Ourselves in

At various times we most encouraging letters from friends who appreciate the conductors of this paper representing and cultural interests in the Canada. We believe we that no other periodical existence can reach. The three other bee journals on this continent, and between our American friends very strongest bonds of brotherhood. But we are petitioners. We each serve a purpose and there is room for all of our subscribers take the C.B.J. the three and we would urge upon them to do so. As regard the Bee Journal, we realize opening up of vast territory a great bee industry means a distinct need for a journal will act as a vehicle of information regarding the assumed by the bee-keepers in those regions. We aspire means of bringing together west and south and north the bee-keepers of Canada a bond that should hold together situated necessarily a great apart.

A perusal of the index in this issue will show what degree has been achieved during the past year. Let us say that we
