THE CHEAP MEAT QUESTION

BUTCHERS COMPETITING WITH DE-PARTMENTAL STORES.

the Matter. The meat question is growing in interest. The families who indulge in the luxury of an occasional roast of beef, a sirloin steak, a leg of mutton, or a lamb chop, are asking themselves "What manner of meat are we get-ting ?" and if they are patrons of the 'bargain" meat shops so common now throughout the city, they may well ask the question.

The World has undertaken to solve the question, and its efforts in that ction are not encouraged by many of the retail meat dealers in the city. but these efforts are in the direction of a good cause. It is within the legi-timate province of a live newspaper to expose weaknesses of this sort when-ever they present themselves, and it is certainly within the bounds of reason to choracterize the recent done turned unds to support them.

ever they present themselves, and it is certainly within the bounds of reason a great many of the local butchering establishments as a "mercantile weak-ness." Does the average consumer want foor or a tough slice from the sinewy neck of a hoary-headed sheep? If one patronizes the general run of butcher shops in this city, one must be in a position to determine between these points or the establishment he seeks to patronize the distingtion of duality are not thing and particularly if he and his fallings in the direction of quality are not thor-oughly known to the employees of the establishment he seeks to patronize the stablishment he seeks to patronize the astablishment he seeks to patronize the stablishment he seeks to patronize the stablishment he seeks to patronize the stablishment he seeks to patronize thing as two qualities of meat from the same carcase; that is to say, that while the meat taken from one por-tion of the carcase may not be so valuable as that is from one por-tion of the carcases may not be so market daily which contain large quantities of meat unfit to appear market daily which contain large quantities of meat unfit to appear market daily which contain large quantities of meat unfit to appear market daily which contain large quantities of meat unfit to appear market daily which contain large quantities of meat unfit to appear market daily which contain large quantities of meat unfit to appear market daily which contain large quantities of meat unfit to appear market daily which contain large quantities of meat unfit to appear market daily which contain large quantities of meat unfit to appear market daily which contain large quantities of meat unfit to appear market daily which contain large quantities of meat unfit to appear market daily which contain large quantities of meat unfit to appear market daily which contain large quantities of meat unfit to appear have the preference to a sole and is here-to the damagement be and is here-to applicants holing first-class certificat to appear meat is being sold at greatly reduced prices. With the retail butcher it is simply and purely a business proposition. He finds that the prices he formerly se-cured for choice meats are no longer obtainable. His patrons, for years past, are deserting him and turning their attention in the direction of establishments where the choice cuts are to be had for less money than he This the real business proposition. Ald. Lamb and the Gas Company. Editor World : I read with pleasure your editorial in yesterday's World on the case against the Gas Company. There should be no compromise with the Gas Company. But is our city fathers neglect or allow our large cor-porations to tamper with the rights of the people it is no wonder that cor-porations grow rich at the public ex-pense. For the last three years the citizens in the neighborhood of Broad-view and Danforth-avenues have been trying to get the company to extend their main up Broadview-avenue. The company say they are not bound to do so, but if we will guarantee them about $300 per year for a period of three years they will lay their main. Ald.
