Top violinist to play at King's

Charles Treger, the first American to take top honors in the Polish Wieniawski violin competition, and one of America's most important violinists, will appear in an afternoon recital as part of the Dalhousie University Sunday afternoon series of concerts, at 3 p.m., on Sunday, Jan. 22, in the University of King's College Gymnasium.

Considered as a new star on the international music horizon, Treger has won acclaim in the United States and abroad.

His program will include the Sonata in E major by Handel, the Spring Sonata by Beethoven, Paganini for solo violin by Milstein, the Sonata in D minor by Brahms and six Rumanian Folk Dances by Bartok.

Canadian Life provides funds for research

Dalhousie University's Faculty of Medicine has received a Canadian Life Insurance Medical grant for a research project to be directed by Dr. Stephen Clair MacLeod, a member of the department of obstetrics and gynaecology.

The fellowship is valued at $10,000 annually for a five year term to commence July 1, 1967. Laboratory facilities for Dr. MacLeod's research have been provided by the Faculty of Medicine and data for the project will be collected at the Grace Maternity Hospital and the Halifax Infirmary.

Dr. MacLeod's research is divided into two phases; placental function during pregnancy, which involves the testing of hormones and urine in any complicated pregnancies in an effort to determine the advisability of early delivery, and the second phase of research involves the induction of ovulation in infertile women.

Dr. MacLeod is a graduate of Dalhousie and in 1960 he received a Canadian Research Council Fellowship in Dalhousie's department of obstetrics and gynaecology. During that year he became interested in sex hormone research in the human female and submitted four publications on estrogen metabolism in various clinical disorders.

As a recipient of the McLaughlin Travelling Fellowship, Dr. MacLeod's interest in this field was accelerated during his year of work with Dr. J. B. Brown of Melbourne, Australia, a leading authority on estrogen metabolism of the human female.

Dr. MacLeod has published articles in co-operation with his colleagues, in the Journal of Endocrinology, American Journal of Obstetrics and Gynaecology and several other publications are now ready for submission.

Art College faculty to go on exhibition

Exhibition of work by the faculty of the Nova Scotia College of Art, which is now on display in Dalhousie University's Art Gallery, has been extended from Jan. 19 to Jan. 21, 12:30 p.m. The Maxwell Bates retrospective exhibition from Confederation Centre, Charlottetown will be on view beginning 9:30 a.m., Jan. 25 in the Art Gallery.

Spanish Culture: films, January 25

A program of films dealing with several aspects of Spanish culture and civilization, will be presented by Dalhousie University's Spanish department at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 25, in Room 304 of the Sir James Dunn Science Building.

The five films to be presented are entitled: Rice culture in Valencia, Barcelona, Grand Joya, and Spain is Different.

fulfillment, by showing that Freud represents the danger of myth, not its real purpose.

A symbol should be psychic tension between known and unknown. It can lead to infantilization and flight from the anxiety, he said.

"The symbol thus can create a womb, a covering blanket," he said, "but it is meant to handle reality symbolically, and face up to larger questions."

Rev. Trivett defined the purpose of the sessions to bring to the surface religious disturbances he had observed on campus, and to provide an approach to such questions as "Is God dead?", "Is there a religious question in the twentieth century?", and "Is religion irrelevant?"

With the disappearance of the Student's Christian Movement two years ago, and the recent death of the Canterbury Club, "without a decent burial," to quote Rev. Trivett, these sessions are the only formal vehicle for non-sectarian religious discussion on campus.

They were initiated by an informal group called Encounter, consisting of 20 students who are interested in furthering religious debate.

The sessions will be held on Tuesday, at 12:30 p.m. in Room 21 of the Arts and Administration building.

MONTREAL (CUP) -- About 15 McGill University students have offered to assist the Montreal Catholic School Commission during the current strike by 9,000 elementary and high school teachers.

They volunteered to cross picket lines and help strikebound classes to continue with their studies.

Some 200,000 Montreal affected in 500 schools are affected by the walkout, which centres around teachers' demands for an 18 per cent salary increase

Poorly informed about Wednesday's referendum on student building

ARMAND PIN

By LINDA GILLINGWATER
Managing Editor
Nine out of ten don't! Do you? Want to? You don't need student health any more; the Dal Gazette will keep you supplied. - supplied with information about the referendum on January 25.

The referendum is being held to determine whether Dalhousie students are willing to pay an additional $10, in student fees beginning in September, to help finance construction of a student union building.

In an attempt to determine the impact of our last week's editorial and story on the student body a survey was held.

No one knows about it!
Linda: Student Council is holding a referendum on the 25 of Jan.

ILGA LEJA

They are asking you to earmark $10 extra dollars per year for the SUB building. Think it's a good idea?

Brian Fogo: I haven't even heard about it. Sure I think it's a good idea but then again I'm leaving next year so I don't care.

That was a Dalhousie senior, obviously oozing student spirit.
(SCIENCE IV)
Bill Lewis: Haven't heard about it. You say it won't be built unless I give something towards it eh? Well I guess so; I think it would be good.

That was a sampling of our science students - well informed about campus issues.

about it. It would all depend on what it is going to be used for. If it has administration buildings and offices and all that - sure, I wouldn't like to say how I'll vote; I'd like to hear more about it. Hopefully a surfeit of sophomores won't have a say.

(ARTS 1)
Bill Walton: I haven't heard. You say it was in the Gazette eh? Well, it seems like a pretty good idea from what you were telling me just now. Guess I'll vote yes.

Wilfred Cude: (Graduate English Student) Student Union Building? I didn't even know they were building one. I certainly wouldn't know if there is a need. If we have to shaft the seniors for ignorance, can we fall to give the gears to the graduates?

KEITH DOE

(PHYSICAL EDUCATION 1)
Keith Doe: I'd vote no because I don't know anything about it. Is that the one with all the pool-rooms? I only read the sports page in the Gazette; how could I hear about it?

Jane Newman: What referendum? I don't know enough about it to say. Where's this building to be by the way? From what you say it sounds like a wonderful idea, but I don't know if I'd be willing to pay ten dollars extra.

A "yes" vote will give you new recreation rooms, common rooms, a general book store, a new music lounge for practice and listening, student offices, new student placement offices, cafeteria to seat 600, auditorium for 1000. (See Gazette Jan. 12)

Dalhousie's own mardi gras

Four-day Winter Carnival frolic planned

Dalhousie is preparing for its own version of a mid-winter mardi gras.

Winter Carnival organizers, the greatest folk concert the city has witnessed: Gordon Lightfoot and The Stormy Clovers on the same stage.

A sortie to Mount Martock is scheduled.

There are two balls, a Varsity hockey game, the famed Black and Gold Review, and a broomball game between the campus coeds and the faculty fossils. The whole show will cost $13.00 double or $8.00 single (including a Ball Ticket).

Dalhousie University students are all set for the weekend, February 2-5 with the added incentive to enjoy themselves without worrying about classes.

It's the weekend of their Winter Carnival and the students, going it alone for the second year in succession - in previous years other local universities were involved - have another impressive program.

The carnival will kick off with a reception at Shirreff Hall, on the afternoon of Feb. 2, when carnival princesses will be introduced. In the evening, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., is the carnival centennial ball, at the Hotel Nova Scotian. Expo '67 displays will be in the hotel mezzanine, and the ball will have two bands - in two ballrooms - to cater to the go-go set and to waiters.

On Friday, Feb. 3, Munro Day - to celebrate the university's benefactors of the years - there will be no classes, but there will be an outing to Mount Martock for skiing, tobogganing, and dancing. In the evening, in the gymnasium at Dalhousie, will be the Black and Gold Revue, beginning at 8 p.m.

On Saturday, Feb. 4, ice sculptures will be held, and sporting events will be held, one of which is a broomball game between coeds and faculty; another will be Dalhousie vs. Nova Scotia Tech in Junior varsity hockey, at the

Students protest building changes

HALIFAX (CUP)—Changes in final plans for St. Mary's University's new student centre met with a blast from student council officials here recently.

The changes are "nice-looking on the outside, but highly impractical on the inside," said Jerry Murphy, co-editor of the St. Mary's yearbook.

The plans reverse recommendations made last spring by a special student committee appointed to advise the architect and the university president on facilities to be included in the building. The recommendations were applied to the building plans - plans the committee understood to be final, a committee spokesman said. The new plans will force the yearbook committee to work in a 120 foot square room, slightly larger than the 88 square feet allocated to the student newspaper, The Journal.

Two students' council departments, consisting of 14 different societies and committees between them, are to share one small office.

The committee was not consulted about the changes, made last summer by the university president, the dean of men and the architect, because it has a consulting role, not a determining role, said president Father C.J. Fischer.

"If they are disappointed, then we can use the building for other things very well," he said.

Prof flays myths, and new morality

TORONTO (CUP)—A University of Toronto professor recently took a few well-aimed pot shots at an old sexual myth and the "new morality".

The myth that sex is play is an attitude of a society which does not know itself, Dr. F.I. Rubenstein told students at a Hillel lecture.

"In the long run, sex is serious and not play," he said. "Some relationships are productive of ideas, some are productive of money, but only one is productive of other human beings, and I can't believe that anyone could not take this seriously."

The sex act returns to the primacy of our origins and reminds us of the short term of life. For of reason love is associated with death, Dr. Rubenstein said.

"Therefore, sex is not sad, but a very serious thing." Dr. Rubenstein also dealt with a certain attitude of the "new morality" which says: "I am a body. I am only a body and proud to be a body. Therefore, in the sexual act, I am giving my total self." Sex is only meaningful when it is both psychologically and physically gratifying, he said.
