Until her short illness commenced she seldom missed a preaching service or a session of the Sunday School, and her sudden removal creates a vacancy that will not soon be filled.

All her children, three sons and two daughters survive her.

ST. GEORGE. April 12. The chief topic of conversation here the past week, has been the railroad to LePage or Back Bay. The people are a little excited and it is felt that politics should no longer be allowed to interfere with the undoubted advantages the port offers. It has always been thought that the politicians wrote the report on Charlotte County Ports, and that the business men with experience in shipping are willing to spend their own money without asking any Government aid in developing LePage in proof that Eastern Charlotte was right.
