

FORMER QUEEN OF BAVARIA DEAD

Maria Theresa Passed Out Last Night at Chateau Wildenhard.

Basel, Switzerland, Feb. 4.—Former Queen Maria Theresa of Bavaria died last night at the Chateau Wildenhard, according to a despatch from Munich today.

The death of Maria Theresa was erroneously reported on November 18 last in a despatch from Amsterdam, a denial being issued shortly afterward. The ex-queen was seriously ill at the time, however, and on Saturday last Munich advices stated that her condition had become very grave, and it was feared her illness would terminate fatally.

Maria Theresa was formerly an archduchess of Austria-Este of the House of Modena and was born in 1848. She married King Ludwig III. of Bavaria in 1870, and the Bavarian diet passed a decree deposing the Wittelsbach dynasty, forcing King Ludwig to give up his crown.

The W. A. for the help given in the education of his daughter, Mrs. Thomas Walker presided at a large number of members were present.

RUSSIAN APPEAL TO AMERICANS

Urge Public Opposition to Withdrawal of Troops Fighting Bolshevik.

New York, Feb. 4.—The Russian Economic League, comprising representatives of Russian financial, commercial and industrial interests in the United States, tonight issued an address of loyal Russians to the American people, urging public opposition to the proposed withdrawal of American and Allied troops fighting the Bolsheviks.

The statement declared that abandonment of resistance to the Bolshevik forces "would mean the death warrant of tens of thousands of citizens in an allied country," and eventually would subject America to the Russian radical influence, which "if you do not destroy it there, it will come to destroy you here."

Fort William, Feb. 4.—Following the announcement this morning that the government had awarded contracts amounting to seven and one-half million dollars to the Canadian Car and Foundry Company, an effort will be made to have some portion of the work carried out in the Fort William factory, which is at present being operated with a small force of about two hundred men on car repairs, it is said. Specks Floating Before His Eyes

When specks start to float before the eyes, when everything turns black for a few seconds and you feel as if you were going to faint, you may rest assured that your liver is not working properly.

The essential thing to do in all cases where the liver is slow, lazy or torpid, is to stir it up by the use of a medicine that will clear away all the waste and poisonous matter from the system, and prevent as well as cure all the troubles arising from this accumulated mass which has collected in the system.

Keep the bowels open by using Milburn's Laxative Pills and you will have no liver trouble of any kind. They will clear away all the waste and effete matter which has collected and make the liver active and working properly.

Mr. John H. Morrison, Grand River Falls, N. B., writes: "Several months ago I was troubled with a sour stomach, and had specks floating before my eyes. I took five pills of Milburn's Laxative Pills which cured and cleared my blood before any length of time. I sold my friends about it, and they got some, and they, too, had themselves different since they took them. I recommend your pills very highly."

Milburn's Laxative Pills are 35c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

HENDERSON'S ATTITUDE ON LABOR DISAPPOINTS AMERICAN LEADERS

Believes in the Establishment of a Permanent International Organization of a Political and Industrial Character—Indispensable Adjunct to the League of Nations.

By Frederick Moore.

(Special Cable to The N. Y. Tribune and The St. John Standard.) Paris, Feb. 4.—Arthur Henderson, the British labor leader, who has just returned from Bern, where he has been organizing the International Socialist Labor Conference, which is expected to open February 5, is discussing with Nicolai Barmine and other members of the Peace Conference Committee on International Labor Legislation various proposals for procuring an international standard of conditions for labor. Henderson's attitude has disappointed American labor leaders.

Discussing various points which he said would be considered at the Bern meeting, he said:

"Our programme is both wide and important. It will embrace such questions as the league of nations, disarmament, conscription and an international labor charter. Russia no doubt will come under consideration also."

"The establishment of a permanent international organization of a political and industrial character is the object of the International Socialist Labor Congress. It will federate Socialist and labor organizations of the respective countries, with the view of taking action for the raising of the standard of social and economic life and bringing combined influence to bear for the maintenance of peace."

Hopes for Labor Charter.

"One of the chief obstacles to progress toward a higher standard of living in low-wage countries. Up to now, although conferences have been held, resolutions passed and conventions set up, there has been no power of enforcement. We are hoping for a labor charter to be agreed to which would be administered under the authority of the league of nations by a permanent world labor council, whose business it would be to collect statistics and information, and which would see that the conditions of the treaty of peace on labor questions were observed, failing which it would report any delinquent nation to the full league for immediate action."

Mr. Henderson made it clear that he was expressing only his own views. "I regard a permanent world labor council, such as I have suggested, as the most important, valuable, and indispensable adjunct to the league of nations. For there can be no doubt in the mind of any reflective and observant man that the unsatisfactory condition of labor is at the root of much unrest and menace to the progress of peace. I regard the question of proper economic conditions as essential if we desire to maintain world peace."

Unrest Must Be Quelled.

"Excessive hours, inadequate wages, recurring unemployment, preventable accidents and disease are all powerful factors which go to form discontent among wage earners. If the return of peace does not bring also some prospect of raising the standards of life and providing some means of escape from the demoralizing conditions that surround the life of many producers it can only result in unrest which will find expression in forms both dangerous and disastrous."

"We hear constantly of strikes or rumors of strikes. They are significant. Manifestations that have already revealed themselves go to indicate that we are now very near danger. It will largely depend upon what is done in Paris, and only in lesser holding meetings every week during the winter months."

Mr. Henderson said that he was visiting Miss A. Molyer for the week-end. Miss Castle Craig is taking charge of Johnson's drug store at Perth Junction for a week or two, during the absence of Mr. Johnson on a vacation.

Mrs. Nevers is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. True. Miss Anita Estey is visiting her friend, Miss J. Wakem for a few weeks. Mr. and Mrs. LeBaron Hopkins are visiting friends at Centerville.

Mrs. Frank Griffin is ill with pleurisy.

HARTLAND

Hartland, Feb. 3.—Miss Bernice Malloy, representing the Board of Education, spent Wednesday to Thursday here interviewing the School Board, teachers and parents with regard to the matter of hot lunches for the children, who ordinarily take their dinners at school. On Thursday afternoon she gave a public demonstration of what may be done with a very small equipment for the making and serving of hot soups, cocoa, etc., at school, which was both interesting and instructive.

This matter of hot lunches for the school children has for many years been carefully considered and experimented upon by the educational authorities of Great Britain and the United States and gradually Canada is taking it up. Alberta and Saskatchewan have already proven themselves very progressive in this particular branch of school work and the provincial degree in Bern, whether we can avoid going forward to disaster."

Referring to the opinion recently expressed by W. A. Appleton that present industrial unrest is psychological rather than economic, Mr. Henderson remarked:

"I think it may be psychological, but I should also hold that it is largely economic and influenced very greatly by expectations that have been created during the war of a new world in which workers would live if by their patriotism, devotion and sacrifice they were prepared to assist in delivering their country from the menace of autocracy and militarism."

Changes Determined Upon.

"The war has undoubtedly produced a tremendous change in the minds of vast numbers of workers, more particularly those who have been in the trenches, and they are not satisfied with the present indication that many promises are going to be broken and that they are going to have a larger share of those things of mind and spirit which they regarded as the monopoly of the possessing classes in days gone by."

"They are therefore determined that the spirit which they regarded as the monopoly of the possessing classes in days gone by, as well as a much higher minimum of the standards of existence than those which obtained before 1914, equity and justice are the basis of their demands. Surely they have the right to an equal share in that for which they fought and which, without their aid, would not have been won."

With respect to the attitude of foreign countries toward his proposed congress, Mr. Henderson stated that the labor and Socialist organizations of seventeen or eighteen nations had indicated their intention to send delegates to Bern. In addition to the great states, most, if not all, of the smaller nations, he said, would be represented.

Regrets Gompers' Absentment.

Different small nationalities, like the Georgians in Russia, will be represented," Mr. Henderson declared. "Also the revolutionary Socialists of Russia, but not the Bolsheviks, and Spain are expected to send delegates, as well as the Scandinavian countries, Denmark and Greece."

"There is some possible difficulty about Bulgaria," which desires to be represented. The German and Austrian delegates are coming.

"Neither China nor Japan is likely to send delegates, and the United States, I am very sorry to say, will not take any part. I am at a loss to explain the purpose of bringing the matter as it is."

"At the last international conference in London I understood that Mr. Gompers had accepted a position on the committee. I have endeavored to give effect to every mandate of the London conference. I am most anxious to render every assistance in my power to those who will discuss labor questions here, for I am convinced that international relations in the future cannot be satisfactory until the spirit upon which the league of nations can alone be successful is introduced into our relations even with those who were recently at war with us."

Miss Mallory reports that they are meeting with splendid success and mentioned Bristol and Andover as being especially enterprising along this line. She declared that the success of the plan rests first of all with the parents and trustees, and second in the hands of the teachers.

The Hartland teachers and members are one of the highest importance, and it is to be hoped that a beneficial result, at least, may be made along this line.

Dominion Rubber System Belting the "Proved" Lumber Mill Equipment

Over fifty years spent in making belts to meet the needs of individual branches of industry have given us an invaluable fund of knowledge.

As in other lines we have worked out many of the transmission and conveyor problems which confront the lumber mill man—we have determined to a scientific degree of exactness the requirements in each instance. And, further, we have developed Dominion Friction Surface Belting to a point where it gives a maximum pulley grip, the highest tensile strength and the greatest durability. We have attained this by the careful determination of fabric and rubber, the proper curing and the correct construction and size.

"Proving up" is a big feature of Dominion Friction Surface Belting—and every Dominion Belt sold to the lumber trade is a belt of the type that has stood up under the "proving up" test. This insures its quality, uniformity and its superiority for its particular purpose.

Dominion Friction Surface Belting for lumber mills—for all kinds of wood-working plants, no matter where located—is backed by the free special service department of the Dominion Rubber System. This is a technical service of belting experts maintained to work out your belting problem, whether you are a customer or not.

popular young farmer southeast of Milestone, Sask. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Crumley. The bride, who was given away by the groom's brother-in-law, Leonard Hicks, of Havelock, New Brunswick, looked charming in a navy blue suit with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses and white carnations, and entered the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by the organist. A solo "The Voice that Breathed over Eden" was beautifully rendered just before the ceremony.

After the ceremony the party motored to the Princess Cafe where a sumptuous dinner of sixteen courses was served. The table was beautifully decorated with smilax, potted plants and cut flowers. Places were laid for seven. Among the guests were Dr. and Mrs. Crumley.

During the supper hours a photo was taken of the wedding supper and the bridal party.

The happy young couple spent a day in Moose Jaw, after which they took up their residence on the farm of the groom five miles southeast of Milestone, Sask.

A host of friends join in wishing them a long, happy wedded life and much prosperity.
