No effort

ONE of the strongest among the many strong features that recommend a Pease furnace or boiler to a householder is the saving of time and effort in maintaining a steady heat throughout the house.

As nearly as they possibly may Pease heating apparatus are self controlled. The dampers regulate the fire to a nicety, and no waste of coal goes on although the furnace receives no attention for a day or a night at a time.

This is why the Pease is so popular a furnace. It has many other equally good points of merit, but the convenient method of its control is the feature that comes into evidence to impress the owner of a Pease with the superiority of this furnace over all others.

MRS. RED SQUIRREL.

Mrs. Red Squirrel sat on the top of a tree;

"I believe in the habit of saving," said she;

"If it were not for that, in the cold winter weather

I should starve, and my young ones, I know altogether;

But I'm teaching my children to run and lay up

Every acorn as soon as it drops from its cup,

And to get out the corn from the shocks in the field—

There's a nice hollow tree where I keep it concealed.

"We have laid up some wheat, and some barley and rye,

And some very nice pumpkin seeds I have put by;

Best of all, we have gathered in all that we could

Of beechnuts and butternuts grown in the wood;

For cold days and hard times winter surely will bring

And a habit of saving's an excellent thing.

"But my children—you know how young squirrels like play,

"We have plenty, great plenty, already they'll say,

"We are tired of bringing in food for our store;

Let us have a frolic, and gather no more!"

But I tell them it's pleasant when winter is rough,

If we feel both to use and give we've enough;

And they'll find ere the butternuts bloom in the spring,

That a habit of saving's an excellent thing."

THAT OTHERS MIGHT REAP.

The times were hard; so hard, indeed, that the superintendent of the Gloria Mine saw that his force must be reduced.

The prospect for the discharged would be anything but pleasant; but
