

PEDLAR'S "PERFECT" CULVERTS

Most Convenient in Handling and Installing

Given strength and durability, an important factor for the engineer's consideration, is the ease with which a culvert can be installed. And in this point, as in the others, everything is in favor of Pedlar's "Perfect"  Metal Culverts. Only ordinary labor is needed—and not much of that. A small gang of unskilled laborers can handle several hundred feet in a day—and they can't make mistakes. Rivetted Culverts are shipped all ready to place in position, in lengths up to 40 feet, coupling bands supplied for longer lengths.
