"Be a Sport."

RUTH CAMERON.

"I drank a cocktail for the first time in my life last night." I thought a young girl say the other day.
"How did you happen to?" I thought you didn't like that sort of thing?"
"Well, I, there were four of us, and the other three took them.
At first I said I didn't want any, then they all urged me and said 'Be a sport,' and I hated to be a wet blanket, so I did."
"Be a sport"—did ever three words do more harm than these?
A "Sport" Means Two Different Things.
What is a sport?
That's the crux of the whole matter, and the reason why so many follies are committed in the effort to play up to that exhortation.
The word "sport" has been used as a sort of catch-word to suggest the idea of gameness and courage, of pluck and the square deal. Kipling describes a sport in this sense in his—
"If you can make one heap of all your winnings
And risk it on one turn of pitch and toss,
And lose and start again at your beginning,
And never breathe a word about your loss!"
That is an ideal to which anyone may well thrill.
A Cheap Sport is the Opposite of a True Sport.
But—and here's the rub—when you say "Be a sport," to urge us to do things against which some instinct warns us, it isn't that kind of a sport they mean. They may think it is, but it isn't. It's a cheap sport they are asking us to be, and a cheap sport is exactly the opposite of a real sport.

Which would have shown the greater courage, the greater gameness, for that girl to stick to her principles or to yield them up for fear of what others would think?
She would have been a real sport if she had stuck to her guns in the face of the enemies' fire.

The Qualities A Real Sport Should Possess.

The umpire once decided a point in favor of May Sutton, the tennis player, when she herself felt sure she did not deserve it. Whereupon she deliberately served two bad balls.
That's my idea of a sport in the finest sense of the word.

And that's the only kind of a sport you need to be afraid not to be.

The courage of your convictions, a true sense of honor, a passionate love of the square deal. These are the qualities of a true sport. When people urge you to "be a sport" just test the thing they want you to do by these standards.

"When making gifts for a bride should her present or her future initial be used?" asked Gladys.

"Wedding gifts to a bride should be marked with her maiden name, or initial. Some folks consider it unlucky to mark them with the bride's maiden name or initials," replied her aunt.

Diocesan Synod.

OPENING SESSION.

The twenty-second Session of the Diocesan Synod opened on July 4th. The preliminary service was held in the Cathedral on Tuesday morning, at 7.30 when a celebration of the Holy Communion was celebrated. The Bishop was the Celebrant being assisted by Revs. Canon Noel, Brinton and Stamp.

At 7.30 p.m. Evensong and Sermon. The Rev. Canon Smart occupied the pulpit and delivered a most instructive sermon which was based on the words "And they found Him in the midst of the Doctors both hearing them and asking them questions."

At the close of the sermon most of the congregation went to the Synod Hall, where the Bishop took the chair at 9.30, after the singing of the Veni Creator and prayers recited by His Lordship; 62 clergy and 80 lay delegates answered their names at roll call.

The officers were then elected as follows:

Clerical Secretary—Rev. Canon Bolt. Lay Secretary—Hon. Robt. Watson. His Lordship the Bishop appointed Rev. G. Maidment and Messrs. W. R. Stirling, Reg. Dowden and H. Hayward to prepare a synopsis of the proceedings for the daily papers.

His Lordship then arose and delivered one of the most brilliant and forcible addresses it has ever been the privilege of most of us present to have listened to; couched in choice and eloquent diction, it was read in the Bishop's own inimitable style. To attempt a bare outline in a report of this kind would indeed give a poor idea of the genius for thought which it contained. From exhortation to peroration the Bishop for over an hour held the closest attention of all present. His reference to the War and the tragic death of Lord Kitchener was dealt with in sublime language. He spoke feelingly of the part Newfoundland was taking in the great struggle for right and justice, and the need of earnest prayer and intercession not only for the bereaved ones but for all who have fallen and paid the supreme sacrifice.

The next part of the address dealt with the condition of our own Diocese and the work performed by His Lordship since the last Biennial Session. Referring to the Prohibition Campaign the Bishop said Temperance workers must not rest satisfied with having secured the placing of the Act on the Statute Book, but they must see that it is enforced.

The subject of the proposed amalgamation of our Diocese with the Canadian Church was also touched upon and the correspondence read which passed between himself and the Archbishop of Nova Scotia on the momentous proposal.

As soon as the Bishop had finished, Sir W. Horwood arose and on behalf of the Synod asked the permission of His Lordship to have the Address printed in the Journal of Proceedings, which was granted.

The Rt. Rev. President then gave several notices and announced that His Excellency the Governor and Lady Davidson had invited the members of the Synod to a reception and garden party at Government House on Saturday afternoon.

After the Benediction by the Bishop and the singing of the National Anthem the Session adjourned.

SECOND DAY, July 5.

Pursuant to adjournment the Rt.

Rev. President took the chair at 3.30 this afternoon and opened the proceedings with the usual prayers, 48 clergy and 31 lay delegates were present at roll call.

The minutes were read, passed and signed by the President.

The following reports were received and adopted: By Canon Bolt, the Report of the Council of Queen's College; by W. R. Stirling, Report of the Statistical Committee; by J. W. Withers, Report of the Clergy Sustentation Fund; by Canon Field, Report of Committee on Sunday Schools.

Canon Bolt presented the Report of the Executive Committee which on motion was received.

Mr. W. W. Blackall presented the Report of Committee on Education, and notice of motion was given regarding this Report.

Mr. L. L. Colley gave notice of motion relative to Lay-Readers.

The meeting adjourned at 5.15.

EVENING SESSION.

The Lord Bishop took the chair at 7.30 and opened with prayer.

Forty-one clergy and forty-six lay delegates were present.

Rev. Canon Bolt moved the adoption of the Executive Committee's Report, and explained the different sections. The various funds of the Church occupied the attention of the Synod during the sitting and the financial standing of the different funds called to their feet the following members, viz: Rev. Canon Smart, Rev. Holland, A. F. Butler, Nicholas Britnell, President, Canon Noel and Messrs. Withers, Grieve, Watson, W. W. Blackall and Miller; all the speakers expressed their opinions as to increasing the funds from different standpoints, and at the closing hour the debate was only beginning to wax interesting, and had to be adjourned till the Evening Session to-morrow.

Notice of motion by Hon. R. Watson regarding the adoption of all present.

An invitation from Major Montgomerie to the clergy to visit the Headquarters of the Newfoundland Regiment was read by the Bishop.

The Rt. Rev. President closed Session with the Benediction at 10.15.

THURSDAY, July 6.

Pursuant to adjournment His Lordship the Bishop took the chair at 3.30 p.m. and opened the proceedings with the usual prayers.

At roll call 47 clergy and 30 lay delegates responded.

Minutes of last session read, passed and signed by the Rt. Rev. President. Rev. C. H. Barton presented Report of Committee on the Ordination Candidates Fund; received.

Revs. W. J. Higgett and Canon Smart gave notices of motion.

The remainder of the session was taken up with a discussion on the Resolution of Mr. L. L. Colley re Lay-Readers, and a spirited debate ensued which brought out much valuable information as to the work performed by these faithful church workers. Quite a number of the clergy and laity participated in the discussion.

The session adjourned at 5.15.

EVENING SESSION.

The Synod resumed at 7.30 with the Lord Bishop presiding who recited the usual prayers.

Forty-six clergy and fifty-four lay delegates were present at roll call. The whole of the evening was taken up with a lively discussion in connection with the management of Bishop Spencer Lodge, and when the debate closed the hour for adjournment having arrived no new business was taken up.

The Bishop announced that the election of the Executive Committee would take place to-morrow (Friday) evening at 9 o'clock.

Several notices by the Rt. Rev. President, the pronouncing the Benediction and the singing of the National Anthem brought the meeting to a close at 10 o'clock.

Portia Back.

Reports Damage to Fishing Property by Storm—Many Deaths from Measles.

The s.s. Portia, Capt. Joe Kean, arrived back from western ports last night, bringing the following first class passengers: Rev. R. F. Morcer; Messrs. C. T. James, M. Kelly, J. Power; Mrs. W. J. Rose; Misses F. Riggs, J. Rose, B. Rose, M. Pike, H. Reeves, J. McDonald, T. Walsh. During the trip the ship went to the assistance of the stranded grain steamer Arachne which was successfully refloated, as already referred to.

When the Portia was passing that way on Tuesday last the damaged steamer was still at St. Pierre Roads being surveyed and it is yet undecided whether she will proceed to New York or Halifax for repairs.

The fishery along the South coast is not as good as it looked at the outset of the voyage. On Thursday of last week a severe storm, which lasted two days, raged and did considerable damage to traps, especially around Bargo and vicinity. As a consequence the fishery has practically ceased, so far as trapping is concerned, because all the damaged twine had to be taken out of the water for repairs. There is a sign of squall in and around Poughkeepsie.

It has been ascertained that the outbreak of disease in the interior of Pines, supposed to be unknown and which wrought such disastrous results, is measles of a virulent type. Some 14 or 15 deaths have occurred, we hear, the victims being principally adults.

Mary Shows Up

an Injustice

AND ASKS FOR A REMEDY AT ONCE.

To the Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—You will have to pardon me for once more presuming to tell the public something I feel sure they are not acquainted with, and something they will not tolerate when they do know it, unless they are forced to "grin and bear it" until election fall, when they will resent it, and that with a fair "hit" right out from the shoulder.

You know, Mr. Editor, we all love fair play, and when a chap comes to go up the rounds of the ladder of life his ambition is to go as far up as possible, and it is only fair play for him to strive to keep ahead of all who take the ladder after him.

Well, Mr. Editor, we have in our Post Office here a man who has been there from his boyhood days, about sixteen years ago. He commenced as a letter carrier, and has worked his way up, until now after, as I said, eleven years of faithful service, he is receiving the magnificent (?) sum of $220 a year, or $55 a quarter. This man has a wife and family to support on that sum with the cost of living high as it is at present. He has repeatedly asked for the "rise" that is due him for faithful service, but still nothing better has been offered him.

A short time ago a man was waited for a boat carrying mails to the northward, and a "green-horn" was taken out of our streets and given the position, at no doubt a good salary, while the man with eleven years experience had to be content to stay and put up with his $55 a quarter.

The man who was given the position is a member of our Elective Road Board, and a friend and follower of the powers that be, and that is one reason why he was placed in this responsible position, inexperienced though he be, while as I said before the man who has had eleven years experience is left with his miserably small salary and his request for an increase ignored.

Now, Mr. Editor, is this British fair play? I think not, and I would like to draw the attention of the Postmaster General to this state of affairs. Our Post Office officials are the hardest worked Government officials we have. Their hours are long, from 7 in the morning to 6 in the evening at least.

I would also like to draw the attention of our two members for the District, Mr. Piccott and Mr. Young, to this injustice—Mr. Parsons is already acquainted with the matter I refer to.

There is an old saying that the laborer is worthy of his hire. Then I think that the man above referred to is worth very much more than he is receiving.

Probably there are others in the Postal service who are honestly striving to do their work faithfully and well, and they will agree with me that it is a poor way to appreciate their services by taking a political hanger-on from the street and placing him in a position where experience should be the first essential.

When a lad enters the service of the Postal or any other department he invariably does so with the thought of advancing himself as far as possible, but after serving for 11 years to be treated as the young man above referred to is treated is almost unbearable.

One cannot help wondering if this practice is carried on in other parts of the Island, and if so a remedy should be found at once. For might not this be the cause of the many cases of dishonesty we read of in connection with the Postal Department from time to time? It is cruel to place temptation in a man's way by keeping him in a position of trust and responsibility at such a miserable remuneration.

Hoping the authorities will enquire into the case above referred to and others if there are others, and remedy them.

I remain yours, etc.

Mr. Grace, July 5, 1916. MARY.
