FISHERMAN RESCUED AFTER
14 DAYS OF STARVATION.

One of the Crew of the French
Schooner Mimesa Picked Up Off Sable Island—His Companion Drowned—The Man Was Almost Dead
From Weakness

NEW YORK, June 13—Rescued after almost dead from hunger and exposure after being fourteen days in a dory, Louis Vollet, thirty-three years old, a fisherman from the schooner Mimesa, of St. Malo, France, was brought into port yesterday on the Carmania, of the Cunard line, in from Liverpool.

Vollet was just able to sit up for a few moments in the ship's hospital yesterday. His mind, almost wrecked by his terrible experience, fails him at times and he was unable to remember the name of his mate in the dory, who was swept overboard during the storm that drove them far from the schooner.

To the passengers of the steamship the rescue of Vollet was a thrilling spectacle, occurring early last Monday morning, when the Carmania was in latitude 41 degrees, 36 minutes north, longitude 54 degrees, 48 minutes west, or about 320 miles southeast of Sable Island. Just as the lookout had sighted off to the north what appeared to be a log.

Captain Warr ordered the course of the vessel changed and ran down to the bobbing object, which gradually took on the lines of a fisherman's dory, with a man huddled on the forward thwart.

Captain Warr stopped the turbines of the ship as the dory was under its lee, and then Vollet lifted his head feebly and attempted to pull on his only remaining life-line, a coil of rope, a slimy stroke and he nearly toppled from his seat. One of the passengers, seeing this movement, started to jump overboard, fearing that at the last moment Vollet would lose his life. Vollet looked back on the thwart, and as he did James Breen, a seaman on the Carmania, jumped from a lower open port into the dory.

By this time ropes were being thrown from the decks of the liner. Two other seamen followed Breen into the boat, until Captain Warr shouted for the volunteers to desist, as there was danger of swamping the tiny craft. Momentarily in danger of having the dory crushed against the side of the ship, Breen fastened one of the ropes to the arms of the fisherman. When Vollet was drawn on deck Dr. Poynton, the ship's surgeon, at once applied restoratives.

For hours Vollet did not regain consciousness. When he did he told his story.

Fourteen days before—he had kept track of the passing days by cutting notches on the gunwale of the dory—he and his companion had left the Mimesa on the Grand Banks to set their trawls miles away from the schooner. On board of the dory were food and water for two days for the two men. During the day a fog set in, followed by a raging gale, and the men were unable to pull back on the position of their vessel and during the night the dory was almost capsized and Vollet's mate went overboard. He could neither see nor rescue him during the storm and for three days was driven before the fury of the gale.

After the seventh day Vollet's store of biscuit was gone and the only water was that saved from the fall of the snow and rain in the bottom of the dory. In the agony of his hunger Vollet gnawed at pieces of tarred rope until at last he became semi-conscious. Although he said that he could see that the Carmania was coming to his rescue he was too weak to make any signal.

HAMPTON PRISONER
CHARGED WITH ABDUCTION

A Case in Which a Tragedy Was narrowly Averted—An Angry Father and a Thoughtless Girl

HAMPTON, N. B., June 14—This morning in the county court of Kings County under the Speedy Trials Act, before His Honor Judge Wedderburn, Donald Kennedy, a prisoner confined in the county goal in an indictment charged with abducting, on June 1st, last, Estie Boone, the 15 year old daughter of Fred Boone, at her home at Norton, pleaded not guilty. Five witnesses, Fred Boone and Estie Boone testified to the facts of the latter going with the accused for a walk arranged before by Kennedy. They finally walked up the Millstream Road toward Berwick and sat down on the steps of the Baptist Church where they were found by the girl's father, who, having released his daughter, made enquiries and following these up, learned of her having been seen with the accused, secured a warrant for his arrest and accompanied by a constable started out by team in pursuit. Boone said he was armed with a loaded revolver which he produced and would have used if both the accused and his daughter had not sworn that Kennedy had not criminally assaulted the girl.

She had been ordered to have nothing to say to this man and she had told him so, but continued to see him from time to time up to his arrest. It had been rumored that Kennedy was a married man whose home was at Sackville but she believed him when he said he was unmarried. They started out between seven and eight on the morning of June 1st, and after walking many miles between her home and Sussex and return, were overtaken between five and six in the afternoon.

SUPREME COURT.

FREDERICTON, June 14—The Supreme Court delivered a number of important judgments this morning. The judges present included the Chief Justice and Justices Hanington, McLeod and Landry. There was a large attendance of the legal fraternity.

The case of Harvey v. Harvey, ex parte Harvey, was heard by the Chief Justice. The defendant had been convicted of violation of the Scott Act and sentenced to one month jail. The case was made up to the court on the ground that it was made on Easter Monday, a statutory holiday.

The case of Robert Chittick v. the City of Saint John, was heard by Judge McLeod. The case was for the appropriation of land near Loch Lomond. The damages were assessed at $250. The defendant moved to set aside the decision as being excessive.

The case of South West Miramichi Log Driving Company v. Lynch, was heard by Judge McLeod. The company brought an action against Lynch to recover for a bonus which they allowed him to pay on a contract for driving logs. The contract was verbal and the evidence was contradictory as to its existence. Judge Gregory instructed the jury they could find on the question, but if such a contract existed the verdict must be for the defendant, as contract would be ultra vires. A verdict for the defendant under these instructions was given, and the plaintiff asked it set aside on the ground of misdirection. The court held that Judge Gregory's instructions were correct, that such a contract would be ultra vires, and the verdict must stand. New trial refused, Hanington dissenting.

The case of Kennedy v. Boone, was heard by Judge McLeod. The case was for the abduction of a girl. The defendant pleaded not guilty. Five witnesses testified to the facts of the latter going with the accused for a walk arranged before by Kennedy.

EVIDENCE IN SUPPORT OF ORCHARD'S STORY
Is Now Being Offered in the Idaho Trial

Detective McPartland Made No Promises in Obtaining the Confession—Will Hurry on the Trial.

BOISE, Idaho, June 14—Additional evidence bearing on the story told by Orchard, his attempt to kill Fred Bradley, of San Francisco, will be introduced by the State today. Laurence Gubbi, the proprietor of the store near the Bradley home is the first witness. It was here Orchard says he made his rendezvous when he was watching the Bradley building. Gubbi is an Italian. He is a small man, quick and intelligent. Orchard or Barry as he called himself when he frequented the Gubbi store, made himself very popular with the family. It was the proprietor who went out and secured the room opposite the Bradley house from which Orchard said he could look into the exact knowledge which enabled him to plant the bomb at the right time. It is unlikely that the State will be able to conclude the San Francisco testimony today because two witnesses are on their way from California and will not be here in time. One of these is a woman from whom Orchard rented a room while in San Francisco.

At the course of his cross-examination Orchard said he had received a registered letter containing $100 from Petitioner. One of the witnesses to be called today is the registry clerk and it is possible that the tracing of the letter will be a strong piece of evidence.

A witness now on the way is said to be the man who sold the powder with which Orchard made the bomb. Being unable to conclude corroboration of the California part of Orchard's story the State will take up some of the minor witnesses. It is believed that Steve Williams will be located in Ogden by some of these but after the San Francisco matter is temporarily passed the evidence will then be of no great importance for the rest of the week. It is possible that Judge Wood will adjourn court over Saturday but as the State is under great expense in the matter of witnesses it is more probable that a session will be held on Saturday in order to dispose of those who are not of first importance in the link of the case.

When the court does adjourn tonight or Saturday it will be until Monday afternoon or Tuesday morning as Judge Wood will have to hold court on Monday morning at Caldwell. The case of Harry Orchard charged with the murder of Frank Steenberg will be called in Caldwell and will be postponed until the next term. Orchard reached the climax of his testimony yesterday. Warden Whitney said his prisoner appeared to be in better spirits than he had before for many months. His shows not the slightest evidence of fatigue or nervousness and ate a hearty meal after he reached the penitentiary.

Capt. James McPartland, the famous detective, who has figured so largely in the testimony and who has been attacked by the counsel for the defense, prefers not to be interviewed at length on the subject of the Orchard confession. "It would be superfluous for me to reiterate," he said yesterday. "Orchard has told the literal truth about his confession and the way it was given to me. I made him no promises. I never made a promise to a criminal in my life. Orchard first confessed to me but said he was quite ready to give it to me finally. I promised to hold it for some time and did so. He told me that when he was ready to tell the whole story that he would let me know and some time later he again told me the incidents of his life. Leaving out nothing, every word that he said on the stand as to the confession is the truth and there is nothing to add."

The state expects to close its case in ten days or two weeks. Clarence Darlow, for the defense, says their case will take about four weeks though it is possible it may be concluded in less. It is generally conceded, however, that the verdict will not be reached before August 1st.
