

MANY W. O. GAS MEN GOING TO HAMILTON

Will Attend Annual Convention of N. G. and P. A. of Canada.

CHATHAM, Oct. 20.—A large representation of natural gas companies from Western Ontario will be present in Hamilton on Friday next when the third annual convention of the Natural Gas and Petroleum Association of Canada will be held in the Royal Connaught Hotel. S. A. Morse, secretary-treasurer of the association, in a statement Wednesday said that the attendance this year will be considerably larger than in previous years, as the membership is now close to 140 gas and oil companies.

The Union Natural Gas Company will be represented by General Manager F. W. James, General Superintendent E. C. Steele, Chief Accountant G. J. Oldershaw, J. McKee, George Robinson and Charles Klopfer. P. S. Coats will represent the Chatham Gas Company; R. L. Pattinson, the Central Pipe Line Gas Company; T. P. Pinckard, the Windsor Gas Company; J. B. Williams, the Sarnia Gas Company.

Samuel S. Wyer, a natural gas expert of Columbus, Ohio, will give an interesting talk; E. C. Steel of Chatham will give a paper on "Distribution Problems"; a member of the northwest staff of the Imperial Oil Company staff will give an illustrated lecture on the oil development in the northern oil fields, and "A History of Natural Gas in Southwestern Ontario," prepared by Messrs. P. S. Coats, F. W. James, T. P. Pinckard and S. A. Morse, will be read by the former.

LIVED 67 YEARS IN GALT.

GALT, Oct. 20.—Another old resident has passed away in the person of James McDougall, 13 Harris street, in his 92nd year. Deceased was born in Kelso, Scotland. He came to Canada and Galt, where he has resided ever since, in 1854. He was a great checker player until two weeks ago, when he was taken ill. Four daughters, one son, and one brother, Thomas McDougall of this city, survive.

There is a movement on foot among the manufacturers to hold a "Made-in-Galt" fair in the very near future.

W. J. Davidson, Sr., of Ottawa, father of Rev. M. B. Davidson, pastor of Central Presbyterian Church, died in Ottawa on Wednesday.

SACRIFICE LIVES TO SAVE MEN ON BURNING VESSEL

Freighter William S. Wolfe
Beached On Rocks in River St. Clair.

MARINE CITY, Mich., Oct. 20.—With the charred bodies of her first mate, Edward Henry, of Detroit, and Wheelman Anthony Smith of Ashland, Wisconsin, on board the big lake and river freighter, William S. Wolfe, which was blackened hulk, is beached on the rocks off Fawn Island in the St. Clair River, just opposite Sombra, Ontario, the result of a fire which broke out on the ship last night.

The survivors, who are being cared for at the Colonial Hotel here, credit the dead with performing deeds of heroism. The equal of which has seldom been seen, even by old sailors who have weathered many a terrible storm on the Great Lakes.

Shortly after leaving Port Huron, downward bound, fire broke out on the ship. Flashed by a fast gate, the blaze sealed the ship's doom before an effort could be made to halt the blaze.

"Run her onto Fawn Island," shouted Captain J. P. Hanson of Detroit. Wheelman Smith obeyed although even then the smoke and flames were rapidly encircling him.

The freighter was beached, and simultaneously the boats were lowered, and most of the crew leaped into them. Henry saw that all their comrades put away safely from the flaming ship. Captain Hanson was the last to leave for safety. He only leaped to save his life when he could no longer stand the terrible heat in doing so he fractured both legs.

Not until they had reached land did the crew learn that Henry and Smith had stuck to their posts.

Henry leaves a wife and children in Detroit and Smith a sister in Ashland, Wis.

The burned vessel had plied the lakes for years. In winter she laid up at Houghton, Mich., and in the trading season called at Port Arthur, Fort William and Detroit. She was owned by Detroit and Port Huron. Just prior to leaving on the disastrous voyage she had discharged a load of pulpwood at the latter port.

Three Survivors From
Wolfe Reach Sarnia

SARNIA, Oct. 20.—Three Sarnia men, members of the ill-fated freighter William S. Wolfe of Detroit, which burned to the water's edge at Sombra today returned to Sarnia tonight following their rescue from the burning ship.

The men saved and who reside here, are: K. Termeria, George Taylor and W. Wallburg. Well known in Sarnia, Edward Henry, first mate, a resident of Detroit, and Anthony Smith, a former resident of Toronto, lost their lives when their escape was cut off and they were burned to death aboard the burning freighter which sailed from Port Huron on Wednesday.

BAPTISTS INSIST ON SEPARATION POLICY.

resolution, as in the past, should be adopted until everyone has a clear interpretation of the same.

An amendment referring the resolution back to the committee was subsequently adopted, with Rev. Mr. Leichter's name added to the latter group.

The resolution in question urged that the pastors of the convention and their congregations use every means to arouse proper interest in the League of Nations Society of Canada, while encouragement be given to the study of international relations from a religious viewpoint. This did not include, it was explained, that endorsing in the League of Nations covenant be approved.

Objects To Coupling.

Rev. Mr. Leichter based his objection on the fact that the United States was coupled with Russia, Germany and Austria-Hungary.

"That association is perfectly correct in some ways," he contended, "but distinctly wrong in others. The United States is not to be associated with that other trinity. I consider the resolution dangerous and probably objectionable to many."

"A new era has dawned for educational and denominational activity," asserted A. L. McCrimmon, M. A., LL.D., chancellor of McMaster University, and president-elect of the convention, upon assuming formally the latter office at Thursday's gathering.

"With my departure today," he continued, "I want to leave two thoughts with you. The first is, your responsibility. I recall the recent words of President Harding, who by the way is a faithful Baptist, when speaking of Anglo-Saxon solidarity, 'I am not so impressed by Anglo-Saxon achievements as by Anglo-Saxon responsibilities of the hour.'"

"My other thought is that there is always the pressing danger of being lifted to enthusiasm but neglecting to link up with practical enterprise. There is always the danger of burning out the fuse of spiritual conviction."

Vice-Presidents Speak.

C. S. Moore, first vice-president-elect and retiring president, when next introduced by Chairman McCrimmon, declared "that the reception accorded him was worth coming from California to receive." He expressed heartfelt pleasure to be a lieutenant under Dr. McCrimmon.

Dr. Graham, second vice-president-elect, urged greater evangelism for 1922, emphasizing his warning that nothing but "an exposition of the Word of God can solve the many intricate problems that must be solved." In order to give adequate expression to their feelings as to the choice of officers, the assembled delegates joined in "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow."

"There is one phase of unrest that I reason to be desirable and welcome," Dr. J. R. Stillwell, missionary on furlough from India, declared Thursday afternoon. "Show me the nation," he continued, "where no unrest to any degree is discernible and I'll show you a country that is either perfect or stagnant. Unrest is created by the people endeavoring to break through certain conditions they have been caught in and what is prevalent in other places is quite apparent in India."

"Once known as that 'unperturbable, unblinking and unchanging East,' those forces of unrest, one of the results of the great war, are breaking ground in India. Its state of total isolation has ended and although conditions are far from being normal, great hope is extended for the future."

"In the past India's crystallization of ancient forms, castes and other things has seemed to make her impregnable. Other nations have changed and intermingled, but these vast millions have remained outside.

Transformation Is Great.

"Nevertheless, a great transformation is in progress, and India is being gradually reduced to a proper state for re-molding. Educational achievements are on the increase, and the teaching in the schools and colleges is quietly eating the heart of paganism."

"There are, of course, extremists in India, as elsewhere, and super-extremists—men of unbalanced judgment who have been expounding to their own undoing. You have all heard of Mahatma Gandhi, head of the non-co-operative movement in India, and the one who advises passive resistance to the British Empire."

"He is sold by his followers to be somewhat of a saint, but he has been accomplishing much wrong. Although he has never been prosecuted by the British authorities, he is liable to be today really mean: 'Give us light, His program of 'passive resistance' includes the boycotting of schools, courts and foreign goods. Concerning the former he has been largely unsuccessful."

Britain has said his endeavors are absurd. Do not be alarmed; the British Government cannot be stampeded in India or elsewhere. (Applauded.) The great religious educational enterprise is going on as well. India's great philosophical religious class has made the big discovery, and its great unrest of today really means: 'Give us light, we do not want to live in the dark!'"

Need Medical Missionaries.

Urging increased medical missionaries for the Far East, Mrs. (Dr.) Chute, who with her husband is also on furlough from India, declared that a few days since in Toronto she counted twelve doctors' plates on one building on College street. "If they really seek employment," she said, "let them come to India. I know of one doctor who cried because she had too many patients. Is that the usual case here?"

A pleasing and appropriate incident marked the conclusion of Mrs. Chute's address. In, on behalf of the ladies of the church, Mrs. Rinsse tendered her a substantial cash presentation.

Explaining "Why He Was Going to Bolivia," H. E. Wintemute, B.A., pastor of the Weston Baptist Church, who leaves in December for that country, stated that it was because he had been convinced that South America was a problem to be solved by North America alone.

The tenth annual report of the Baptist Foreign Mission Board of Canada, submitted to the convention Thursday afternoon, revealed the fact that two foreign missions are now maintained; one in India with twenty-two stations, and one in Bolivia with four.

One hundred and ten men and women comprise the personnel of these posts. They are assisted by seven hundred native preachers and teachers. H. E. Stillwell, general secretary of the mission board, presented the report.

Elect New Officers.

The following officers were elected Thursday: Church edifice board, O. Masters, Weston; Rev. W. F. Roadhouse, Toronto; Rev. J. L. Sloat, Niagara Falls; publication board, F. L. Ratcliffe, Toronto; Dr. Wallace, Montreal; Prof. W. McLeay, Toronto.

The increased cost of paper, the difficulty in securing it, the printers' strike, high wages, and a general advance in the cost of production, were included in the annual report of the board of publication, as the principal reasons why the year's profit failed to exceed the sum of $56.88.

That even this showing was made is deemed gratifying. In moving the adoption of the report, J. H. Pettit, Toronto, entered an earnest plea for increased patronage.

Moving the adoption of the 54th annual report of the church edifice board, Rev. W. F. Roadhouse, Boon Street Church, Toronto, deplored the great lack of interest and identification of this branch of endeavor.

"They tell me," he explained, "that down in the press gallery at Ottawa the reporters have a list of a dozen

Anthracite Prices

AS dealers in Anthracite we wish we could reduce prices. But we can't. The causes of high Anthracite prices are higher costs of LABOR and higher FREIGHT RATES—both fixed by law—not higher PROFITS.

Neither producers nor coal dealers are making any more money than they made when prices were lower. The increased price ALL pay to pay higher costs of production and transportation.

How, then, can prices be reduced?

It is wise to lay in your winter's supply now rather than wait until thousands of consumers are trying to have their coal bins all filled at the same time.
