To be able to give gracefully is a rather unusual talent.

But to be able to receive gracefully is an infinitely rarer one. The childish prolonged squabbles ' hear so often in street cars over the payment of fares are an excellent example of the inability of many of us to accept a favor simply and gracefully.

To protest and make much fuss and feathers about receiving a favor seems to be the popular idea of gratitude As a matter of fact it is extremely bad taste to protest a favor that you know in your heart you will accept in the end. Accept promptly and simply. Say "Thank you" in the prettiest and most gracious way that you know how, but with as little fuss and feathers about receiving a favor seems to be the popular idea of gratitude.

I had the pleasure of meeting the other day a well-known woman of whose brilliance and charm I had long heard, and the thing which impressed me about her, even more than her witty conversation and her beauty, was the perfect graciousness and simplicity with which she accepted it when another member of the party offered her a more comfortable chair.

There is, of course, such a thing as the self-worship which accepts all favors simply and unprotestingly just because it looks upon them as tribute

But I do not mean that kind of simplicity. I mean the kind that seems to say, "You wish to do me a kindness. I thank you. I will try to honor you by accepting it as gra ciously as you give it, and some day I shall hope to have my turn at being

The blessedness and happiness of giving is not a moral fiction. It is a live fact To balk it by an ungererous reception is selfishness therefore.

I once knew a girl who for many years received an unusually good salary as a stenographer and had been lavishly generous with her earnings, doing good in every direction, and enjoying to the full the blessedness of giving. Reverses came to her. Her health gave way and she had to give up her position and go back to her home in the country.

Some of her friends and office mater thinking it was a good opportunity to do by her as she had done by others, got together and made up a purse which they planned to give her on her departure.

And she who had been indulging for years in the joy of giving refused to help others to do the same happi-

She indignantly refused the purse, saying that when she needed charity she would ask for it.

For, like many others, though pastmistress in the art of gracious giving, she did not know the A. B. C. of the art of receiving.

Just as it is far easier to look down upon anyone with dignity than to look un and still be dignified, so it is far easier to give with graciousness than to receive.

But as he who has the true dignity may maitain it, no matter how often the accident of height forces him to look up, so he who has the true graciousness may maintain it no matter how constantly the accident of position and possessions forces him to give rather than to receive.

month it makes the gentleness and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle. While in general no woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring period of pain.

Palpitation of the Heart.

One of the first danger signals that announce something wrong with the heart is the irregular or violent throb. Often there is only a fluttering sensation, or an "all gone" sinking feeling; or, again, there may be a most violent beating, with flushings of the skin, and visable pulsations of

There may also be experienced a smothering sensation, gasping, for breath, and feeling as though about

In all such cases the action of Dr. Bovel's Iron Tonic Pills in quieting the heart and restoring it to its normal beat, is, beyond all question marvellous, as our thousands of testimonials will show. Dr. Bovel's Iron Tonic Pills are sold by all druggists and dealers at 25c

Sydney Man Killed.

Sydney, July 16.-Frank Bezanson aged thirty-five, was instantly killed and three companions narrowly escaped meeting the same fate, in an auto accident near Cape Smoky, Ingonish, about eight o'clock last night. Mr. Bezanson, with Dr. Bruce, Sanford Shaver and Walter Hall, left Sydney on the steamer Marion last Thursday morning for Baddeck, taking Bezanson's auto with them for a trip through the western part of the island. They were on the return journey to Baddeck when the accident oc-dent is very narrow, there being only room enough for one team. Bezanson with Shaver was in the front seat and the former was driving. A large boulder was directly in their path on the inside of the road. Bazanson steered out to pass it but could not go far enough and the hind wheel passed over it, tilting the auto over the bank.

All four men were thrown out Bezanson was pinned between the good of the auto and a large block of concrete, and when found he was dead with his breast badly crushed. The other three men were injured, Shaver being the most fortunate, he falling in a tree when the machine

New York, July 16 .- As the steam er La Lorraine, which arrived to-day from Havre, was approaching the American coast on Wednesday morning, steaming through a dense fog, her passengers were startled by a sudden alarm, the stoppage of the ship's engines, and the hasty lowering of a lifeboat. It soon developed that one of the first cabin passengers, Miss Eleanor Koffman, had jumped overboard. In the thick fog the mission of the lifeboat seemed hopeless, but a search was kept up of the surrounding waters for a long time. The hunt was given up and the lifeboar To keep a dish of food hot for half was compelled to return to the ship's side without having discovered any Miss Koffman was 53 years of age and lived in New Jersey. She took passage with her sister, Sarah, and no one on the vessel noticed anything unusual about her during the voyage up to the time she took her fatal plunge. On the day before she spent her time quietly in her cabin and in the sitting room and in the library of the steamer, and appeared rational in every respect.
