next another from his, major glorifying him, in fact "a mutual admiration society;" while not one word of praise is spoken for either the Grenadiers or the 90th, whereas it seems the Grenadiers, being in the centre, and larger in numbers, bore the brunt of the day, the 90th doing equally good service with its fellow flank-ing regiment the Midlands. The general, I believe, divides the honors equally, yet the Midlands would claim the whole of the glory. It is to be hoped we shall hear no more of this individual commendation, where all did equally well: it is unseemly, and that if there is any invidious distinc-tion worthy of being made, it will be left to those unconnected with the regiment entitled to draw or award it. The proposed alterations in the laws of the society were considered, but no radical changes were made. The following officers were elected for the ensuing term: Grand Master, Bro. Thomas Parry, Hamilton; deputy grand master, Bro. Douglas, Owen Sound; grand secretary, Bro. Edwarde, Parkdale; grand treasurer, Bro. Boxall, Toronto; grand warden, Bro. Duncan, Drummondville; grand tyler, Bro. Walmesly. The following resolution was passed : Whereas a rebellion has broken out in an important part of the dominion, causing serbous loss of life and disturbance of law and order, and as the Canadian order of Pierce in the chair, and Deputy Grand Master Gearing in the vice chair. The serious loss of life and disturbance of law and order, and as the Canadian order of Oddfellows has always been noted for its loyalty to the crown, this lodge desires to express its deep satisfaction that many members of the order have taken part in the efforts for the suppression of the said rebellion, and also that these efforts have been so successfully carried out. An excursion under the patronage of the Grand lodge took place on the Chicora at night. There was a large number of brethren and friends on board, and the Royal Grenadiers' band supplied good music. The Grand lodge delegates were delighted with the reception and enter, tainment accorded them by the local lodges.

A Great Big "If." From the New

A natural dissatisfaction appears in the Canadian dominion over the expenses of the Northwest war. The country has omparatively a small population, and the comparatively a small population, and the addition of those expenses to the taxes makes a serious burden for the people. If the Canadian provinces were states in the American raion, there would probably have been no such war; and if is had occurred, even then the cost of it would have been borne by sixty-five millions of people, and not by five millions. If our Canadian friends will think of these things now and then, they may perhaps arrive at a conclusion which may not be destitute of logical merit.
