The Death Rays for Every Home

[Special Despatch to The Daily Gleaner from Dominion News Service.]

London, June 27.—If passing any suburban home at midnight, you observe clinks of light coming from the garage, you may be quite certain that it signifies a worthy citizen engaged on inventing and perfecting a death ray.

Until recently no one had heard of this interesting development. Now every post brings in news of a new one.

Before long we shall have a Death Ray Society. Members will meet and discuss these things, just as wireless experts do. It is exactly like the birth of broadcasting. For a few weeks it was a miracle, and then in a week or two every schoolboy performed miracles in his bedroom.

So it will be with the latest marvel. Friends will tickle each other up with their respective death rays.
Townlet will call to townlet and vice versa. Jones, feeling a sudden attack of pins and needles at three in the morning, will realize that Brown is having a little joke. Rising hastily, he will retaliate—perhaps with just a shade more "juice." Of course, there will be accidents, but that is to be expected in the name of science.

Nowadays if any wife of a man of the highest and practical variety sees her husband more than usually preoccupied she may take it for granted that he has found out the way to stop a Zappelin. She can quite safely banish the idea that there is "an other woman" in it. Handy men about the house never bother about the sort of thing.

He will come into the dining-room some evening from the hut in the garden with his face aglow:

"My dear, you remember how we used to say that the face of Aunt Jane was enough to stop a clock.
I've found out another way of doing it, and it's much pleasanter to have about the house."

From the parent to the schoolboy stage is but a step. Those amazing youths who at present terrify one with their profound knowledge of wireless mysteries will be playing with the new toy. The usual things will happen.

"I say, Dad, are you really keen on Hercules?"

"Keen on Hercules? What do you mean? He's the best Pom in the town."

"Awfully sorry, Dad, but I put my ray on him, and there's been an accident. You see, I thought I was only tuned in for mice, and mother said she didn't mind that."

In such cases the only thing father will have to be pleased about is that the experiment wasn't tried on the baby.

With things becoming really complicated the post office will have to step in again and issue licenses. The home without a death ray laid on will be mid-Victorian, and power will be distributed only from the central station. "O Hell O!"

"O Hell O" calling. To-night the rat and mice ray will be running from five to seven. In view of the season, cat power will be switched on at midnight for three hours."

Then, when peace has been secured in every suburban garden, the word will come "O Hell O" closing down.
Please gather up all bodies and arrange for Justmen to collect."

GERMAN DIVORCES.

Potsdam, Germany, June 27.—An epidemic of divorces has broken out in Potsdam, once the home of German royalty and still the place of residence of several of the former Kaiser's sons and other members of the nobility. In one day recently 87 divorces were granted by Potsdam courts, a number, it is said, that marks a precedent for all Germany.
