans" of the game. Willie Keeler of the Superbas; Kid Gleason and Heinie Peitz of the Reds.

Few ball players are naturally gifted as "vice" Willie, but if any one should be able to instruct a youngster in the art of binging it is Keeler. As the Brooklyn team is hitting better this season than for years, Keeler's work must be bearing fruit.

Kid Gleason is not only coach for the White Sox but also carries around the title of assistant manager. He is the original "pepper lid" and one of the unique characters of the game.

Gleason can lick his weight in wildcats, but always lets the other fellow start the rumpus. He has made himself solid with the Chicago fans, and should stick with O'Leary for an indefinite time.

Gleason was a star pitcher and infielder of former days, and played with the old Orioles, the old Browns, Giants, Tigers and Phillies.

He played regularly with the Phillies until a few years ago, when Otto Knabe beat him out for the job.

As an instructor of young players Gleason has few equals. He may have quaint ways of making his points clear, but a youngster can absorb much baseball knowledge by paying strict attention to the famous Kid. Having been both a pitcher and an infielder Gleason is fully equipped to instruct youngsters in both these branches of service.

Jack Ryan, who is on Griffith's payroll, is a handy man to have around, as he is a thorough student of the game. Jack was up in the big leagues, and though never a star, always was considered a capable man.

He has been knocking around the minors for the last few years, and until this season managed the Jersey City Skeeters. One of Ryan's hardest tasks is to make a pitcher out of Babe Garrison, the giant slinger of the Washington flock.

Heinie Peitz, of the Reds, is a coach more on the order of Latham than of the Robinson-Ryan type. True, one of his duties is breaking in young pitchers and judging from the way in which O'Day's boxmen have been going this season, it looks as if Heinie has his work cut out for him.

However, he is also more or less of a humorist, and is employed to keep the Reds in good humor while on losing streaks. Heinie was a catcher like "Kob" and Ryan, and a good one at that. He caught for Louisville, Pittsburgh and Cincinnati.
