BIG BEND IN SAN FRANCISCO

By the arrival yesterday of the Del Norte we find that the excitement in California about Big Bend increases as the spring advances. From present indications, according to some of the passengers who arrived yesterday, the California exodus to Big Bend will reach, the ensuing season, at least ten thousand men, half of whom are expected to sail by Portland, and risk the long and expensive line of travel rather than make their journey through British territory. The prejudice against both Vancouver Island and Baitish Columbia is so strong along the Pacific coast that nothing short of a complete revolution in the Government and legislation of both colonies will remove the ban that lies upon them. Yet at the present critical condition of affairs we have the Legislative Council, instead of forwarding the liberal measures of the Assembly, instead of abolishing imprisonment for debt, passing the Homestead Bill, and carrying out the other popular schemes which have been introduced by the majority of the House, fiddling away like so many superane | there are few productions of the earth that nuated Neros. With all our Big Bend attractions-with all our bright prospects the current year-there is enough dead-weight and stolidity about the Upper House to sink the country ninety fathoms deep. We have arrived, we sincerely believe, at the most critical period in the history of these colonies -a period that will decide in very quick time whether it is worth anybody's while to remain in the colony. Everything at present looks favorable-population promises to come in quantities that will test the capacity of Victoria to supply it-even the old Victorians who left the country, and are at present residing in California, are coming back. The news from the mines is more glowing than ever, and the people were never since 1862 more hopeful; all that is required, we firmly believe, to enable both colonies to reap the golden harvest, and to lay a stable foundation for their prosperity, is liberal and enlightened legislation.

The Del Norte, owing to her high fares, did not bring up as many passengers as were anticipated, a circumstance which the country has no reason to regret, for it is too early by at least a fortnight for any general rush of miners. The Oregon steamers are, however, travelling at very low rates, and consequently taking very large numbers of passengers. By the Montana, the steamer which started prior to the sailing of the Del Norte, fifty passengers booked themselves for Big Bend, and the next steamer was expected to be crowded. Nothing we believe will prove more prejudicial to the Oregon route than this; for it will be absolute misery to all those who attempt o reach the mines at this season of the year by the Columbia river. There is, in the first place, the dreary, obstructed and expensive line of travel for the miner ; and in the second place, the difficulty of getting up provisions. As things at present stand passengers can Mr. Brown, contended for Reciprocity by start from San Francisco, via Victoria, a fortnight later than by way of Portland and it were left to the legislative tinkering of the respective Houses, we would never have reach Big Bend sooner, at less than threeanything definite or fixed in our commercial quarters the expense of the Oregon route. This fact will not require much time for its Brown chose to resign his seat as a member elucidation. In the course of a few weeks of the Cabinet in preference to sharing the responsibilities of his colleague's acts. The the opposition steamers of Vancouver Island and British Columbia will be running when the fares to Victoria will be reduced to a Reciprocity by Treaty we can do without it very low figure, and miners will be enabled to reach the termination of their journey at a comparatively speaking trifling cost. This is really the great inducement to the California miner just now. Montana, New Grenada and Big Bend are the sources of general attraction, but the two former are distant and expensive to reach, and will therefore only absorb the more wealthy class of miners. The men of moderate means will, as a rule, prefer Big Bend. All doubts about the probability of population are now set at rest, and it devolves on the mercantile and trading class of both colonies to prevent if possible at the mines the calamity of scarcity of provisions. FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.] LONDON; C.W., Feb 5th. 1866.

Your correspondent begs to present his compliments to the numerous readers of the Colonist, and hopes that in the series of letters following they may derive both pleasure and profit. Of one thing let them rest assured : nothing will be perverted or dis-torted. It will be the aim of your correspondent to present things as they are, without bias. And first let me speak of the GENERAL PROSPERITY of Canada. The last harvest was one of the best that Canada has been favored with for many years. Prices have been good for all kinds of grain, dairy produce, live stock, etc., with ever increasing demand from American buyers. The consequence of this plethora of resuscitated. Flax is now being grown pretty extensively, and several large mills are in active operation. At Dundas we have a cotton mill. At Cookesville is a large vineyard, producing annually a large quantity of first class wine. We have heard so much of the "ice-bound" regions of Canada from people who pay us only flying visits, that some folks actually wonder how we exist .---The real truth is, our climate (I allude now to Canada West) is fine and salubrious, and we cannot grow in the open air.

STRUCK OIL.

I don't know whether or not you have the oil fever on the Pacific side of the continent, but no acute observer could be long in Canada without discovering symptoms of the eleaginous malady. Petroleum was first discovered in Enniskillen, in the extreme west of the province, some six years ago. Since then it has worked its way, and is now sought in a hundred different parts of Canada. Around this city of London (which contains 15,000 to 20,000 inhabitants) we have wells going down in various directions. Several good 'strikes" have been made, and by my next letter I hope to tell you of a few flowing wells. In the Lower Province, or Canada East, they have discovered a gold mine, but of its richness I will not speak until I have more definite information. On the Ottawa river, at Arnprior, a very handsome species of marble is quarried. Further east we have beds of slate. All we want is capital to develop our resources.

RELATIONS WITH THE UNITED STATES. A despatch from Paris, of January 29th, says :

"The official Yellow Book, containing the money has been very evident. The stores diplomatic correspondence of the French are busy; old mortgages have been wiped off; and the grip of that old tyrant, "hard times," has been sensibly relaxed. New en terprises are being established, and old ones and the United States on the subject of Mexico are in conformity with the declarations made in the Emperor's speech at the the condition of the Empire." the Marquis de Montholon, dated January 9th, replying to a communication from Mr. Seward, dated December 16th, after an-dated January 25th, 1866, to the French Minister at Washington, relates a conversation of the former with Mr. Bigelow. On that occasion M. Drouyn de Lhuys declined all official controversy upon the measures taken by the Emperor Maximilian, stating that he could only receive Mr. Bigelow's communications on that subject as simple information. This reservation established, the French Minister observed in the course of conversation that the measures pointed out were of a purely administrative order, and
