THE TOUCH.

Love, when I touch your hand,
I know that you understand!

Just a tender touch—
So little, yet so much!

The speech of heart to heart
That has no counterpart!

RAIN.

We love rain. We love rain. We simply adore rain. There are people —so we have heard—who do not like rain. We cannot understand how there can be. It seems to us that there must be something wrong with the individual with whom rain is not one delight after another. This heavenly liquid descends in torrents and flushes the streets and washes the people. It is a most beautiful sight to see the pretty little drops falling to the ground with a cute little "plop" and who has not tasted of the pleasure of a delightfully cool drop trickling down his neck, as the leaky umbrella failed to keep it out? Surely there breathes not the man with soul so dead that he cannot regard with sentimental contemplation drop after drop, bucketful after bucketful, barrel after barrel, lake after lake and ocean after ocean of rain falling, falling, falling! If there breathes such an one we cannot blame the poet for bewailing the departure from the human breast and councils the sentiment and romance that once were ours. Of course, when we refer to the delights of rain, we mean those of other countries. They are not intended to apply here. Personally, when it rains here, we take the quickest turn to our Cubum Edi-torium sanctum, where we remain until the last solitary drop has fallen, been absorbed and forgotten. Yes, verily, friends, rain is delight piled on delight.—The C.E.

RECIPROCATION.

Two sailors, an Irishman and a Scotchman, could never agree, and the rest of the crew had become adepts in starting them on an argument. One day "Patron Saints" was the subject of which the Scotchman knew nothing and the Irishman just a little.

"Who was the patron saint of Ireland?" said Jack.

"Do you mean to say you don't know?" said Pat. "Why, the holy St.
Patrick."

"Well," said Jack in deliberate tones, "hang your St. Patrick."

In a towering rage the Irishman hesitated a second while he thought of something equally offensive, and then burst out with "And hang your Harry Lauder!"

SAY IT SWIFTLY.

Sally Simon saw Sadie Sies Slowly, sadly swinging.

"She seems sorrowful," said she.
So she started singing.

Sadie smiled; soon swiftly swung;
Sitting straight, steeved stuffy.

"So," said Sally, "something sung Scatters sunshine swiftly."

PERHAPS SHE'S RIGHT.

The Hero Worshipper: "There goes Mrs. Tompkins' 'usband! 'E's one of the old 'contemptibles'."

The Cynic: "All 'usbands are contem-ptibles."

MOHAMMAD SMALL EATER.—Mohammad was abstemious. A handful of dates and a mouthful of water were all the food he required for a hard day's work.

WORLD'S BIGGEST NEEDLE.— Cleopatra's Needle, the famous obelisk on the Thames Embankment, London, is one solid piece of stone, seventy feet high and one hundred and eighty-six tons in weight.

WHAT OLD TZE SAID.—The good I would meet with goodness, the notgood I would also meet with goodness.
—Lao Tze, the Chinese moralist.

THEY MADE HIM BLUSH.

Bring a curate, of course he was shy.

The other Sunday, after service, two fair members of his congregation persuaded him to see them home; and after desperately dragging his brain for a topic to converse upon, he said to the girl on his right hand:—

"What is your favourite hymn?"

"The girl answered coyly:—

"Draw me nearer."

The curate blushed furiously, and at that moment the other girl said:—

"That is only the chorus; the commencement of the verse is 'I am Thine.'"

Then the curate ran hard enough to put the wind to shame.

HE DIDN'T WANT MOSS.

Lady: "Why don't you go to work?
Don't you know that a rolling stone gathers no moss?"

Tramp: "Madam, not to evade your question at all, but merely to obtain information, may I ask what practical utility moss is to a man in my condition?"

Woolworth, the American millionaire who has just died, employed 25,000 assistants and had nearly 2,000 shops in this country and the States. Yet his initial capital was $1, his mom-moth business being built up on the simple idea of a shop where prices would range from 2½d. to 5s., but no higher.—English Paper.

THE ONLY EXPLANATION.

Lady Visitor: "Remember, my good man, that stone walls do not a prison make, nor from bars a cage."

Convict: "Well, they've got me hyperthesised then, that's all."

ENLARGING THE DICTIONARY.

Recent developments in aeronautics have added about two hundred words to our vocabulary, someone has estimated. And that's as large a vocabulary as some persons possess.

TELLING A GIRL'S AGE.

Most girls of a marriageable age do not like to tell their age, but you can find out if you follow the subjoined instructions, the young lady doing the figuring. Tell her to put down the number of the month in which she was born, then to multiply it by 2, then to add 5, then to multiply it by 50, then to add her age; then to subtract 365, then to add 115. Then tell her to tell you the result. The two figures at the right will denote her age, the remainder the number of the month in which she was born. For example, say the number is 322; She is 22 years old, and was born in the 8th month, August. Try it.

(In reference to the above, we would sincerely advise that the gentleman trying to find out the young lady's age should be careful not to let the lady suspect what he is trying to find out, otherwise—

Result can well be imagined! Further, if he should see any signs of dawning suspicion, see how quickly he can get through the door.—The C.E.]

DOWN IN THE MOUTH.

"Haven't you any milk that is more cheerful than this?" queried the new boarder as he poured some of the liquid into his coffee.

"Why, what do you mean by that?"
asked the landlady.

"Oh, nothing," rejoined the new boarder; "only this milk seems to have the blues."

MUSN'T POIN AT SHIPS.—Sailors consider it very unlucky to point towards another ship. You may nod towards it, or indicate its presence otherwise, but don't point!

WHEN BOYS GIGGLE.—

To be really well dressed a woman must be so attired that small boys will stand still to giggle at her.
This saying is attributed to Monsieur Poiret, one of the noted Parisian dressmakers.

PA WAS AMUSED.

Little Bo: "Please doctor, will you come and see father at once?"

Doctor: "What is the matter with father?"

Little Bo: "He can't stop laughing, sir."

Doctor: "Whatever is he laughing at?"

Little Bo: "Mother's caught her tongue in the mangle."

GUESS HE'S RIGHT.

The creator of "Sherlock Holmes" predicts an uprising in England if food profiteering and other methods of beating the consumer out of his dollars are not abandoned. And Conan Doyle is something of a prophet, too.

SEEKING INFORMATION.

Young Mother: "He is somewhat cross to-day. He is teething."

Old Bachelor (in great awe of the mite of humanity): "And when do you expect him to commence—er—commence—hairing?"

BETTER UNSAID.

A bitter jest, when it comes too near the truth, leaves a sharp sting behind it.—Tacitus.

HOWEVER YOU TAKE IT.

What three words did Adam use when he introduced himself to Eve, which read backward and forward the same? "Madam, I'm Adam."

LIKE TO BE TOLD.—

Of course, your girl knows how sweet she is, but she likes to hear you say it.

THE EXPLANATION.

Waiter: "Yes, sir."

Guest: "But I've found a tooth in it."

Waiter: "Well, I don't know, sir, but I reckon that ox must 'ave been bitting 'is tail."

So much for to-day. Hope to meet you again to-morrow.—The Cub Editor.

2. Thou shalt lighten dark rooms by the use of light-hued, yellow-tinted wall paper, that suggests the blessed sunshine.

3. Thou shalt see that thy walls and thine own personality are not to forward, but modestly retiring.

4. Thou shalt use no large-patterned wall papers against which to hang thy pictures. The one will kill the other.

5. Thou shalt have no centerpiece or cornerpieces upon thy ceiling, but only a very nearly plain expanse of light color.

6. Thou shalt have thy fill of bright tints, and delicate designs for bedrooms and boudoirs, but for drawing-rooms, dining-rooms, libraries and halls, thou shalt be compelled to use less frivolous papers.

7. Thou shalt, when the ceiling is not too high, run the paper of the side wall up to the ceiling, putting the border just below the angle.

8. Thou shalt not panel the walls of a small room, except it be above a mantelpiece, a sideboard or a bookcase, where a bit of tapestry, a mirror or a picture may be held in place by moulding.

9. Thou shalt use attention-compelling cut out borders, or conventionally designed strips for divisions between walls and ceiling.

10. Thou shalt remember at all times that thy wall paper is but a background against which to show thy pictures, thy furniture, and thy friends.
