Conservatives in the municipality were taking steps to protest against the names of several parties who were put on the assessment roll, with a view of reducing the Reform vote. They managed the matter very quietly for a time, but their object was seen through when the notice of protest was entered. The Reformers, not to be behind hand in this matter, also set to work, and sent in a number of protests on the last day but one on which such notices could be given. The consequence was that there was a regular field day at the meeting on Monday. No less than 85 names were objected, to who were held to be either not freeholders, leaseholders, or within the meaning of the act, legal ratepayers, and consequently not legal voters. Mr. Munro of Fergus, acting as law agent on behalf of the Reformers, and Mr. Vincent of the same place, in behalf of the Conservatives.

The Court was engaged the whole day in considering these cases, and in the early part of it a good deal of wrangling took place. Latterly, however, matters got on more smoothly, a good few names were taken off the roll, a number were retained, and several cases were left over for further consideration.

The Conservatives thought they would steal a march on the Reformers in this matter, but the latter were too wide awake for their Tory friends, discovered their little game in time, and met them with their own weapons. So far the numbers taken off the roll are about equal on both sides. So far, we believe, the decisions of the Court have been on the whole satisfactory, and we hope they will continue to mete out equal justice to both sides, and leave only those names on the roll which have a right to be there. The more care that is taken with the voter's list, the less trouble will there be when an election takes place.

Messrs. Cass and Marston, of L'Orignal, are about entering a criminal action against the Ottawa Citizen for publishing gross libels concerning the maple sugar manufactured at that place. Incalculable injury has been done to an important local industry.

DR. WHEELER'S ELIXIR OF PHOSPHATES and GALLIC ACID.—After having used your Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Gallia for over two years in my daily practice, I must give it my unqualified approbation. During a practice of over twenty years, I have used many scientifically prepared compounds, made to fulfil the same therapeutical indications as your Elixir, but none of them proved with me as valuable as yours. To the medical profession and the public, I would especially recommend it as the best remedy with which I am acquainted for the successful treatment of the large and constantly increasing class of cases of over-worked and nerve-exhausted women.

Yours truly,
N. WATKINS PHEL, M.D.
