

CONTENTS

xi

	Page
CHAP. XLIX. Martyrs of Japan—Seventeenth Century, continued, . . . . .	335
L. Founding of the Brothers of the Christian Schools—Missions in China and America—Eighteenth Century, . . . . .	335
LI. Many Apologists of Religion—Eighteenth Century, continued, . . . . .	336
LII. The Clergy of France—Martyrs of the Revolution—End of the Eighteenth Century, . . . . .	338

COURSE FOURTH.

CHAPTER I. Christianity visible—Necessity and advantages of exterior worship, . . . . .	340
II. Origin of Ceremonies, . . . . .	341
III. Of Churches, . . . . .	342
IV. Churches, continued, . . . . .	344
V. Of Blessings and Cemeteries, . . . . .	346
VI. Of Festivals, their object and beauty, . . . . .	347
VII. The Sunday—The Office, . . . . .	348
VIII. The Office, continued, . . . . .	350
IX. Office, continued, . . . . .	351
X. Office, concluded—Use of Latin—The Chant, . . . . .	352
XI. Of Sacrifice in general, and Mass in particular, . . . . .	354
XII. Of the Vestments of the Priest, . . . . .	355
XIII. Ornaments of Bishops—Color of Ornaments, . . . . .	357
XIV. Sacred Vessels and Holy Water, . . . . .	359
XV. Procession and the first part of the Mass, . . . . .	360