

Among the wreaths they saw a long, long daisy chain, which Polly Mason had made before the sun was up. A bunch of lilies, tied with a blue ribbon from the little Lady May, "cos I loved Boy so." A cross with a card "from old Birch," and among the rarest hot-house flowers, a cross-branch of willow, with red dahlias and marigolds tied on with rough bits of string. Mike had watered his flowers with tears, and Doddles has found him placing them on the grave.

Good-by, Boy! You will never be tired any more now. There among the lilies you are waiting for us, and the world is a better world for "Having entertained an Angel unawares."

THE END.

A TRIP TO MANITOBA.—Last year I went to Manitoba on the C. P. R. At Rat Portage I got sick, and at Winnipeg I was so weak I had to be assisted off the train. I got a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and after the first dose felt better. When I got to Boissevain I was as well as ever. The Bitters cure the bad effects of the surface water of the prairies. Boy Character.

It is the greatest delusion in the world for a boy to get the idea that his life is of no consequence, and that the character of it will not be noticed. A manly, truthful boy will shine like a star in any community. A boy may possess as much of a noble character as a man. He may so speak and live the truth that there shall be no discount on his word. And there are such noble Christian boys; and wider and deeper than they are apt to think is their influence. They are the king boys among their fellows, having an immense influence for good, and loved and respected because of the simple fact of living the truth
