THE PLANET VINDICATED.

Our esteemed local contemporary, the Banner, has found out something, and the fact is rare enough to be worthy of note-even though they are a little late in finding it out. It is a peculiar thing that this wonderful discovery claimed by the Jury Finds Berdina Swackhammer Was Banner, is in reference to an issue which is now dead, and which, if our contemporary had had the foresight to see it at the time, might have been of assistance to the ratepayers in voting on an important measure effecting the city's financial interests. On the other hand, the Banner of the other hand had the foresight to be for the other hand, and the other hand had the foresight to be for the other hand, and the other hand had the foresight to be for the other hand, and the other hand had the foresight to be for the other hand, and the other hand had the foresight to be for the other hand and the other hands of Feter Wilson on the 4th of August, about the hour of 6 o'clock."

This was the verdict in the coronary and the other hands of Feter Wilson on the 4th of August, about the hour of 6 o'clock."

This was the verdict in the coronary and the forest hand and the forest hand the forest Banner, is in reference to an issue was find at No. 10 school-house, Ein, yesterday afternoon, before Coroner ing this same in quitous measure which they now, in view of recent developments, roundly condemn. Our contemporary's enlightenment is in reference to the proposition offered to the city of Chatham some time ago by the Keystone Sugar People Are Not Bound to Pay For Re-Company, relative to bringing the Wiarton beet sugar factory to this oity. The company asked for a loan of $75,000. The by-law was defeated, and now the Keystone Company is in Dresden asking for $25,000 in return for which they will do just as much for the town of Dresden. London, Aug. 9.—A decision given by the Court of Appeals yesterday leaves the question of religious education in Great Bidtain in a peculiar position.

The Education Act of 1902 was instruction in the voluntary schools, and led to the notorious much for the town of Dresden, as they would have done for Chatham if the by-law had been carried here. Why did they not ask Chatham for $25,000 instead of three times this the Benner when the Benner the Benner than the beautiful the assistance in overment. The passive resistance in overment. The constitution of the time devoted by them to religious instruction. The board of education then sought the assistance of the $25,000, in whatever form, it would appear that Chatham was held up the difference between that amount and what was asked from this corporation, that is, provided the the Dresden by-law are otherwise the same as that submitted terday. for the Chatham ratepayers."

Strange to say, the Banner is correct, Moreover, they could have been correct all along, had they followed the example of the ratepayers, and had accepted the advice offered in the articles which appeared in this journal before the by-law! was voted upon. It was stated at the time that we believed the city would have been held up if the bylaw had passed, but the Banner would not listen. Now that the e little matters are coming to light, The Planet is being thoroughly vindicated in the stand it maintained on this question. One of the men who was most enthusiastic in booming the by-law here, is reported as saying recently, that it would have been the worst thing that could have happened to Chatham if the by-law had passed. One of the men who was most en-He excuses himself by saying tha he was paid for his services in talking beet sugar, and that he needed the momey.

The Planet has no present quarrel with the Keystone Sugar Company, the men who supported the by-law, nor, for that matter, with the Banmer, but the experience should prove of value to the ratepayers in matters of offering encouragements to industries, and it should be a lesson to newspapers to be very careful in inquiring into every feature of any scheme before giving over their columns to boosting, it.
