Advices from Odessa, diated November Sid, report the wheat market in the same dis-couraged state, but in barley, rye, and oats a fair business was passing. At Nicolaieff there had been rather more animation in the market, but at Taganrog the utmost quietness prevailed. The total exports of wheat from flussis in the seven months ended July 31, 1883, were 5,350 quarters, whilst the total during 1882 was 9,600.000 quarters. From India it was reported in a Calcutat telegram of the 7th inst, that supplies of wheat were small, and that the price of rice was advancing, owing to the partial failure of the crop. The quantity of In-dian wheat on passage to the United Kingdom had again decreased, being 12.000 quarters or 66,000 quarters less than in the preceding week. On this side we find States markets to have been firmer, closing at an advance on the week. New York has been quiet with exporters not buying for shipment. There has been very little busi-ness in white wheat is said to have been large, and would have been larger had railroads been able to furnish cars as wanted. This move-ment has been good but there has been no im-provement in the export demand and the visible supply, after a slight decrease in the preceding week, has again gained a considerable addition. The receipts of wheat as the seaboard ports for the week ended November 24, 1883, amounted to 748,000 bushels. The exports from the eastern seaboard ports during the same week amounted to 748,000 bushels. Nov. 18. Nov. 10. Just Too Sharp and Shrewd for Anything. It is almost invariably the case that when a cashier robs, or a clerk steals, or a treasurer defaults in any part of the country, he begs off by declaring that he speculated in Wall street and lost. It is therefore really refresh-ing to learn of a case in which Wall street was not to blame. It occurred in a town in Ohio the other day. The owner of a private bank discovered a shortage of $2,000 and "Yes, I took the money," was the calm "Not much ; I am just $12,000 ahead after paying you back. The money will be here by express at noon." "By George ! but you are a keener, Joejust too sharp and shrewd for anything. Put in $10,000 and become a partner; you are a Extraordinary Feats of Some Horses. <text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text> "Yes," said the reformed hostler, "I had a horse once that jumped over 200 feet on a GROCERIES. 'Did he make it in one jump?" said the mule driver. "Yes, he made in one jump," said the re-formed hostler, "and he'd a jumped 1,000 feet if they'd been there, as them was-pickled pig's feet in a barrel." "I drove a horse once," said the honest stage driver, "that jumped through a wall four feet thick." "Did it hurt the wall any?" said the re-formed hostler, insmustingly?" "No," said the honest stage driver, fierce-ly, "but it killed the horse." Iy, "but it killed the horse." "Talking of horse jumping," said the re-formed hostler, "we had a horse that jumped every fence on the farm, and wound up by trying to jump over his own tail." "Did he do it?" said the converted mule divisor "breathleasty" driver, 'breathlessly. ""No, he didn't," said the reformed host-Ben Butler Knows Beans When the Bag's Open. "Bah ! I hate Ben Butler," said Mrs. Topmoody. "Of course you do, because he decided that a woman was not 'a person,' under the sta-tutes, and was not eligible to office. You women want the earth, and if a man even asks for a lot to be buried in you kick about your rights. I like Butler, myself, for his suppres-Bion of women." Certainly you do. It's natural to like the qualities in other people which we do not ourselves possess. Butler doesn't know you nor me, does he ?" Of course he doesn't. What's that got "Of course he doesn't. What's that got to do with it !" "It's got just this much to do with it. If he knew you and knew me, you can bet your last dollar. Topnoody, that instead of saying a woman was not 'a person,' he would haves sworn she was several persons, and if a man was 'a person, under the statutes,' then the statutes were nugatory, void, and of none effect in the Topnoody family. Butler may be an old tool in some respects, but he has lived in Boston too long not to know heans lived in Boston too long not to know beans when the bag's open and he is looking square into it with his eyes skinned clear back and a full knowledge of the facts of the case falling all around him like rain-drops around a man Toppoody went down street to talk politics with a better subject, A man rushed hurriedly into a drug store, A man rushed harriedly into a drug store, with a scratch on his hand, exclaiming :-"For heaven's sake give me a drink of whis-key immediately.
