At the House.

MONDAY, April 19th.
Petitions were presented by Mr. Targett asking for a sub-collector at Winterton; by Mr. Halfyard asking that Island Harbor be made a port of call for the S. S. Fogota; by Mr. Morine asking that the Dundee go to the public wharf at Valleyfield; by Mr. Parsons asking for $100 for road purposes; by Mr. Stone asking that Crowbe be made a port of call for the S. S. Prospero; and by Mr. Bennett re setting of trawls at Petty Harbor.

The Finance Minister tabled the Auditor General's reports.
The Colonial Secretary also tabled some reports.

Notice of Questions were given by Messrs. Jennings, Stone, Halfyard, Winsor, Bennett and Coaker.

Messrs. Cashin, Bennett and Woodford tabled information in answer to a few of the questions of the Opposition.

Mr. Abbott asked the Minister of Finance and Customs if the answer to his question regarding customs masters in Bonaville District was ready. The Minister replied in the negative.

Mr. Lloyd again called the attention of the Finance Minister to the question he had asked last Friday week as to the revenue derived from the increase in duties last March and last September.

The Minister of Finance again replied that the matter was in course of preparation.

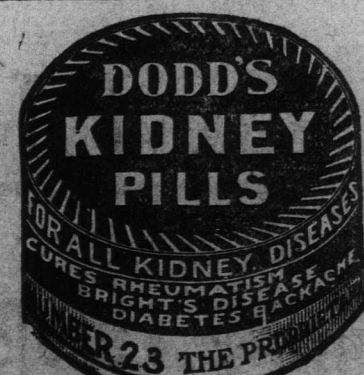

Mr. Lloyd then asked the Minister if he would kindly table any of the returns that had been prepared. He would like also to draw the Minister's attention to a rumour, which he assumed was absolutely without foundation, to the effect that orders had been given that certain financial questions asked from this side of the House had not to be answered.

Mr. Coaker hoped that information asked for would be furnished before the House goes into Supply. He further stated that lots of little birds were going about the road saying that certain questions asked by the Opposition were thrown into the waste paper basket.

The Minister of Finance said it was the first he had heard of it and that he was not going to stay up all night, as some of the questions asked required.

Mr. Lloyd retorted that he was perfectly satisfied with the assurance from the Minister that the rumour referred to was without foundation. He pointed out that the questions had been asked 10 days ago and that on Friday last he had asked for the tabling of any portion and the answers which were prepared. The information asked for was material not only to the House but to the Government situation.

The Finance Minister then asked he Speaker what was the ruling of the House on question matters.

Mr. Morine suggested that in view of unparalleled circumstances that a statement of the financial condition of the Colony should be produced first before going into Supply.

The Finance Minister said he did not see any sufficient reason for departing from the usual course. He was confident that when he came down with the estimates that the financial statement would satisfy.

Mr. Morine. It is not a question whether the estimates will satisfy the Finance Minister himself, but whether they will satisfy this House, and the country.

Order of the Day.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the Sealing Bill. A few of the clauses Mr. Coaker said he could see eye to eye with but some of the provisions he thought would be impracticable. He believed that it would be an impossibility to prevent crews from strapping seals after sunset. Regarding the panelling and fagging of seals, he suggested that seals should be taken aboard the same day that they are killed and whatever seals are left on the ice after six o'clock next morning should be destroyed.

President put before them would influence them to alter their opinions.

Mr. Halfyard next spoke endorsing the remarks of the previous speaker and said that there would be no friction if Capt. Kean had remained ashore this spring.

The Minister of Marine and Fisheries spoke briefly on the Bill, mentioning that it would be impossible to make a sealing law that would be faultless.

The Bill was then referred to the following Select Committee:—The Prime Minister, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, Mr. Coaker, Mr. Winsor, Mr. Moulton, Mr. Jennings and Mr. Young.

The House then went into Committee on Bill Relating to the Sale of Codfish on the Labrador Coast. Messrs. Morine, Piccott, Coaker and Currie debated the fixing of a price. The Bill passed the committee and will be read a third time to-day.

The Saw Mills Bill also passed the committee stage to be read a third time to-day.

The House went into Committee on Resolutions regarding the imposition of certain duties on the Estates of deceased persons.

The Prime Minister, Mr. Morine and Mr. Lloyd discussed some legal points of the Bill. The Committee rose and reported progress, asking leave to sit again to-day.

Mr. Morine moved that five members be appointed to investigate and report on the condition and management of the Penitentiary. The following special committee were named by the Speaker: Mr. Kent, Mr. Lloyd, Mr. Bennett, Mr. Emerson and Mr. Devereaux.

Mr. Morine gave notice of question re S. S. Terra Nova and arrest of men.

Dear Father and Mother,—Just a few lines hoping to find you all at home in good health as it leaves me at present. I expect you will be surprised to hear from me now. It is so long since I sent you a letter before. I am very proud to be able to tell you that we have been in action during the bombardment of the Dardanelles, but we were very lucky to escape without damage or loss of life. I may also say that we are giving them a warm time of it up there, and I expect by the look of things that they are likely to get some more of it before we are finished with them.

My oldest boy, Maurice, has been very sick for some time past, but I am glad to say that he is much better now.

And now dear parents, as I haven't much more news to tell you at present, I must bring this short letter to a close by wishing you all home all best wishes.

From your loving son,
MAURICE CULLEN.

[His father, Thomas Cullen, and his mother, Bridget Cullen, came here from Cork eight years ago. His father works at the Ropewalk and was himself a Naval Reservist for 30 years.—Ed.]

CHANGING FASHION.

The girls have grown weary of dresses so tight that a bystander leery said they were a fright. Their skirts were so scanty I often have wept, when sister and auntie around me have stepped. No one could be more helpless in pinions of steel, yet patient and yelpless they stood the ordeal; for women will suffer in silence and smile; they think 'twould be tougher to be out of style. No women have scampered or frolicked for years, their garments so hampered the lovable dears. But fashions are changing, and soon the wide gown, they say, will be ranging all over the town. Our Bessies and Annes may dig from the chest the gowns of their grannies and trot with the best. Their legs—beg your pardon! the limbs, I should say—will have a whole garden in which they may play. The fashion's improving distinctly, this year; like circus tents moving the girls will appear. And when we behold them in flounces and hoops, the skirts that enfold them in tassels and loops, we'll cry, "Moly Hoses! Is Fashion gone mad? She surely discloses the crassest fad!"

Suffered for More Than Two Years.

THEN JOSEPH GAGNE FOUND A
CURE IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Quebec Man Took His Wife's Advice And Is Now Enjoying a New Lease of Health.

Ste Marguerite Bay Mills, Saguenay Co., Que., April 19th. (Special).—"Yes you can tell the public of the great relief I got from Dodd's Kidney Pills." The speaker was Mr. Joseph Gagne, a well known resident of this place and he has every reason to be enthusiastic over the great Canadian Kidney remedy.

"For more than two years I suffered from kidney disease," Mr. Gagne continued. "It finally developed into pleurisy and I was a very sick man when my wife persuaded me to give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial."

"I took just three boxes and they made me well."

Dodd's Kidney Pills make their users enthusiastic because they not only cure the particular ailment aimed at but they spread good health all over the body. They do this by curing the kidneys. Cured kidneys strain all the impurities out of the blood. That means pure blood and new health all over the body.

TIGHTENING THE SAGGING MUS- CLES.

It is not only our emotions that find us out in the etchings on the face, but the high tension under which many of us live. As soon as the nerve face lags at any time, for reasons like worry or illness, the muscles begin to sag from tense condition and the flesh becomes pudgy and soft. Massage is the only remedy for this contingency.

Place the finger tips at the corners of the mouth, then press upward and outward over the cheeks, raising the tissues to the temples and across them. Again, at the base of the temples, lift the fingers and repeat the process, going around and around the cheeks with a firm upward stroke, and but gently touching at the downward movement. All the tips of the fingers may be used at the time.

Where the cheeks are sunken, the finger tips—that is, all of the fleshy portions—rotate in a gentle clawing motion; this will lift all the muscles of the cheeks. By placing the thumbs on the temples they serve as a sort of support and hold the hands in high position. The palms are used at last, going around and then cut across the temples.

In massaging the forehead only the balls of the fingers are employed, for the lines extending horizontally across, place the finger tips in the centre, drawing them toward the temples. Never rub in the reverse direction, as this encourages the wrinkles which you are trying to efface. Taking the two fore fingers and working together in a serpentine movement, one going up, the other down, is another excellent movement.

Ill health and neglect frequently leave the skin around the eyes in a sallow wrinkled condition. This spoils the beauty of the most expressive eyes. For massaging the eyelid, very delicate must be the touch. Close and relax the eyelid, then with the ball of the first and second finger, starting at the innermost corner of the lid next to the nose, draw the fingers across outward to the temples, gliding over the balls, but not pressing on them. Lift the fingers at the temples and repeat the movement.

In treating the lines under the eyes, press lightly downward and outward toward the temples, also rub a circular movement surrounding the eyes, lifting the skin up a bit under the eyebrows. Use a little pressure for this, but in completing the circle merely allow the finger to touch for the downward movement. Then alternate this by gliding over all the eyelids to the temples, using the first finger for the work.
