CORDS CONTRIBUTE TO TIRE STRENGTH

Any one can enter the contest by curing an entry form from a Goodear dealer, making the estimate and ing it in on this form. Thhere is o entry fee and no other conditions

Six types and sizes of tires have estimate. These are on view at all Goodyear dealers. It is the average number of cords in these six tires that is to be estimated. It is stated that only one or two people in the Goodyear organisation actually know the correct number, which is now deposited under seal with a trust company. But in order that no one may have any special advantage, all employees of Goodyear and other rubber companies and their families are debarred from competing.

WHERE DOES THE GAS GO ?

WHERE DOES THE GAS GO?

If you want to get from your car the gazoline mileage it was designed to give, it is welle to be familiar with; some of the chief causes of wasteful fuel consumption, most of which can be corrected inexpensively when detected. A service authority has analyzed the various "leaks" in the average gas tank, and presents a careful list of points to watch.

In the first place, poor mileage may be due to dragging brakes, tight wheel bearings, imperfect lubrication, or under-inflation of tires. If all these parts of the running gear are in good order, wasted gasoline may some times be due to oppor compression in the motor itself, due to worn piston rings, leaking valve or wilnder head gasket: sticking, broken or improperly adjusted valves, or alves incorrectly timed. Plugging of the muffler may be another cause, or the motor and manifold may be sither too hot or too cold.

Causes of low gasoline mileage to be found in the ientition are: timing improperly set; incorrect firing sequence; worn-out distributor cap; weak ignition col; defective condenser; loose connections; cracked or worn spark plugs. Then we come to the carburetor. Too much fuel is used when the mixture is either too lean or too rich. The same is true if the choke is improperly used, or if the ling. Other causes are worn jets, worn auxiliary gasoline needle is not seatmetering rod, imperfect float lever, iamaged air valve spring, use of a ooor grade of gasoline, on air leaks in the manifold.

It is a good idea to have the car checked up periodically.

What is a tire made of ? "Rubber", says everybody. But that's wrong, There's rubber in a tire, of course, but there are cotton cords and wire cables, too. Across Canada people are getting curious about tires. The main reason is that the Coodyear people are offering money prizes to those who can guess how many cords are getting curious about the cords in a tire is a tire stores.

Deuer Times Don't be Discouraged?

DON'T lose the will to win ... don't join the pessimists who see naught but disaster ahead -

During a previous depression, governments had to issue paper "Certificates" as a substitute for money. Conditions were just as bad, only we have forgotten.

Prosperity has always followed bad times - this is one of the laws of business cycles.

Now is the time to substitute the word "Reconstruction" for "depression."

Don't be discouraged. Lend a hand to reestablish confidence. Canada will see this through and emerge victorious.

Better times are coming !
